Draft of new ethics law broadened

A draft of Arlington Heights' first ethics and disclosure ordinance will be expanded to include department heads and appointed officials as well as village trustees.

The new ordinance, first proposed by Trustee Robert H. Miller, will cover department heads and their immediate subordinates and members of the village plan commission, zoning board and Board of Local Improvements.

It will require, if adopted by the village board, that officials disclose land ownership gifts and "loans" of more than $50 and financial interests in any firm engaged by or having the potential of doing business with the village.

Miller, chairman of the board's community service committee, said Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel will draw up the draft ordinance. The draft will be reviewed by Miller's committee before going back to the full village board, he said.

THE PROPOSED law is a revision of one put before the board by the committee in September. The redraft incorporates suggestions from other trustees.

One refinement delineates what "loans" would be subject to disclosure.

Miller said installment loans, such as for a car or a house mortgage, would not have to be disclosed.

"What we're talking about are the quote-loans-unquote — the ones under the table or that don't have to be paid back," he said.

Trustee Frank Palmatier called for the ordinance to cover the village department heads and their immediate subordinates. He said they often have "more individual power than any one trustee."

ALSO UNDER study is the committee's proposal that officials violating the ordinance be censured or removed from office. Some trustees said a censure board could become a political tool for harassment.

Miller said Siegel will be asked about the validity of the censure/removal section.

Miller said another change in the ordinance narrows the range of disclosure of gifts worth more than $50. Originally, all gifts above that amount would have to be disclosed.

"If a trustee gets a gift from Joe Blow in Phoenix, that really doesn't matter. But if Joe Blow is a developer with plans for Arlington Heights, we should know about it," he said.

Miller took exception to comments made by fellow Trustee Richard J. Durava, who said, "all ethics statements are a sop thrown to the taxpayers who are too lazy to do what they should do as citizens — watch their elected officials."

DURAVA SAID the best protection came through the Internal Revenue Service's scrutiny of income tax returns. Miller disagreed.

"I disagree that your income tax form solves all the problems. All it would show, for example, is if you made a profit on a land deal, and making a profit is not illegal," Miller said.

He said the ordinance would show if a profit was made or enhanced through a person's public office.

Miller said with the disclosures, officials' interests would be on the record and their actions "would seem to be above board and it would be up to somebody to prove they were doing wrong."

Village police to beef up patrol beats

The Arlington Heights Police Dept. will increase the number of patrol beats covering the village within two weeks.

The number of beats will increase from six to seven. Eight beats will be used on certain occasions, said Chief L. W. Calderwood.

Six additional patrolmen, authorized in the current municipal budget, have completed their training and have been assigned to the patrols.

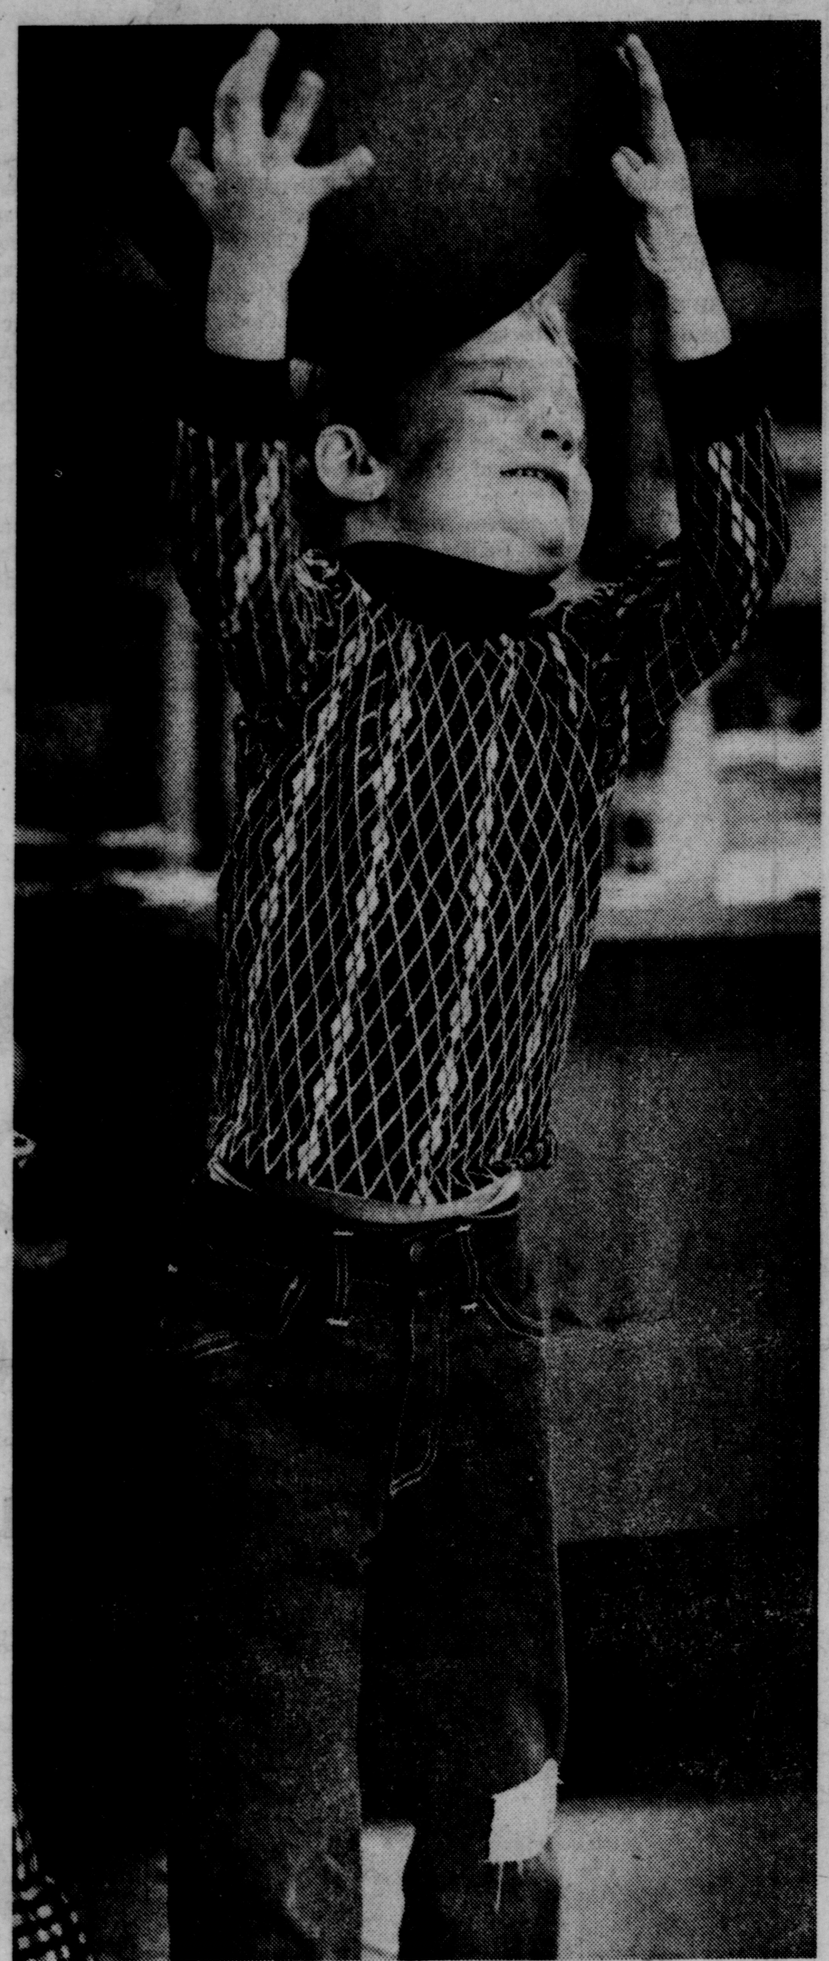
The additional men were requested for the department to lower response time — the time it takes a patrol car to answer a citizen's complaint.

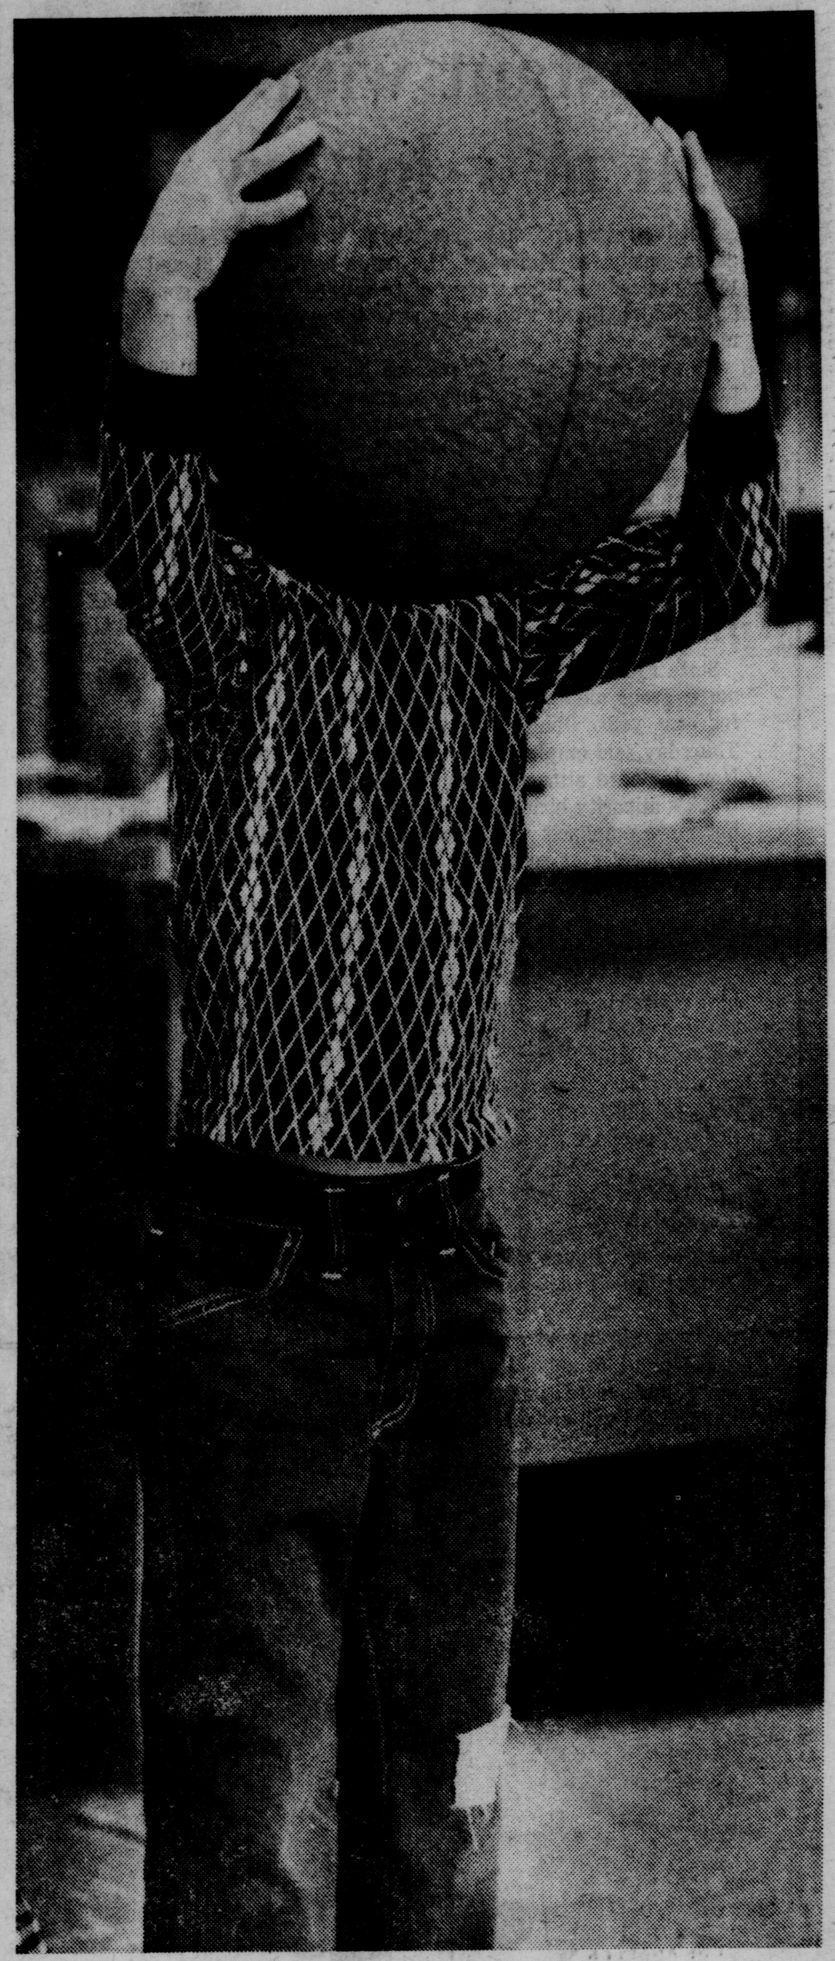
DURING THE BUDGET hearings, some criticism was voiced about reported delays in police responding to non-emergency calls.

Calderwood said emergency calls are usually answered within two minutes. Less serious, or service calls can take about five minutes or longer to answer depending upon the circumstances and severity of the situation, he said.

Police will still patrol in one-man cars under the new system. The size of the beat areas will enable backup units to arrive within minutes if needed, he said.

In addition to the seven beat cars, there are three traffic cars and detective cars on the streets to provide extra assistance and observation. Supervisory personnel are also on the streets.





PRESCHOOLER Patrick Holleran develops coordination by learning to bounce a ball in the preschool program in Arlington Heights Dist. 25. The program is designed to give a child an extra boost in learning skills to prepare him for regular school classes.

Tots program gives learning boost

by KATHERINE BOYCE

Years ago when a preschool child had difficulty learning, his problem usually wasn't identified or corrected until he reached kindergarten.

But in 1971 a law was passed in Illinois requiring school districts to provide special education for children starting at age 3. This year there are 43 children in Arlington Heights Dist. 25's special preschool program at Ivy Hill School.

The program is "set up to take children who have any type of learning problem," said Cheryl Fouts, speech and language therapist, who teaches the children along with Anna Larson, learning disabilities teacher.

The children may have problems in coordination, language and perception, said Miss Fouts. The classes give children an extra boost in learning "so that upon entrance to school they can go into a regular program," she said.

THE CHILDREN in the program are age 3 to 5 and come from throughout the Dist. 25 area. They are placed in one of five groups of about 10 children each meeting from four to six hours a week. The program is paid for in part with state funds.

Dist. 25 diagnostician Kathryn Haines tests preschoolers each spring to determine whether a child should be placed in the program. But she emphasized that parents do not have to wait until spring if they feel their child has a learning problem. Children are admitted to the program during the year and can be tested any time if parents contact Mrs. Haines at the administration office.

The program also includes a discussion group for parents of preschoolers. The group, led by Mrs. Haines, helps mothers learn ways they can work with their children at home to boost their learning skills.

"I am alarmed at the number of hours children are sitting watching television," said Mrs. Haines, who told the mothers, "If I could get up on a soap box I would say 'Turn off your television.' " She believes that too many families use television for entertainment when the children should be playing with arts and crafts or conversing with their parents. "They should be out doing things rather than watching someone else do them," she said.

A COMMON problem with preschoolers is poor development in conversational language and underdeveloped control of the hands and fingers, both of which create problems when children get to school.

Mrs. Haines does recommend education television programs such as "Sesame Street" but she also tells mothers that an hour of television per day should be ample for a preschooler.

During the discussion groups mothers learn finger games and language exercises that they can use with their children at home.

The program also provides a babysitting service for those who must bring their children with them when they attend the discussion group. Students in the social science class at Hersey High School supervise the children.

There are about 85 Hersey students in the class who work with about 20 different community agencies, including the preschool. Most of the students choose an agency they hope will become their career as adults, said Wilford Kozlowski, teacher of the Hersey program. "They're getting the professional training that they can't get in school."

200 U.S. civilians OKd for Sinai

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed and sent to President Ford Thursday night authorization to send 200 American civilian technicians to the Sinai Peninsula to monitor the Egyptian-Israeli disengagement pact.

After rejecting a series of proposed modifications that would have meant two weeks' delay in completing the measure, the Senate approved 70-18 a version passed by the House Wednesday.

Shortly before the vote Ford told a news conference the Americans would be civilians but he skirted the question whether they would have connections with the U.S. intelligence community.

THE WHITE HOUSE said after the vote that Ford was "pleased."

Supporters of the measure won easy approval in the Senate despite strong objections that should hostilities break out anew between Israel and Egypt the presence of Americans in the battle zone could draw the United States into a war, Vietnam-style.

Had the Senate not gone along with the House version, final action would have been held up until Oct. 20 because the House already had quit for a 10-day Columbus Day recess.

State Department officials said recruiting of civilians for the Sinai mission would begin promptly, but that no technicians probably would be sent to the area until the end of this year.

THE OFFICIALS said administrative matters had to be completed to determine who would be in charge, and special training would have to be given the volunteers.

Israel is to formally sign the formal troop disengagement agreement within a few days. Egypt already has signed it, but Israel has just initialed it, stating it would not sign until Congress acted on the technicians.

Earlier, the Senate defeated 85-9 a motion by Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., to table or kill the resolution — a move that would have required renegotiation of the pact by Sec. of State Henry A. Kissinger.

'Instant winners' in new lottery

"Instant winners" are guaranteed in a new $1 Illinois Lottery game announced Thursday. The game begins Oct. 21 and will last 16 weeks, or until the supply of 80 million tickets is gone. Lottery Supt. Ralph Batch said he expects the new game to produce $55 million.

He said one of every 27 persons buying tickets will win a cash prize ranging from $5 to $10,000, and one of every six will win two extra tickets. Three millionaire drawings will be included in the game. The new tickets will have four circles and one square, and ticket holders rub the surface to find the numbers underneath.

The numbers under the circles must total 7, 11 or 21 to win, but players can also spell out the same numbers by combining letters under the squares on each ticket. Several tickets would have to be purchased to spell out a winning number.

Hiring reports ordered

State race tracks will have to report how many women and minority group members they employ when they apply for racing dates for next year. Illinois Racing Board Chairman Anthony Scariano Thursday said employment records must be filed with the board by Nov. 1. Board attorney Jewel Klein said the board will consider a track's minority hiring record in deciding how to allot racing dates, but more emphasis will be placed on the statistics next year. The board recently gained power under a new state racing law to gather the employment data.

Cops OK 8.5% pay hike

A contract calling for an 8.5 per cent salary increase and several improved fringe benefits has been approved by the Des Plaines chapter of the Combined Counties Police Assn. The contract, retroactive to May 1, was recommended by a mediator after several months of negotiations. The city council has agreed to the contract proposal but is awaiting approval from the unions representing the fire and public works employes before it takes official action.

Wheeling cop discharged

Wheeling Patrolman Gary Holveck was discharged Thursday by the Fire and Police Commission. Holveck, who had been serving a 30-day suspension, was found guilty of removing property from a private premise without the owners' permission and being unavailable for duty by concealing himself from the public. The commission found him not guilty of a third charge of leaving his assigned post. Holveck wes unavailable for comment Thursday and it is not known if he will appeal his discharge in the courts.

Ernest Marsh of RTA dies at 72

Ernest S. Marsh

Ernest S. Marsh, 72, Regional Transportation Authority board member and retired railroad industry leader, died at his Chicago home Thursday, apparently from a heart attack.

Marsh was best known for his success story with the Santa Fe R.R., where he started as a rail clerk in New Mexico and eventually became chief executive officer and chairman of the board.

He was born in Lynchburg, Va., in 1903, and by age 15 he was a rail clerk in Clovis, N. Mex., for the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe R.R. His steady advancement brought him to Chicago in 1942, and he became director of Sante Fe Industries in 1956. He was president from 1957-67 and chairman of the board from 1967 until his retirement in 1973.

MARSH'S APPOINTMENT to the RTA board in 1974 was the latest in a series of appointed positions he held in the Chicago area. He had been a member of the Illinois Racing Board from 1961-69, and was a lifetime member of the National Assn. of State Racing Commissioners.

Marsh held honorary degrees from the University of Southern California, Bradley University in Peoria, and New Mexico State University.

He had been a member of the board of directors of Montgomery Ward and Co., Harris Bankcorp., Assn. of American Railroads, Western Railway Assn., Chicago and national Junior Achievement organizations, American Heritage Foundation, Community Fund of Chicago, Midwest Research Institute, Foundation for American Agriculture, Farm Foundation, Mid-America Club and the Travel Program for Foreign Diplomats.

He was also a life trustee of the Illinois Institute of Technology and a member of the Newcomen Society and the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He had been associated with Northwestern University since 1960.

His steady advancement brought him to Chicago in 1942, and he became director of Sante Fe Industries in 1956. He was president from 1957-67 and chairman of the board from 1967 until his retirement in 1973.

MARSH'S APPOINTMENT to the RTA board in 1974 was the latest in a series of appointed positions he held in the Chicago area. He had been a member of the Illinois Racing Board from 1961-69, and was a lifetime member of the National Assn. of State Racing Commissioners.

Marsh held honorary degrees from the University of Southern California, Bradley University in Peoria, and New Mexico State University.

He had been a member of the board of directors of Montgomery Ward and Co., Harris Bankcorp., Assn. of American Railroads, Western Railway Assn., Chicago and national Junior Achievement organizations, American Heritage Foundation, Community Fund of Chicago, Midwest Research Institute, Foundation for American Agriculture, Farm Foundation, Mid-America Club and the Travel Program for Foreign Diplomats.

He was also a life trustee of the Illinois Institute of Technology and a member of the Newcomen Society and the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He had been associated with Northwestern University since 1960.

you're not just dressing a doll, you're giving Christmas to a child!

enter our doll fashion contest

Again this year, we ask your help in our annual doll fashion contest which provides beautiful gifts for needy children in this area. And there's fun and prizes in it for you, too. Any adult or child may enter by picking-up a free doll during banking hours. Then simply create and sew a designer outfit of your own and return the dressed doll to the bank by November 18th. The dolls will be placed on display in the bank lobby.

five $25 prizes to be awarded

The public will have the opportunity to view all the dolls and vote for the five they like best. $25 cash prizes will be awarded to each of the winners (one child under fifteen and four persons over fifteen). And when the voting's over, all the dolls will be given to needy children in our area to help make their Christmas a little brighter. So hurry, while the dolls last. Start right away and make the most beautiful costume of all. Remember, you'll also be making Christmas for a needy child.

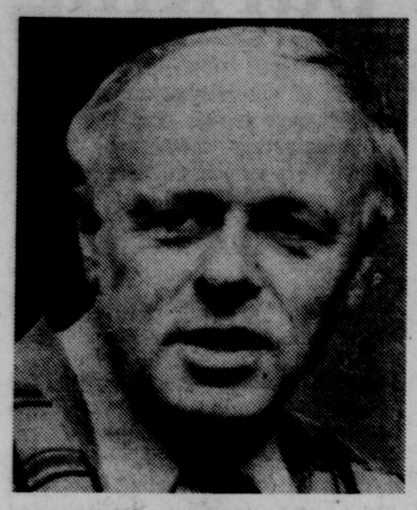
Soviet dissident Sakharov wins Nobel Peace Prize



ANDREI SAKHAROV

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — Andrei Sakharov, who helped produce the Russian hydrogen bomb but later became the leading domestic critic of the Soviet system, won the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize Thursday for his lonely human rights campaign.

In giving the peace award to a Russian for the first time, the Nobel Prize Committee cited Sahkarov's "fearless effort in the cause of peace among mankind," and his warnings against "bogus detente" between East and West.

A smiling and excited Sakharov, attending a farewell party for a friend in Moscow, told reporters he hoped his prize would "support the battle for human rights" in the Soviet Union.

Sakharov renewed his call for an amnesty for Soviet political prisoners and said he planned to go to Oslo to pick up the prize in person Dec. 10, if Soviet authorities let him go.

Western diplomats considered the selection of a leading Soviet dissident for the prestigious award as an undisguised slap to the Soviet leadershp which is known to have been pushing Finnish President Urho Kekkonen for the prize.

The diplomats recalled Moscow's furor over the award of the 1970 Nobel prize for literature to Russian dissident author Alexander Solzhenitsyn and predicted an even louder outcry over Zakharov.

The main Soviet evening news program made no mention of the award, nor did the Tass news agency in the first hours after it was announced.

In its citation for the prize award, the Nobel Prize Committee said, "Sakharov has warned against the dangers connected with a bogus detente, based on wishful thinking and illusions."

Sakharov is a brilliant physicist who was called "father of the Soviet H-bomb," for his work on Russian thermonuclear weapon. But he later became a strong opponent of all nuclear testing.

The five-member Oslo Nobel Prize committee, which selected the 54-year-old Soviet nuclear physicist, said he "has fought not only against the abuse of power and violations of human dignity in all its forms, but he has with equal vigor fought for the ideal of a state founded on a principle of justice for all."

"Sakharov's personal and fearless effort in the cause of peace among mankind serves as a mightly inspiration to all true endeavors to promote peace," the committee said in its citation.

The prize carries a cash award of $143,000 this year. The Nobel prize award ceremony is scheduled for Dec. 10 and the diplomats considered it virtually certain Sakharov would not be allowed to come and get it in person.

Last year's peace prize was shared by the late Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and former Irish Foreign Minister Sean McBride.

He was unknown in the West before 1968 but as early as 1958 he began circulating memos calling for a ban on nuclear tests and in 1961 personally appealed to then Premier Nikita Khrushchev to halt Soviet nuclear blasts.

Sakharvo's calls went unheeded and on Dec. 5, 1966, he took part in a one-minute public vigil for human rights which cost him his job as section chief in the Soviet nuclear program.

In 1968 his book, "Progress, Peaceful Coexistence and Intellectual Freedom," was published in the West, but only circulated privately in the Soviet Union.

Ford blasts Congress, demands spending, tax cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford said Thursday night the American people ought to throw "this reform Congress" out of office if it lacks the imagination to combine his proposal for $28 billion worth of cuts in spending and taxes.

Ford also indicated the end of his embargo of grain sales to the Soviet Union will be announced Friday, and said work is progressing on agreements for the U.S.purchase of Soviet oil at "favorable" prices and a long-term grain sale.

Democrats in Congress have called Ford's proposal "preposterous," but Ford, displaying some pique at his 19th full-scale news conference, said other Congresses had meshed spending cuts with tax cuts.

He said he would not hesitate to use his veto power if Congress sends him only a tax cut and no agreement to limit spending.

"If this reform Congress can't use enough imagination to put together a tax reduction and a spendling limitation, then the American people out to know about it," Ford said.

He said the people want both less taxation and less government spending "and if Congress can't give it to them there ought to be some changes on Capitol Hill."

Democrats have labeled Ford's plan political.

Ford also pledged that the 200 American radar technicians to be sent to monitor the Sinai disengagement pact will be drawn from civilian experts and "will not be from the military."

Ford said he finds "no substantial sentiment" for any federal legislation to bail out financially troubled New York City. He also said he had not yet seen or heard of any legislation he would sign.

ON OTHER SUBJECTS, Ford:

• Said his trip to Louisville, Ky., set for next Thursday, was cancelled because "there has been some trouble in Louisville as a result of a court-ordered forced busing to achieve racial balance in schools." He repeated his opposition to busing, saying, "I think there are some better means" to improve education.

• Responding to published criticism of his campaign organization under director Howard "Bo" Callaway, said he had "great faith and trust in and fully supports" Callaway. He said he thought he had "an excellent organization in many, many states. It is moving very well."

• Said his frequent appearances around the nation have raised millions for state Republican organizations, but he denied they were designed primarily to boost his presidential election campaign.

• Promised to have food stamp reform ready for Congress on the day it returns from a 10-day recess starting Friday. He said it would provide more benefits for the people who need the help and take it away from the people receiving it unjustly.

• Ford came out strongly against young people smoking marijuana, but said he thought it was honorable for his son Jack to admit he had tried the drug. "I disapprove of young people using marijuana," he said. "I believe the preponderance of evidence so far is that it is not a healthy habit to have. On the other hand, I think it is a very honorable thing for a son to admit that on a very limited basis he nad done so."

Illegal bugging is 'commonplace'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former law enforcement officers and wiretap experts testified Thursday that illegal bugging is commonplace in the United States and neither the Justice Department nor the FBI seem interested in stopping it.

In testimony before the House Intelligence Committee, witnesses told of electronic snooping by both law enforcement and private detective agencies, described a lively commercial trade in surveillance equipment and alleged the telephone companies, the FBI and Justice know what is going on.

Meanwhile, the Senate Intelligence Committee granted immunity to former CIA scientist Sidney Gottlieb and summoned him to a closed session to explain why he did not follow presidential orders to destroy the CIA's stock of poisons in 1970. The cache was found intact a few months ago.

In the House, Anthony V. Zavala, a former Houston, Tex., police narcotics officer who starts a three-year prison term for wiretapping next week, said he took part in "about 35 illegal wiretaps" between 1968 and 1972.

"I would estimate that during the time I was there the narcotics division conducted somewhere between 700 and 1,000 illegal wiretaps," Zavala said. "It was the most effective law enforcement tool we had."

He said the bugging took place with the help of the telephone company and the knowledge of "the federal men who frequented our headquarters."

A 1968 federal law forbade wiretapping except by court order or for reasons of "national security." In either case, the attorney general is supposed to approve each instance of domestic electronic surveillance by federal agencies.

But Anthony J. Farris, former U. S. attorney for the southern district of Texas, said the FBI and the Justice Department knew of the illegal wiretapping in Houston and did nothing about it.

"I do know personally that through Dec. 30, 1974, when he left the U. S. attorney post the . . . Department of Justice showed very little interest in the investigation of this country's fifth largest police department or the allegations that federal agents had actually witnessed illegal electronic surveillance activities and had done nothing about them," Farris said.

Michael J. Hershman, a specialist in wiretap laws, said he believes illegal bugging "has not substantially declined since enactment of the Federal Wiretap Act in 1968.

ANTHONY ZAVALA, left, a former Houston police officer who begins a 3-year wiretapping sentence next week, Thursday testified that illegal electronic surveillance is widespread in both police and federal law enforcement agencies. Here he and other witnesses examine equipment.

Doubled tax deductions for lawmakers voted

The House Ways and Means Committee Thursday voted to more than double the maximum tax deductions congressmen may take for living expenses in Washington. Committee members insisted the changes would merely put legislators on a par with the tax deductions claimed by businessmen and reporters. The tax-writing committee also approved changes in tax law which would result in increased tax breaks for most state legislators.

If Congress eventually approves the action, House members, senators and state legislators could take up to $44 per day for expenses incurred in living in Washington or their state capitols.

N.Y. default impact 'insignificant': Simon

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told Congress Thursday that default by New York City, while "awful," would have only "an insignificant impact on our nation economy." The city, unable to borrow money, faces the likelihood of defaulting on its debts coming due in December. It must raise about $4 billion in the next nine months to remain solvent.

1 dead, 20 hurt in London bomb blast

A bomb hidden in a bag exploded without warning at a central London bus stop Thursday night, killing a man waiting for a bus and injuring 20 other persons. St. George's hospital said the man, in his late 20s, died shortly after admission, and those injured were treated and released. The blast on Piccadilly was the first in central London since a hidden bomb killed two persons in the lobby of the Hilton Hotel early last month.

Bus crash in Africa kills 34

A bus jammed with high school students on a trip to a game park plunged off a hillside road in a heavy fog Thursday and crashed, killing 34 of the youths and injuring the other 33. The driver was also killed. A police spokesman said the crash occurred in the Magoebaskloof Pass in northeastern South Africa about 60 miles east of Pietersburg. He said the bus was taking the students to the Manyaleta game park.

Liberace sued for $22,000 on museum non-decision

Patty Hearst receiving 'gross' hate mail: attorney

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst is receiving "really gross" hate mail at her jail cell — another sign the public has turned against her, one of her attorneys said Thursday.

Al Johnson, a colleague of Boston attorney F. Lee Bailey, said the tone of the letters makes him concerned about her safety.

"I think there are those with rational thinking or otherwise who would like to harm her," he said. "I've seen evidence of that in her correspondence.

"At times she appears to be scared. At times she appears to be completely placid."

The lawyer said he has spent 60 hours with Miss Hearst in San Mateo County Jail in the past seven days.

County authorities reported Thursday they found a simulated wooden pistol in the pocket of an attorney entering the jail to visit a client. The lawyer, LaRue Grim of San Francisco, was questioned for an hour and the matter turned over to the district attorney. Authorities said he had no connection with the Hearst case.

Johnson said the 21-year-old newspaper heiress' lawyers had an obligation to keep the public advised about the case "because of the tremendous public resentment which has been built up against her in this country."

"I think people have been offended by what they believe to be the facts," he said. "I'm simply suggesting that what they believe to have been the facts may not have been and, in fact, were not."

The attorney, who wants Miss Hearst moved from jail to a private mental institution, also announced that he and Bailey "have lined up some other psychiatrists already, and we are hopeful they can begin examining her next week."

He said the defense psychiatrists, including brainwashing experts, would test Miss Hearst after three court-appointed psychiatrists complete their examinations.

The defense also intends to have its own investigators look into the case of Miss Hearst, who was kidnaped in Berkeley on Feb. 4, 1974, and later allegedly joined her Symbionese Liberation Army abductors in a San Francisco bank robbery and Los Angeles crime spree.

Johnson said an SLA manifesto stating Miss Hearst was kidnaped as trade bait, not as a potential convert to radicalism, is "consistent with the facts we believe to be true."

Federal prosecutors and the FBI denounced "the leak" and insisted their offices did not provide the 175-to 200-page, handwritten manifesto to the San Francisco Examiner, which published copyrighted excerpts from it.

The document, found in the San Francisco hideout of SLA members William and Emily Harris, said Miss Hearst was kidnaped in hopes of swapping her for two SLA members jailed on charges of killing a school superintendent.

Johnson said he read the newspaper account in front of Miss Hearst in jail Wednesday, "but she wasn't interested in reading it."

Schools

High School Dist. 214

The amateur radio clubs at Hersey, Elk Grove and Wheeling high schools will participate in a "fox hunt" Saturday.

The "fox" will be a student in a car somewhere within a 15-mile radius of Woodfield Shopping Center, Schaumburg. The student will have an electronic transmitter in his car and will begin broadcasting to the "hunters" about 8 p.m.

Radio operators will gather at Woodfield at 7 p.m. and will track down the fox by picking up transmissions. About 60 persons are expected to participate including local ham radio operators and members of the Northwest Radio Club and the Six Meter amateur radio club of Chicago.

Organizing the hunt are industrial arts teachers Ted Strand of Hersey and Buffalo Grove high schools, Doug Holm of Elk Grove High School, Tom Schonauer of Wheeling High School and Gene Rutkowski of Hersey.

Trick-or-treaters have 'Goblin Patrol'

The Arlington Heights "Goblin Patrol" will be out again this Halloween.

The patrol, made up of members of the village civil defense volunteers and the police department auxiliary, will be keeping an eye on trick-or-treaters the nights of Oct. 30 and 31.

As in past years, the patrol will watch for vandalism in addition to providing supervision for the children making the door-to-door solicitation for sweets.

Village Pres. James Ryan has asked parents to make patrol work easier by accompanying their children and having the children home before dark.

May create special spaces

Panel mulls handicapped parking

The creation of parking spaces for handicapped drivers is being considered by the community service committee of the Arlington Heights Village Board.

The committee is studying the establishment of several spaces in the municipal building parking lot at 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. Also under consideration is whether such spaces should be set aside in private parking lots.

As part of their study, the committee is trying to determine what standards would be used to designate a driver as "handicapped."

The Illinos Secretary of State's office has set up criteria for the issuance of special license plates for handicapped drivers. The committee is investigating whether the village should have its own guidelines or rely on the state's definition.

IF THE VILLAGE adopts its own standards, stickers, similar to the vehicle tax stickers but with the wheelchair symbol, might be issued.

There currently are no designated handicapped parking spaces in the municipal lot.

Private lots, including shopping centers, hospitals, the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, also are without the special spaces. The committee has raised the question of whether the police department would have the authority to ticket nonhandicapped drivers using such spaces on private property.

The police department now tickets persons who park in fire lanes in private facilities.

One reason for the committee's interest in the matter was the recent signing by Gov. Daniel Walker of a bill exempting handicapped drivers from putting money into parking meters.

MSD hires firm to design reservoir

The Metropolitan Sanitary District has hired a consulting engineer to do design work on the Mount Prospect retention reservoir at Central and Busse roads.

The MSD board last week approved spending $73,268 to hire H. W. Lochner Inc. to do the engineering specifications and contract plans for the stormwater basin.

The MSD approval was contingent on receiving approval from the villages of Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights which will pay part of the costs of building the basin.

The MSD originally had planned to delay work on the basin until the O'Hare water reclamation plant and the underground tunnel system for combined sewage were completed in 1978 or 1979.

But Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights officials urged earlier construction of the basin to hold stormwater overflows and alleviate local flooding problems.

The sanitary district and the two villages signed an agreement in February calling for the villages to pay any construction costs in excess of $1.3 million and to maintain the basin.

The MSD plans to enlarge the basin to hold combined sewage after the O'Hare plant is finished, but probably not before 1985.

The contract with the engineering consultant calls for all the design work to be finished in five months so bids for construction of the basin can be accepted in the spring or summer.

Mayor's Roundtable seeking audiences

More audiences are being sought for the Mayor's Roundtable discussions.

Trustee Robert H. Miller said the roundtable will appear before civic, social and service groups. In the past, it had concentrated on homeowners' organizations.

Miller said the other groups would give village officials a wider range of audiences in the future.

The Mayor's Roundtable features village trustees and officials in question-and-answer sessions with citizen groups in a less formal setting than the village board meetings.

Miller said groups wishing to host the roundtable should contact him for more information at 439-7086 or 358-7500.

Three in family win ping-pong titles

Three members of an Arlington Heights family recently won top awards in the Twin City Open table-tennis tournament in Minneapolis.

Faan Hoan Liu took first place in the boys' under 15 and under 17 competition. He also defeated Minnesota State table tennis champion John Soderberg.

Faan Yeen Liu took first place in women's C class and mixed doubles competition. Her partner in the mixed doubles competition was Chuchai Plernpruska, Thailand's national champion.

Chui Fan Liu took first place in the senior division.

Model railroaders sought by society

The Arlington Heights Historical Society Engineers is seeking persons interested in model trains to help finish the group's Bicentennial project.

The group began construction on the project — an HO scale model train layout running through Arlington Heights as it was 50 years ago in 1973. People are needed to construct scenery, model buildings and locomotives and rolling stock of the era.

Anyone interested in helping with the project should call Robert J. Moskal at 259-4424 after 5:30 p.m. weekdays or on weekends.

Bookmobile opening planned Saturday

The Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 N. Dunton Ave., will have a grand opening for the new bookmobile from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday in the south parking lot of the library.

The grand opening will feature an old fashioned harvest walking maze, with prizes for the first person to reach the bookmobile. There also will be a checkers tournament, movies, lemonade and old time games.

In case of ran, the grand opening will be postponed until Oct. 18.

Burglars get $200 at Mahoney's store

About $200 in cash was reported stolen Wednesday in a burglary at Maloney's Wallcoverings and Paints Inc., 918 Algonquin Rd., Arlington Heights.

The money was taken from a cash register after burglars forced open a rear door between 9 p.m. Tuesday and 9:40 a.m. Wednesday, police were told.

We Welcome Prescriptions Requiring Compounding

Most prescriptions are now pre-compounded, and our problems are chiefly to have them in stock, check their dosage and make certain we dispense exactly what is prescribed. Many physicians still prescribe their own specific formulas, and pharmaceutical skill is required to prepare such lotions, ointments, capsules, pills, suppositories, etc.

We will appreciate the opportunity of compounding these more difficult prescriptions that require more time and technical ability.

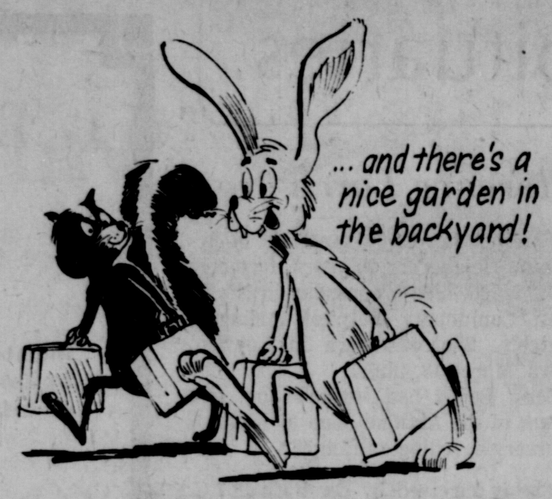
The home invaders



Little stinkers can make life miserable

by JOE SWICKARD

Disgruntled city dwellers are not the only ones making the move to the suburbs.

Our little woodland friends may be foresaking the bosky dell and sylvan glen for a life of comfort in suburbia.

Deers, skunks, raccoons and the omnipresent opossum are finding suburban living a bit easier than grubbing around in the woods for a bite to eat and a place to make a nest, said Chet Ryndak, naturalist at the River Trails Nature Center, Wheeling Township.

Porches, cedar siding, chimneys, gardens, shrubs, plastic garbage bags — in short, most things common to suburban living — are extremely attractive to critters tired of roughing it, Ryndak said.

"TAKE YOUR rubbish can," he said. "If it isn't closed tightly raccoons, opossums and skunks can get inside and eat the scraps."

Communities that feature plastic garbage bags are just offering a tasty buffet to hungry critters.

"If you put the bags outside the night before they are to be picked up, they can get into them with no trouble at all," Ryndak said.

That inflation-beater garden you planted in the spring tastes just as good to the animls as it does to you. And they don't have to worry about grocery bills in the first place, either.

Even the landscaping that homeowners slave over is an invitation to wildlife, Ryndak said.

"Deer, especially white tailed ones, like cedars. People call us that something has been eating the shrubs and we find it has been the deer," he said.

AND WHILE some people are tearing their hair out about that new family of skunks that moved in down the block, other people are setting out blocks of salt to attract the animals, he said.

Is your house zoned for just one family? Raccoons and skunks and opossums don't give two hoots, or whatever noise they make, about what the village fathers say. They're moving in.

"A whole variety of pests like houses. A family of skunks can burrow in under the porch to raise their little stinkers. Raccoons will burrow right in if the eaves are rotting," Ryndak said.

Raccoons are famous for making "a comfy little nest" atop chimney flues, he said. Everything's just fine until the people decide it's about time to build a fire, he said, and then there's trouble with the charred critters.

All in all, Ryndak said, many animals are finding life a lot easier in the towns than out in the wild.

ANOTHER FACTOR, is the increasing animal population. The deer population is "up by a large count" in the last 10 years, he said.

Although deer don't get mailed a census form every decade, Ryndak said there is a ratio between the number of deer killed on the highways and the number of the population at large. So far this year, 167 deer have met untimely fates on the roads, he said.

A similiar study on woodchucks is under way, he added.

While the small mammals are the most frequent visitors, Ryndak said suburbanites can keep an eye out for migrating birds this time of year.

"They can see birds common to Alaska and tundra as they fly south for the winter. You might see hawks and eagles perched on telephone poles or hunting for food," he said.

RYNDAK ADVISED wire mesh for chimney tops and around porches to discourage furry visitors from becoming permanent tenants. Frequent inspection of eaves and roofs will help keep animals out of the attic, he said.

After all, he pointed out, putting up the screening is a lot easier and less painful than trying to evict a family of stubborn skunks.

"They don't like getting disturbed, you know. And they can raise a stink about it," he said.

Panel asks changes in report cards

A citizens' committee in Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 Thursday recommended several changes in the district's report card system, one of which would compare students on their ability in reading and mathematics.

The citizens' report card committee, organized last spring, met over the summer to analyze and comment on the district's report card system.

The district currently issues progress reports four times each year. Report cards are fairly similar throughout the district for primary, intermediate and junior high pupils, said Katherine Stewart, a Poe School parent and committee member.

The report cards now rate children against themselves on their own individual progress in subject areas. The report card committee recommended that this be continued but additional marks be given in reading and math to show where the child is in relation to others in his class.

OTHER COMMITTEE recommendations include:

- Giving primary students a three-point evaluation system rather than the two-point system now used.
- Primary students currently may be graded as "satisfactory" or as "needing improvement." The committee wants the primary grades to have superior marks as well.
- Rating children on their efforts in each subject, particularly in physical education.
- Receiving teacher comments four times each year instead of twice.
- Receiving report cards before parent conferences are held.
- Establishing consistent grading symbols among the grades. Right now "S" on a primary card means "satisfactory" while an "S" on an intermediate card means "slow progress."

The committee also asked that teachers be given in-service training on using the report forms.

The committee drew much of its materials from a survey it administered to parents, teachers and students in the district. That survey showed that many primary parents preferred ungraded reports but many parents of older children liked the traditional A, B, C, D grading system, Mrs. Stewart said.

The board did not act on the committee's suggestions Thursday but will consider them and report back to the committee in the spring.

Harper OKs grievance policy; faculty objects

The Harper College Board of Trustees Thursday approved by a 5-to-2 vote a new faculty grievance policy for the college over the objections of the school faculty.

In addition, the board delayed action for another month on a month-old proposal to give the faculty a non-voting seat on the board.

The new grievance policy tightens the time limits required for handling grievances as they are presented to college administrators, but rejects a key faculty request to include advisory arbitration in the grievance process.

Faculty Senate Pres. David Macaulay said the faculty objects to the fact that advisory arbitration is not included in the new policy and also believes faculty members should be allowed to file grievances when they disagree with tenure decisions. The new policy specifically excluded tenure decisions from the subjects which may be grieved.

MACAULAY SAID, "Even our present grievance policy would be better than the one you're considering now. I think advisory arbitration at the very minimum should be included."

Board discussion of the grievance policy began one and one-half years ago when the faculty grievance committee told the board the college's existing policy which did not contain time limits on steps in the procedure, had become hopelessly bogged down. The grievance committee originally asked that the board include binding arbitration in a new grievance policy but changed that request to one for advisory arbitration.

The new policy adopted by the board included, in addition to time limits, a change in the role of the faculty grievance committee from a group that holds hearings on grievances to one which represents an individual faculty member in dealing with the administration.

Board members Robert Rausch and Natalie Weber voted against the new grievance policy. Following the vote, Board chairman Shirley Munson said, "Nothing is locked-in so much that it can never be changed. We'll see how this policy works."

IN ANOTHER ACTION related to the faculty, the board voted 4-3 to delay consideration of the proposal from Rausch to give the faculty a nonvoting board seat. The vote to delay came when Board Member Judith Troehler asked that the proposal be given to the board attorney before adoption.

The proposal calls for the election of a faculty member to the board by the faculty as a whole and also says the faculty seat on the board would be immediately abolished if the faculty affiliates with an outside union.

Macaulay said the faculty accepts the proposal except for the provision for an at-large election for the faculty board member. He said that the faculty senate president should instead be given the faculty member board seat.

The Harper faculty last week voted 90-77 against joining an outside union. Rausch made the proposal for the faculty board seat last month but action on it was delayed until after the union vote.

PTA offers preschool program

Parents of preschool children in Arlington Heights Dist. 25 will have the opportunity to learn about development of the preschool child next week in a program sponsored by the Arlington Heights Council of PTAs and the Dist. 25 administration.

The program will be Wednesday at Ridge School, 800 N. Fernandez Ave., from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m. and Thursday at Dryden School, 722 S. Dryden St., from 8 to 10 p.m.

Following the film, "Early Education: The Enchanted Years," parents may participate in a discussion period or a crafts class for preschool arts and crafts. A preschool book fair also is planned.

Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling 398-4234. Babysitting for preschoolers will be available for the Wednesday meeting.

Bank to celebrate move to new facility

The Tollway Arlington National Bank will celebrate moving to its new building, Arlington Heights and Algonquin roads, with a ribbon cutting ceremony and free prizes.

U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, and Arlington Heights Village Pres. James T. Ryan will attend the dedication ceremonies Saturday.

Visitors to the bank will receive free gifts and helium balloons will be given to children.

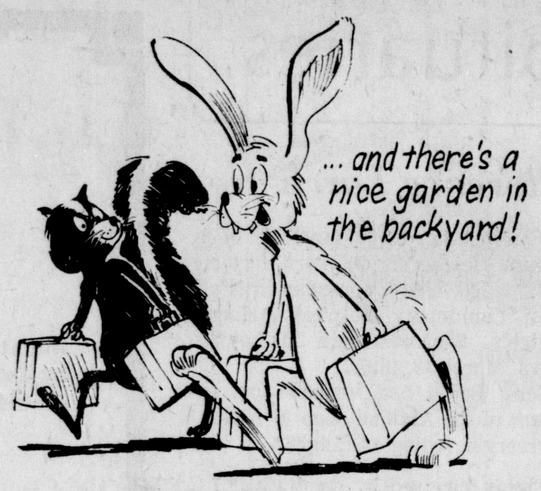
The home invaders



Little stinkers can make life miserable

by JOE SWICKARD

Disgruntled city dwellers are not the only ones making the move to the suburbs.

Our little woodland friends may be foresaking the bosky dell and sylvan glen for a life of comfort in suburbia.

Deers, skunks, raccoons and the omnipresent opossum are finding suburban living a bit easier than grubbing around in the woods for a bite to eat and a place to make a nest, said Chet Ryndak, naturalist at the River Trails Nature Center, Wheeling Township.

Porches, cedar siding, chimneys, gardens, shrubs, plastic garbage bags — in short, most things common to suburban living — are extremely attractive to critters tired of roughing it, Ryndak said.

"TAKE YOUR rubbish can," he said. "If it isn't closed tightly raccoons, opossums and skunks can get inside and eat the scraps."

Communities that feature plastic garbage bags are just offering a tasty buffet to hungry critters.

"If you put the bags outside the night before they are to be picked up, they can get into them with no trouble at all," Ryndak said.

That inflation-beater garden you planted in the spring tastes just as good to the animls as it does to you. And they don't have to worry about grocery bills in the first place, either.

Even the landscaping that homeowners slave over is an invitation to wildlife, Ryndak said.

"Deer, especially white tailed ones, like cedars. People call us that something has been eating the shrubs and we find it has been the deer," he said.

AND WHILE some people are tearing their hair out about that new family of skunks that moved in down the block, other people are setting out blocks of salt to attract the animals, he said.

Is your house zoned for just one family? Raccoons and skunks and opossums don't give two hoots, or whatever noise they make, about what the village fathers say. They're moving in.

"A whole variety of pests like houses. A family of skunks can burrow in under the porch to raise their little stinkers. Raccoons will burrow right in if the eaves are rotting," Ryndak said.

Raccoons are famous for making "a comfy little nest" atop chimney flues, he said. Everything's just fine until the people decide it's about time to build a fire, he said, and then there's trouble with the charred critters.

All in all, Ryndak said, many animals are finding life a lot easier in the towns than out in the wild.

ANOTHER FACTOR, is the increasing animal population. The deer population is "up by a large count" in the last 10 years, he said.

Although deer don't get mailed a census form every decade, Ryndak said there is a ratio between the number of deer killed on the highways and the number of the population at large. So far this year, 167 deer have met untimely fates on the roads, he said.

A similiar study on woodchucks is under way, he added.

While the small mammals are the most frequent visitors, Ryndak said suburbanites can keep an eye out for migrating birds this time of year.

"They can see birds common to Alaska and tundra as they fly south for the winter. You might see hawks and eagles perched on telephone poles or hunting for food," he said.

RYNDAK ADVISED wire mesh for chimney tops and around porches to discourage furry visitors from becoming permanent tenants. Frequent inspection of eaves and roofs will help keep animals out of the attic, he said.

After all, he pointed out, putting up the screening is a lot easier and less painful than trying to evict a family of stubborn skunks.

"They don't like getting disturbed, you know. And they can raise a stink about it," he said.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS moms and tots join in recreation at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez St. The district provides free use of equipment from 1 to 3 p.m., Mondays to Fridays.

Panel asks changes in report cards

A citizens' committee in Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 Thursday recommended several changes in the district's report card system, one of which would compare students on their ability in reading and mathematics.

The citizens' report card committee, organized last spring, met over the summer to analyze and comment on the district's report card system.

The district currently issues progress reports four times each year. Report cards are fairly similar throughout the district for primary, intermediate and junior high pupils, said Katherine Stewart, a Poe School parent and committee member.

The report cards now rate children against themselves on their own individual progress in subject areas. The report card committee recommended that this be continued but additional marks be given in reading and math to show where the child is in relation to others in his class.

OTHER COMMITTEE recommendations include:

- Giving primary students a three-point evaluation system rather than the two-point system now used.
- Primary students currently may be graded as "satisfactory" or as "needing improvement." The committee wants the primary grades to have superior marks as well.
- Rating children on their efforts in each subject, particularly in physical education.
- Receiving teacher comments four times each year instead of twice.
- Receiving report cards before parent conferences are held.
- Establishing consistent grading symbols among the grades. Right now "S" on a primary card means "satisfactory" while an "S" on an intermediate card means "slow progress."

The committee also asked that teachers be given in-service training on using the report forms.

The committee drew much of its materials from a survey it administered to parents, teachers and students in the district. That survey showed that many primary parents preferred ungraded reports but many parents of older children liked the traditional A, B, C, D grading system, Mrs. Stewart said.

The board did not act on the committee's suggestions Thursday but will consider them and report back to the committee in the spring.

He is survived by his widow, Agnes, nee Lalonde; three daughters, Neva Jo (John Jr.) Schlitz of Arlington Heights, Peggy Anne (Thomas) Lambert of Barrington and Colleen (John) McCarthy of Evanston; two sons, Jack S. of Las Cruces, New Mexico, and Lawrence "Larry" Marsh of LeRoy, Ill., and 14 grandchildren.

Computer to speed county tax billings

A computerized system to speed information retrieval of real estate tax bills was announced this week by County Clerk Stanley T. Kusper Jr. and Assessor Thomas M. Tully.

The new cooperative system is aimed at speeding the real estate tax billing process as well as making it easier for a taxpayer to trace past tax records.

The new system will allow property records to be cross-referenced by address, legal description and property code numbers.

Setting up the $100,000 computer system is expected to take a year and a half.

Fast mail plan begins Saturday

Saturday the U.S. Postal Service begins a new program promising to bring faster delivery of first class mail.

The program will deliver air-mail service at first-class mail rates. The post office says, and will eliminate the need to use air mail postage on letters sent to destinations within the U.S.

Maps of next day and second day delivery areas under the new program are on display in local post offices.

BASICALLY, the new program promised that 90 per cent of the letters sent from the northwest suburbs to Chicago, north and south suburban areas, Gary, Rockford, Madison and Milwaukee will arrive the next morning. To qualify for the overnight service a letter must be mailed by 5 p.m.

The program also promises second day delivery for letters to most large cities in many areas of the country. Locally mailed letters should reach destinations in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut; New Jersey Washington, D.C., Maryland, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Arkansas, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico by the second day, 90 per cent of the time.

All areas in Alaska, Guam, Hawaii Idaho, New Hampshire, Maine, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Vermont, Deleware, North Carolina, and South Carolina are in third day delivery standards from the Northwest suburbs.

Some cities in the remaining states are second day delivery standard while others are third day.

THERE WILL still be air mail rates for packages weighing more than 13 ounces and for international mail.

Postal officials have advised against using air mail stamps after Saturday and will accept stamps for full postage value in trade for first class stamps.

The postal service this week also announced new postal rates, effective Dec. 28.

The new rates will increase the cost of mailing a first class latter from 10 cents to 13 cents and will up post card postage from 7 to 9 cents. Parcel post rates will increase an average of 10 per cent.

Guaranteed Income Tax Credit

We'll pay E. Mason to do your tax return to make sure you get your credit of up to $2,000.

APRIL 15 THURSDAY

If you buy a new condominium home at the Village on the Lake this year, recent federal legislation allows you a tax credit of 5% of the purchase price—up to a maximum credit of $2,000.

The credit doesn't apply everywhere. So don't assume you'll get it automatically if you buy somewhere else this year.

At the Village on the Lake, however, all the new homes qualify for the tax credit. And to make sure you get it, we'll pay a professional tax accountant, E. Mason Incorporated, to prepare your 1975 federal return.

A guaranteed tax credit isn't the only thing you get at Village on the Lake. You get a beautiful place to live: tennis courts, a swimming pool, a 35-acre lake, 30 acres of parkland; plus a great two-bedroom home including carpeting, a fully-equipped kitchen, air conditioning and a private patio or balcony.

See Village on the Lake this weekend. You'll find what you're looking for. We guarantee it.

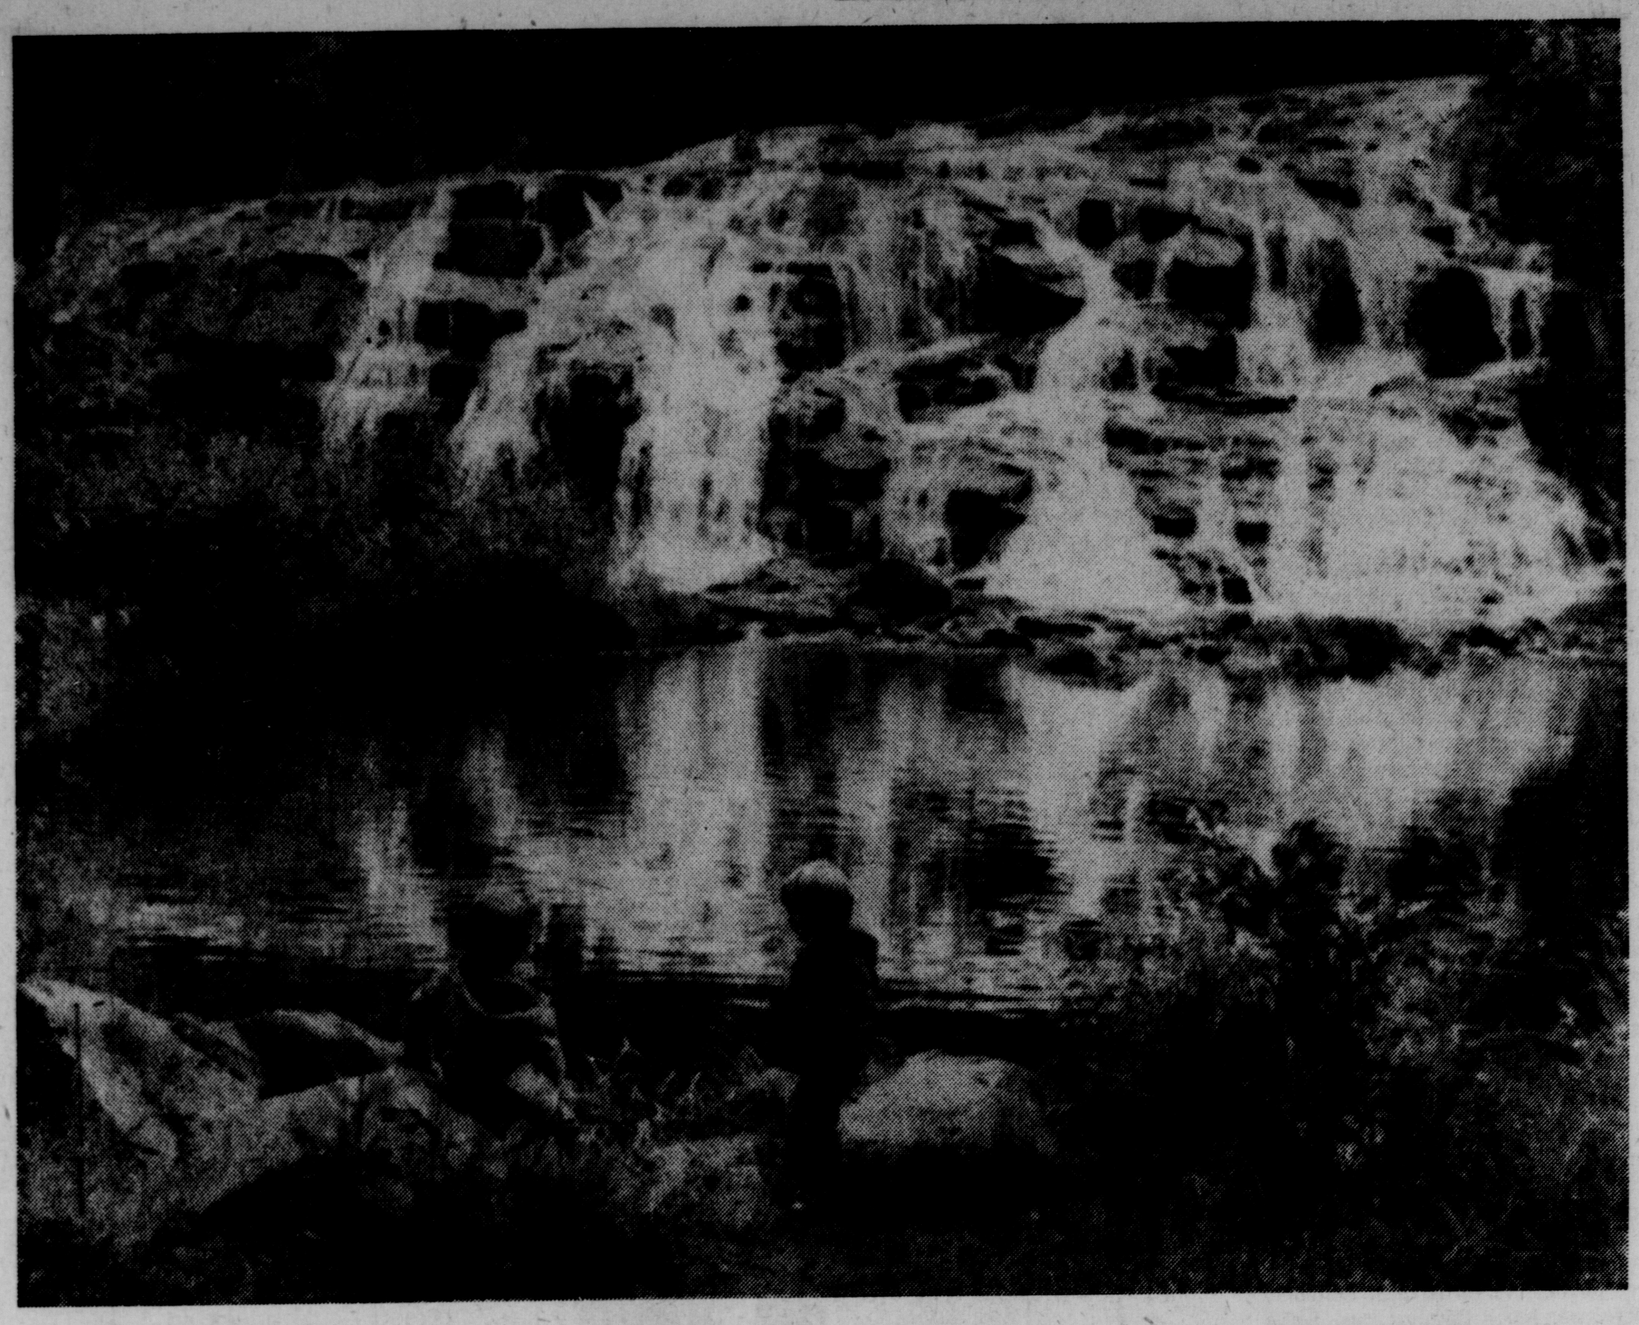
Superior . . . next star in Old Glory?



THE WONDERS OF autumn and beauty of Upper Michigan are observed by two boys as they watch the water come over Bond Falls on the middle branch of the Ontonagan River near Watersmeet. Soon, however, snow — as much as 300 inches — will fall.

DETROIT, Mich. (UPI)—Michigan's Upper Peninsula sticks out like a sore thumb from the rest of the state, and a lot of folks would like to see it separated politically, as well — into America's 51st state.

It would be called Superior.

Congress granted the Upper Peninsula to Michigan — taking it away from Wisconsin — early in the 19th Century, as a consolation prize for losing the Toledo strip to Ohio.

At the time, a Detroit newspaper called its new territory "a land of perpetual snows" — as much as 300 inches a year still falls in northern Upper Peninsula hamlets.

Iron and copper mines brought it boom times — and a wild reputation — in the mid-19th century. But production peaked for both by 1920. There still is some-mining, but the depression ended the boom times and the major source of revenue now is tourism.

A lot of people laughed last year when Theodore G. Albert, a 57-year-old lawyer from Ironwood, Mich., ran for Congress on a third party platform that would grant the Upper Peninsula statehood. He lost badly — as expected — but his idea didn't.

Many Upper Peninsula residents — there were only 304, 347 at last count — agree the Upper Peninsula needs, if not independence, a better deal from the politicians and businessmen in the rest of the state.

"I'll tell you," says Mrs. Donald Olgren, 34, of Ishpeming. "I think if we seceded, we could survive just as well as we do now."

Albert's idea was not a new one. But it resurfaced at a time when some Upper Peninsula residents were ready to take it seriously once again.

If it did suddenly find itself a state instead of an accumulation of 15 Michigan counties covered mostly with trees, it would rank 42nd in size and 49th in population — and, opponents of the idea say 51st in wealth.

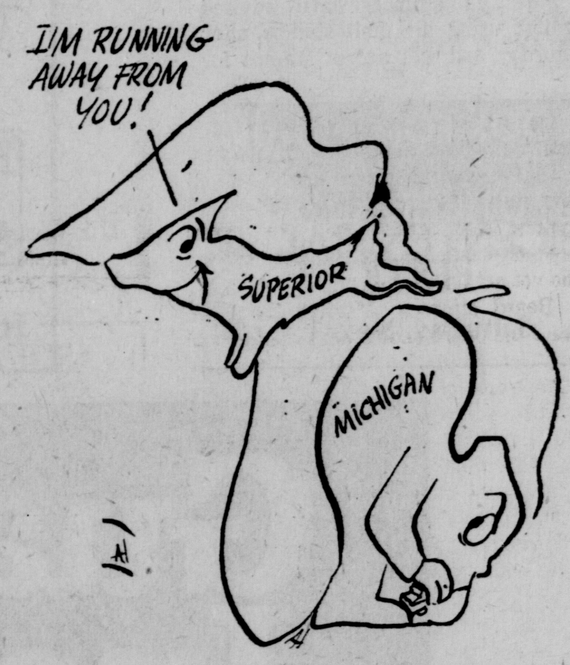
Still, the idea has caught enough attention to inspire state Rep. Dominic J. Jacobetti of Negaunee to push through legislative approval to spend $5,000 to study the feasibility of secession.

He has drawn up an elaborate scenario that includes naming the new state Superior, because Lake Superior dominates its northern shore and because the name suggests the Upper Peninsula's pride in its geographic position and its desirability in comparison with the rest of the state.

Jacobetti would place the capital of Superior in Marquette (population 19,824), the Upper Peninsula's largest city and its richest because of the nearby K. I. Sawyer AFB and Northern Michigan University.

It's the land of the big two hearted river of Ernest Hemingway, the home of the only Finnish language college in the United States and the disputed home of Paul Bunyon and his blue ox Babe. Other frontier logging regions also claim Paul and Babe, but the Upper Peninsula gets very uptight at such claims.

The idea may appeal to many Michigan residents — in both the Upper and Lower peninsulas, but it stands almost no chance of getting approval in the one place where a final okay is required — Washington.



Statehood proposals as old as country

by United Press International

Old Glory has flown with 50 stars for 15 years, but there are more than a few proposals around to add to that firmament with a 51st state — and perhaps more.

The next state could be named Superior. Or possibly there might be five more, all born of the present state of Texas.

The idea of new states is as old as the country itself. Some, such as one named Franklin, actually existed for a few years before disappearing. Another, called Sequoyah, adopted a state constitution, but lost out to Republican party politics.

Texas still has the right to divide itself into five states — without approval of Congress — and there's a move afoot to do just that because it would give the area 10 senators instead of two.

There've been proposals to split up Idaho and California; to create new states out of what is now New York City, the District of Columbia, the Navajo Indian Reservation, New York's Long Island, Maryland's Eastern Shore, and Puerto Rico. There have been proposals for other new states to be named Forgotonia, Aroostook, Jefferson, Winston, Indian Stream and Vietbam.

Many have been whimsical or nothing more than efforts to draw attention to the political plight of a region. A few have been serious.

Here's a look at some of them:

SUPERIOR — Congress granted the Upper Peninsula to Michigan — taking it away from Wisconsin — early in the 19th Century as a consolation prize for losing the Toledo Strip to Ohio. Michigan state Rep. Dominic Jacobetti recently got legislative approval to spend $5,000 to study the feasibility of creating a new state there, to be called Superior. If it did suddenly find itself a state it would rank 42nd in size and 49th in population — and, opponents of the idea say, 51st in wealth. Dissident groups in seven adjacent counties in Wisconsin have asked to join in.

JEFFERSON — There was a movement in 1941 to create the "sovereign state of Jefferson" out of the northern tip of California and the southern Oregon coast. Stan Delaplane, now a syndicated travel writer of The San Francisco Chronicle, won a Pulitzer prize for his reporting of the Jefferson movement, which died with the beginning of World War II, on Dec. 7, 1941.

CALIFORNIA — The most significant effort to separate California into two states came in 1965 shortly after the Supreme Court's one man-one vote decision. Fearing domination by the Los Angeles area, the state senate, on a geographical basis, voted 22-16 to split the state about 50 miles north of Los Angeles. However, the assembly, chosen on a population basis and dominated by the south, easily rejected the plan.

IDAHO — There was a proposal in the early 1960s to split Idaho into two states. The north-south talk comes up every time issues in the legislature tend toward sectionalism. Historically the north-south rift goes back to the territorial days when the first capitol was established at Lewiston, then pirated away to Boise. The rift nearly prevented Idaho's admission to the Union.

FORGOTONIA — In 1973, Earl Gamm, then 25 and a Vietnam veteran studying drama at Western Illinois University, proposed that 16 western Illinois counties secede to form a new state called "Forgontonia" to dramatize how the state and Federal governments had neglected that part of the state. Gamm appointed himself governor of Forgotonia, and was invited to address the Illinois legislature. He did so, wearing a stovepipe hat and other Lincoln garb. The highwater mark of the Forgotonia drive came when the Mercer County board voted unanimously to secede from Illinois.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA — There is a Statehood Party that usually runs second or third in elections in Washington, D.C. The Republicans sometimes run behind them, and the Statehood Party now has a member on the city council. Bills are introduced in Congress almost every session to make the District a state, and they routinely die in committee.

WINSTON — Residents of Winston County, Ala., established the "Free State of Winston" in 1862, and asked both sides in the Civil War to "leave us alone, unmolested, that we may work out our political and financial destiny here in the hills and mountains of northwest Alabama." Winston issued its own paper money, but neither side left it alone. The county's legislator, C. C. Sheats, was expelled from the legislature and later arrested for treason. He was released in 1864 without being tried. An attempt to abolish Winston County failed.

FRANKLIN — There briefly existed a state called Franklin in what is now eastern Tennessee. Historians now refer to it as the "Lost State of Franklin." John Sevier, a native Virginian, was Franklin's first and only governor, chosen in a convention in 1784 at the state's capitol, now Jonesboro, Tenn. But a military man, Col. John Tipton, declared the new state illegal. It started a war that wasn't settled until February, 1788, when Sevier was defeated in a battle at Tipton's plantation. Sevier later became Tennessee's first governor.

EASTERN SHORE — Maryland's Eastern Shore juts out past Chesapeake Bay into the Atlantic. There are periodic efforts by legislators from the area to secede from Maryland and from their own state. The efforts usually reach their height at reapportionment time — when the Eastern Shore always loses some representation.

VIETBAM — A whimsical letter in a national news magazine at the end of the Vietnam war suggested Alabama be turned over to Vietnamese refugees because the state is mostly rural and its climate is somewhat like that of Vietnam. It suggested the name could be changed to Vietbam.

NAVAJO — The Navajo Indian Reservation, which covers sections of northeast Arizona, southeastern Utah and northwestern New Mexico, occsionally makes noises about becoming a separate state. But the Navajo nation exists under a treaty with the U.S. government and has authority very close to that of a state anyway. Most of the dissatisfaction over the years has stemmed from Indian frustrations with federal overseers, and in the case of Navajo, this federal domination is rapidly dwindling away.

LONG ISLAND — In 1967 the Long Island Association of Commerce and Industry passed a resolution favoring secession from New York state and establishing Long Island as an independent state. The group contends the island, with a population of 2.5 million, could get far more federal aid as a separate state than as a portion of New York.

INDIAN STREAM — In 1832 disgruntled residents of extreme northern New Hampshire set up the republic of Indian Stream. It was during the time the United States and Canada were disputing a common boundary. There were a series of kidnapings, America troops came into the area, and the territory was finally made a part of New Hampshire in 1842 under the Webster-Ashburton Treaty.

PUERTO RICO — As many as 2.8 million Puerto Ricans may want to make their island the 51st state of the United States. But that doesn't mean the move is any closer than it was 58 years ago when Puerto Ricans gained U.S. citizenship.

But Puerto Rico receives more than $1.67 billion a year in federal assistance — without paying taxes or providing votes. The most recent test of public opinion was in 1967, when 60.5 per cent of the voters said they preferred to remain a commonwealth, 38.9 per cent supported statehood, and .6 per cent said they preferred complete independence.

SEQUOYAH — On Nov. 7, 1905, the residents of a new state, to be called Sequoyah, approved a constitution by a margin of 6 to 1 and sent a delegation to Washington. They were members of five Indian tribes and had been promised by years of treaties — the latest only seven years old — that they would be admitted to the union. But in 1906 President Teddy Roosevelt said the new state was a violation of Republican party policy, and declared that party politicis superseded government treaties with the Indians. He crushed the effort to establish a separate Indian state in what is now the eatern third of Oklahoma.

The constitution written for Sequoyah become the foundation. The Great Seal of Sequoyah, with only minor changes, became the seal of Oklahoma.

NEW YORK CITY — In the 1969 New York City mayoral election candidate Jimmy Breslin proposed that the city secede and become a separate state. The proposal got little attention. But in 1971, Rep. Bella Abzug brought it up again and got the endorsement of three of the city's five borough presidents. She argued that New York City deserves to be a state because its budget is larger than any state's and that the city never gets as much back money as it spends. If admitted, New York City would be the seventh most populous state in the union. That idea is still kicking around, and occasional notices of other moves to make the city a state are seen in the city's newspapers.

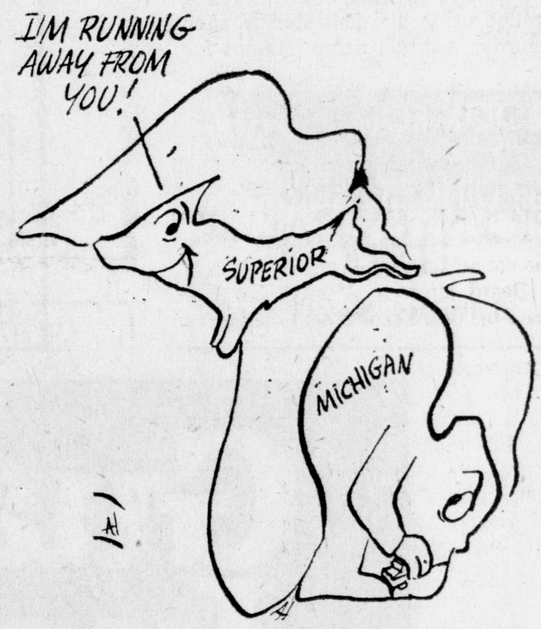
He has drawn up an elaborate scenario that includes naming the new state Superior, because Lake Superior dominates its northern shore and because the name suggests the Upper Peninsula's pride in its geographic position and its desirability in comparison with the rest of the state.

Jacobetti would place the capital of Superior in Marquette (population 19,824), the Upper Peninsula's largest city and its richest because of the nearby K. I. Sawyer AFB and Northern Michigan University.

It's the land of the big two hearted river of Ernest Hemingway, the home of the only Finnish language college in the United States and the disputed home of Paul Bunyon and his blue ox Babe. Other frontier logging regions also claim Paul and Babe, but the Upper Peninsula gets very uptight at such claims.

The idea may appeal to many Michigan residents — in both the Upper and Lower peninsulas, but it stands almost no chance of getting approval in the one place where a final okay is required — Washington.



Statehood proposals as old as country

by United Press International

Old Glory has flown with 50 stars for 15 years, but there are more than a few proposals around to add to that firmament with a 51st state — and perhaps more.

The next state could be named Superior. Or possibly there might be five more, all born of the present state of Texas.

The idea of new states is as old as the country itself. Some, such as one named Franklin, actually existed for a few years before disappearing. Another, called Sequoyah, adopted a state constitution, but lost out to Republican party politics.

Texas still has the right to divide itself into five states — without approval of Congress — and there's a move afoot to do just that because it would give the area 10 senators instead of two.

There've been proposals to split up Idaho and California; to create new states out of what is now New York City, the District of Columbia, the Navajo Indian Reservation, New York's Long Island, Maryland's Eastern Shore, and Puerto Rico. There have been proposals for other new states to be named Forgotonia, Aroostook, Jefferson, Winston, Indian Stream and Vietbam.

Many have been whimsical or nothing more than efforts to draw attention to the political plight of a region. A few have been serious.

Here's a look at some of them:

SUPERIOR — Congress granted the Upper Peninsula to Michigan — taking it away from Wisconsin — early in the 19th Century as a consolation prize for losing the Toledo Strip to Ohio. Michigan state Rep. Dominic Jacobetti recently got legislative approval to spend $5,000 to study the feasibility of creating a new state there, to be called Superior. If it did suddenly find itself a state it would rank 42nd in size and 49th in population — and, opponents of the idea say, 51st in wealth. Dissident groups in seven adjacent counties in Wisconsin have asked to join in.

JEFFERSON — There was a movement in 1941 to create the "sovereign state of Jefferson" out of the northern tip of California and the southern Oregon coast. Stan Delaplane, now a syndicated travel writer of The San Francisco Chronicle, won a Pulitzer prize for his reporting of the Jefferson movement, which died with the beginning of World War II, on Dec. 7, 1941.

CALIFORNIA — The most significant effort to separate California into two states came in 1965 shortly after the Supreme Court's one man-one vote decision. Fearing domination by the Los Angeles area, the state senate, on a geographical basis, voted 22-16 to split the state about 50 miles north of Los Angeles. However, the assembly, chosen on a population basis and dominated by the south, easily rejected the plan.

IDAHO — There was a proposal in the early 1960s to split Idaho into two states. The north-south talk comes up every time issues in the legislature tend toward sectionalism. Historically the north-south rift goes back to the territorial days when the first capitol was established at Lewiston, then pirated away to Boise. The rift nearly prevented Idaho's admission to the Union.

FORGOTONIA — In 1973, Earl Gamm, then 25 and a Vietnam veteran studying drama at Western Illinois University, proposed that 16 western Illinois counties secede to form a new state called "Forgontonia" to dramatize how the state and Federal governments had neglected that part of the state. Gamm appointed himself governor of Forgotonia, and was invited to address the Illinois legislature. He did so, wearing a stovepipe hat and other Lincoln garb. The highwater mark of the Forgotonia drive came when the Mercer County board voted unanimously to secede from Illinois.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA — There is a Statehood Party that usually runs second or third in elections in Washington, D.C. The Republicans sometimes run behind them, and the Statehood Party now has a member on the city council. Bills are introduced in Congress almost every session to make the District a state, and they routinely die in committee.

WINSTON — Residents of Winston County, Ala., established the "Free State of Winston" in 1862, and asked both sides in the Civil War to "leave us alone, unmolested, that we may work out our political and financial destiny here in the hills and mountains of northwest Alabama." Winston issued its own paper money, but neither side left it alone. The county's legislator, C. C. Sheats, was expelled from the legislature and later arrested for treason. He was released in 1864 without being tried. An attempt to abolish Winston County failed.

FRANKLIN — There briefly existed a state called Franklin in what is now eastern Tennessee. Historians now refer to it as the "Lost State of Franklin." John Sevier, a native Virginian, was Franklin's first and only governor, chosen in a convention in 1784 at the state's capitol, now Jonesboro, Tenn. But a military man, Col. John Tipton, declared the new state illegal. It started a war that wasn't settled until February, 1788, when Sevier was defeated in a battle at Tipton's plantation. Sevier later became Tennessee's first governor.

EASTERN SHORE — Maryland's Eastern Shore juts out past Chesapeake Bay into the Atlantic. There are periodic efforts by legislators from the area to secede from Maryland and from their own state. The efforts usually reach their height at reapportionment time — when the Eastern Shore always loses some representation.

VIETBAM — A whimsical letter in a national news magazine at the end of the Vietnam war suggested Alabama be turned over to Vietnamese refugees because the state is mostly rural and its climate is somewhat like that of Vietnam. It suggested the name could be changed to Vietbam.

NAVAJO — The Navajo Indian Reservation, which covers sections of northeast Arizona, southeastern Utah and northwestern New Mexico, occsionally makes noises about becoming a separate state. But the Navajo nation exists under a treaty with the U.S. government and has authority very close to that of a state anyway. Most of the dissatisfaction over the years has stemmed from Indian frustrations with federal overseers, and in the case of Navajo, this federal domination is rapidly dwindling away.

LONG ISLAND — In 1967 the Long Island Association of Commerce and Industry passed a resolution favoring secession from New York state and establishing Long Island as an independent state. The group contends the island, with a population of 2.5 million, could get far more federal aid as a separate state than as a portion of New York.

INDIAN STREAM — In 1832 disgruntled residents of extreme northern New Hampshire set up the republic of Indian Stream. It was during the time the United States and Canada were disputing a common boundary. There were a series of kidnapings, America troops came into the area, and the territory was finally made a part of New Hampshire in 1842 under the Webster-Ashburton Treaty.

PUERTO RICO — As many as 2.8 million Puerto Ricans may want to make their island the 51st state of the United States. But that doesn't mean the move is any closer than it was 58 years ago when Puerto Ricans gained U.S. citizenship.

But Puerto Rico receives more than $1.67 billion a year in federal assistance — without paying taxes or providing votes. The most recent test of public opinion was in 1967, when 60.5 per cent of the voters said they preferred to remain a commonwealth, 38.9 per cent supported statehood, and .6 per cent said they preferred complete independence.

SEQUOYAH — On Nov. 7, 1905, the residents of a new state, to be called Sequoyah, approved a constitution by a margin of 6 to 1 and sent a delegation to Washington. They were members of five Indian tribes and had been promised by years of treaties — the latest only seven years old — that they would be admitted to the union. But in 1906 President Teddy Roosevelt said the new state was a violation of Republican party policy, and declared that party politicis superseded government treaties with the Indians. He crushed the effort to establish a separate Indian state in what is now the eatern third of Oklahoma.

The constitution written for Sequoyah become the foundation. The Great Seal of Sequoyah, with only minor changes, became the seal of Oklahoma.

NEW YORK CITY — In the 1969 New York City mayoral election candidate Jimmy Breslin proposed that the city secede and become a separate state. The proposal got little attention. But in 1971, Rep. Bella Abzug brought it up again and got the endorsement of three of the city's five borough presidents. She argued that New York City deserves to be a state because its budget is larger than any state's and that the city never gets as much back money as it spends. If admitted, New York City would be the seventh most populous state in the union. That idea is still kicking around, and occasional notices of other moves to make the city a state are seen in the city's newspapers.

'We're accused of breaking the bank'

Education adds to cash crunch

by WANDALYN RICE

The cash flow crunch afflicting the state of Illinois is at least partly caused by "increased efficiency in the state Office of Education," State School Supt. Joseph Cronin said Thursday.

Cronin told the state board of education, meeting in Chicago, that the state office had succeeded in processing $74 million in state payments to local school districts for special education by the legal payment deadline Sept. 30.

In the past, Cronin said, special education payments have been as much as 10 months late in being processed by the state. He said, "We have had a concerted drive in the last eight months to improve the operation of the office of education. In private industry you're rewarded for improving efficiency. Right now, we're being accused of breaking the bank."

GEORGE LINDBERG, state controller, announced Wednesday the state's bank balance is so dangerously low he may not be able to make the $97 million monthly general school aid payment by the legal deadline of Oct. 16.

Lindberg said if the state does not have the money to make the payment on time he will ask the state school board whether to delay the payment, make a reduced payment or pay just some of the state's school districts.

Donald Eslick, chief lobbyist for the school board, said a legal opinion given the state board indicates Lindberg, not the state board, will have to make the decision about what to do if the state is short of money Oct. 16. "I have a legal opinion that the state board doesn't have the responsibility to tell the comptroller what to do," he said.

Cronin said delaying the state aid payment "by a day or two wouldn't be fatal." He said the education spending is not the only cause of the state's financial problem.

"THE STATE HAS average daily expenditures of about $60 million. Our monthly payments are a part of that."

Cronin said the state's cash flow problems are caused by variations in revenue receipts.

"Regretably wintertime is the worst time for revenue," he said. "Lots of money comes in during the last three or four months of the fiscal year (which ends June 30). That's how the state has ended up in the past few years with larger surpluses than expected."

Officials in Gov. Daniel Walker's office Thursday said Lindberg's statements about the financial condition of the state are "just not true." "There's plenty of money there. All he (Lindberg) has to do is manage the flow," said Mark Clark, a press spokesman for the governor.

State reports 41 segregated school districts

At least 41 school districts in the state have racially segregated schools, the state board of education was told Thursday.

The school districts, which were not named because they have not yet been notified of the state's finding of illegal segregation, have schools which violate the state's standard for racial integration.

According to the state rules, each school in the district must come within 15 per cent of reflecting the over-all racial composition of the school district. In short, a district with 50 per cent black students could not have a school with more than 65 per cent black students.

ROBERT LYONS associate superintendent for the state board, said 14 of the 41 districts were on a list of segregated school districts which was compiled by former State School Supt. Michael Bakalis in 1971. Chicago, Springfield and Rockford were on the 1971 list.

Members of the state board agreed the state must take action against the districts that are segregated unless officials in those districts act to integrate the schools on their own. Lyons said the board could sue local schools to force them to desegregate or could cut off state funds to the districts.

The board agreed to consider a formal resolution at its Oct. 23 meeting to put all districts found in violation of the state desegregation guidelines on notice that action will be taken against them by next summer if they do not act on their own.

Board attorney Marilyn Longwell said the board should act to put school districts on notice because the state's desegregation rules have not been enforced strictly in the past. "We need to be concerned that we deal equitably with all school districts," she said. "If people have been lulled into noncompliance by previous state actions, we shouldn't just go out tomorrow and file suit against them."

Market closes slightly higher in active trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices closed slightly higher in active trading Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 7.40 points Wednesday, finsihed the day ahead 0.63 at 824.54. The blue chip indicator had risen more than five points earlier in the session. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index added 0.43 to 88.37. The price of an average Big Board common share picked up 14 cents.

Advances held a two-to-one lead oer declines, 887 to 443, among the 1,774 issues crossing the tape.

Volume totaled 17,700,000 shares, compared with 17,800,000 shares exchanged Wednesday.

The blue chips and oils strengthened, but the glamors turned mixed following some late-session selling pressure.

Brunswick Corp. led the actives, off ¼ to 9¾ on 467,900 shares. Burroughs was second, off 7½ to 88¾ on 303,300 shares. Champion Spark Plug followed, off 1/8 to 9-5/8 on 290,500 shares.

The steels, rails and airlines weakened fractionally, but the gold issues rose marginally as the price of bullion climbed on foreign markets.

Prices moved slightly higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange, where the price of an average share rose three cents. Volume came to 1,738,000 shares compared with, 1,588,000 traded Wednesday.

Stop smoking clinic set at high school

A five-evening "stop smoking clinic" will be sponsored next week by the Maine-Oakton-Niles Adult and Continuing Education Program.

The clinic will run from 7:30 to 9:15 p.m. Sunday through Thursday at Maine East High School, Dempster and Potter, Park Ridge.

Sessions will be led by Arthur Fry, an associate of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Northbrook. Fee for the clinic is $6 for residents and nonresidents of Maine and Niles Townships.

Ford's first test of the crowd successful

PRESIDENT FORD

by RICHARD H. GROWALD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It began on the Elkins High School football field with President Ford trying mightily to enthuse over a coonskin cap presented him by Rep. Harley Staggers.

It ended 47 minutes later at the end of a 1.3 mile parade between what Randolph County sheriff Philip Ware insisted were nothing but 125,000 good-hearted folk come to the West Virginia Mountain State Festival Parade to cheer their President.

But being his first public outing since being shot at Sept. 22 in San Francisco, it also tested the Secret Service security and Ford's mettle.

Ford handed the coonskin cap to aide Terry O'Donnell and climbed into the $500,000 bubble top limousine rebuilt on the chassis of the car in which John F. Kennedy was assassinated. He tapped the closed, sliding sunroof and settled back beside Sen. Jennings Randolph.

THE BLACK CAR swung in ahead of the Elkins High School band. The open limousine carried six Secret Servicemen, presidential physician William Lukash, and a submachinegun.

About 18 other Secret Servicemen, at times intermingled with the six blonde high school majorettes and two clowns, walked alongside Ford's car. The cheering began.

Ford almost pushed his nose up against the bulletproof glass in his eagerness to respond. His mouth opened and closed but no words could be heard. He waved.

The crowd made its clapping, whistling sounds as the vehicle pushed ahead at what White House advanceman Pappy Noel called "a good three-mile-an-hour parade speed."

Ford, although conscious of the caution counseled by his wife, his advisers, congressmen and the press, obviously ifched to penetrate the barrier between him and the people.

A block from the high school the sunroof slid back. Ford's fingers could be seen waving out in the free air.

The car had reached the Tri-County Heating & Supply Company when Ford turned to Randolph and said, "I want to stand up!"

RANDOLPH, sure of his mountain folk, said, "You're the President!"

Ford stood and the crowds five and six deep outside Bob's Furniture store cheered wildly at the sight.

Up went Ford's arm as the vehicle passed Veterans Electric Store.

There were no crowds on the bridge over the town river for security purposes, so Ford sat back down.

But on the other side, outside the Valley Furniture Store, he stood again and thrust both hands up in a victory salute. The crowd outside the Harper's Sewing Shop jumped and shouted.

Ford was in center of Main Street by now, outside Moose Lodge 375 which bore an unfolded cardboard box decorated with crude letters spelling "Welcome President Ford."

Behind him the band played, but the crowds outside Camilla's Beauty Shop and Mano's movie theatre all but drowned out the music.

THE CAR STOPPED. O'Donnell said they had reached the part of the parade route held safe for a presidential walk.

Ford popped out and 12 Secret Servicemen swung around him in a 180 degree arc. Ford began shaking hands.

There were no untoward incidents.

The first test of the public President after San Francisco had succeeded.

'Appearance' group helpful

The Herald commends the work of the Buffalo Grove Appearance Commission in controlling aesthetics in the rapidly growing village, and we urge officials of other suburban communities to consider establishing such an advisory body.

Left uncontrolled, our suburban landscape quickly can become unappealing to prospective home buyers and developers and businessmen. It can become a strikingly sterile place to live with row upon row of houses that look the same and a commercial jungle of neon signs jammed together down a mile or two of highway.

To avoid this, the Buffalo Grove Appearance Commission was formed to control the way the village will look; to scrutinize developers' plans for architectural conformity and general appearance. The Buffalo Grove Plan Commission, along with the appearance commission, regulates almost every aspect of prospective development.

Created in 1972, the seven-member appearance board has gained a reputation as one of the toughest in the Northwest suburbs. In several instances their work has produced fine developments and shopping centers as in the case of the Plaza Verde Shopping Center on Dundee Road where a more modern design was required to blend architecturally with Buffalo Grove High School, a bank and fire station.

Further, the appearance commission has worked to save large trees from being cut down by convincing developers to build around them. The commission — although it has no control of development before 1972 — also works with owners to help improve the appearance of older buildings.

We are encouraged by the development of a similar appearance commission in Wheeling and urge other local villages to follow suit.

They have appearance control. Straighten your tie!

On this day in history:

• On 1845, the U.S. Naval Academy was formally opened at Ft. Severn, Annapolis, Md.

• In 1911, Chinese revolutionaries overthrew the Manchu Dynasty.

• In 1963, a dam burst in northern Italy, drowning an estimated 3,000 persons.

• In 1973, Vice President Spiro Agnew resigned under an agreement with the Justice Department to plead no contest to income tax evasion charges. He was fined $10,000 and put on three years' probation.

Pastor supports death penalty

Fence post
letters to the editor

Your editorial opposing the death penalty stated, "Between 1930 and 1973, out of some 400,000 murder convictions, only 334 persons were executed." Your conclusion to that was, "even the most coldblooded criminal must have known that execution wasn't much of a threat."

Of course it was not a threat (deterrent), because 399,666 did not receive the death penalty. For a penalty to be effective it must be applied.

You further claimed that capital punishment is an expensive, cruel and senseless ritual. It is implicit within that statement that it is cheaper and not cruel and reasonable to keep a killer in an institution for years.

The same day your editorial appeared a UPI story was carried "Snuff sex films end with actual murder of females." The story says the films begin with an actress and several actors engaging in a variety of sex acts. Soon, however, a knife appears, and the actress is stabbed to death and dismembered. The climax depicts the "actual murder" of the female.

WE ARE LIVING in a violent society, and I submit that our society has not had to pay for its violence. The only suitable punishment for murder is the death penalty. To make the death penalty effective, however, it must be enacted by a society strong enough to enforce our laws.

Therefore I suggest consideration be given to make the death penalty law once again, and make the enactment of that death penalty public, i.e. full coverage of the criminal being executed, including national news magazines, television and newspaper. Our society has been deluged with unreal crime and punishment (TV and movies), now let us make it real. Your editorial concludes also that "emotion charged and illogical solutions will do little to deter crime." Let me challenge you to see that the position of non-death penalty is the emotion-charged position.

Some of the world's oldest historical documents demand the death penalty. Let us return to sensible and stable principles of justice. Criminals beware!

Anti-death penalty reasoning 'hollow'

Regarding your editorial of Friday, Oct. 3, titled "Death Penalty Ruling Lauded." Your logic was hollow at best, because the ruling does not put down capital punishment, only a technicality in the law as it was written.

Nonetheless you used this occasion as a springboard to display an outmoded outlook on criminology. Had you written this article 15 or even 10 years ago, your facts would have borne up under scrutiny, your logic would have been indisputable and I would have congratulated you.

However, during the last 10 to 15 years, almost no one has had to pay the supreme price. The trends and emphasis of criminology have been on reform of the offender rather than punishing him, on giving benefit of the doubt rather than sterness, which is obviously the moral climate eulogized in your editorial. Study carefully the results of such a moral climate. Bore yourself to tears with statistics. Our population has grown in the last 10 years, but not with the speed of the skyrocketing crime rate. Now we are at zero population growth and we still have a growing crime rate. You did concede in your article that the crime rate is growing, but you contradict yourself when you deny that stern laws as we once had (as characterized by capital punishment) reduced crime. If the last 10 years is not proof, what is?

If you think that "capital punishment is also expensive, cruel, and senseless ritual which does not dignify our system of criminal justice," what do you think our present rate of recidivism does for it? It is not only a cruel, expensive and senseless ritual, but it also bogs down the system of criminal justice right along with the lack of deterrent.

YOU SAY THAT violent death should have no place in our society. I'm glad you said that, I agree. Now let's face reality. Look at pages one and two of the same paper in which you printed this editorial. During the present moral climate, people are now not only committing crimes of passion with almost no punishment, but they are also committing violent crimes to entertain other people, and the authorities say that catching the individual and then proving it would be very difficult. By your own yardstick, does this dignify our system of criminal justice?

I do not think that our laws and punishments are nearly as improper as our basic attitude upon which they are based. The outlook of criminologists, along with your present view, is that man is basically good, that man is a moral creature, and that given another chance any wrongdoer will better himself. I think that the statistics over the last 10 years have proven this theory pure foolishness. At what time in this nation's history has it been more hazardous to be a resident of a large city than to have been inducted in World War II? It is now. And it will continue to get worse until we go back to the basic moral codes and concepts laid down by our founding fathers, which they got from their deep Christian heritage.

Our present crippled criminal law has proven once more that man is not a moral creature and that given the chance, man will screw himself up almost every time. We have a 3,000-year-old record of this very fact. It is a collection of books called the Bible. One of its writers sagely noted that whatever a man sows has a direct correlation with the crop that some day he must reap. Somehow we seem to be out of touch with that simple fact. It also says that if a wrongdoer faces up to his condition, turns his back on his crimes and seeks God's help to improve his performance, he will not be disappointed. It instructs government to have a stern but fair set of laws and to dispense them with justice, in much the same way that a father corrects his children.

'Law must uphold Bible'

It seems that the writer of the Herald editorial on capital punishment needs a course in logic. He states that, "Capital punishment is not and never has been a deterrent to violent crime." But earlier in the article he gives the statistics that between 1930 and 1973 there were 400,000 murder convictions but only 334 persons executed.

A punishment threatened, but never or rarely carried out certainly does not deter anything. If I tell my little one that a loss of privilege results from misbehaving and then I never carry out the punishment, you can be sure that my child will continue to misbehave.

Instead of The Herald backing the removal of capital punishment because it "hasn't worked," they should be calling for strict enforcement of that law. If there have been 400,000 convictions for murder, there should have been 400,000 executions. Therein lies the deterrent.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT is proper because it was instituted by God. Genesis, 9:6 declares, "Who so sheddeth man's blood by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made He man." This declaration of scripture has never been abrogated.

It is the duty of civil government, under God, to pass and enforce laws which uphold Biblical teachings. Romans 13:3 says in part as it speaks of God appointed civil government, "For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to evil."

If the Herald is to be true to its motto it needs to reconsider its editorial position. "Our aim: To fear God, tell the truth, and make money." —H. C. Paddock. Could it be that in order to succeed at the last portion of the motto, that Paddock Publications is just seeking to be in step with the popular opinion of the day, and has lost sight of the first two parts?

Crossing safety sought

I live at Carriageway and Algonquin, Rolling Meadows. I would like to know, for the children, of a safe way to cross Algonquin Road on the way home from school. There are no crossing signs (lower speed limit during school hours). No traffic guard or policeman. They attend Rolling Meadows High School, and school starts 8:45 a.m. and ends 3:45 p.m.

We have taken the matter up with the mayor, alderman and also the highway department. One seems to blame the other, such as the highway department says it's the responsibility of the City of Rolling Meadows and the city says it's the highway duty. And still no answers.

The traffic flow is worse due to stores, office and apartments building up. It's a four-lane road, speed limit 45 and I've seen cars do 50.

So I urge you and plead with you. How does one cross Algonquin Road (62) and Carriageway in Rolling Meadows safely? Especially in the winter or on ice-covered streets. Can you show and demonstrate a safe way to cross. I pray you can.

AMERICAN REVOLUTION BICENTENNIAL 1776-1976

NANTES, France, Oct. 10 — Charles Biddle reported he was finding it hard going to obtain powder for the American armies in the French coastal towns on his private mission to buy munitions.

Ford's first test of the crowd successful

PRESIDENT FORD

by RICHARD H. GROWALD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It began on the Elkins High School football field with President Ford trying mightily to enthuse over a coonskin cap presented him by Rep. Harley Staggers.

It ended 47 minutes later at the end of a 1.3 mile parade between what Randolph County sheriff Philip Ware insisted were nothing but 125,000 good-hearted folk come to the West Virginia Mountain State Festival Parade to cheer their President.

But being his first public outing since being shot at Sept. 22 in San Francisco, it also tested the Secret Service security and Ford's mettle.

Ford handed the coonskin cap to aide Terry O'Donnell and climbed into the $500,000 bubble top limousine rebuilt on the chassis of the car in which John F. Kennedy was assassinated. He tapped the closed, sliding sunroof and settled back beside Sen. Jennings Randolph.

THE BLACK CAR swung in ahead of the Elkins High School band. The open limousine carried six Secret Servicemen, presidential physician William Lukash, and a submachinegun.

About 18 other Secret Servicemen, at times intermingled with the six blonde high school majorettes and two clowns, walked alongside Ford's car. The cheering began.

Ford almost pushed his nose up against the bulletproof glass in his eagerness to respond. His mouth opened and closed but no words could be heard. He waved.

The crowd made its clapping, whistling sounds as the vehicle pushed ahead at what White House advanceman Pappy Noel called "a good three-mile-an-hour parade speed."

Ford, although conscious of the caution counseled by his wife, his advisers, congressmen and the press, obviously ifched to penetrate the barrier between him and the people.

A block from the high school the sunroof slid back. Ford's fingers could be seen waving out in the free air.

The car had reached the Tri-County Heating & Supply Company when Ford turned to Randolph and said, "I want to stand up!"

RANDOLPH, sure of his mountain folk, said, "You're the President!"

Ford stood and the crowds five and six deep outside Bob's Furniture store cheered wildly at the sight.

Up went Ford's arm as the vehicle passed Veterans Electric Store.

There were no crowds on the bridge over the town river for security purposes, so Ford sat back down.

But on the other side, outside the Valley Furniture Store, he stood again and thrust both hands up in a victory salute. The crowd outside the Harper's Sewing Shop jumped and shouted.

Ford was in center of Main Street by now, outside Moose Lodge 375 which bore an unfolded cardboard box decorated with crude letters spelling "Welcome President Ford."

Behind him the band played, but the crowds outside Camilla's Beauty Shop and Mano's movie theatre all but drowned out the music.

THE CAR STOPPED. O'Donnell said they had reached the part of the parade route held safe for a presidential walk.

Ford popped out and 12 Secret Servicemen swung around him in a 180 degree arc. Ford began shaking hands.

There were no untoward incidents.

The first test of the public President after San Francisco had succeeded.

Congressional wrapup

5% limit on pay increases OKd

From Roll Call Report

U.S. Representatives Philip M. Crane, R-12th, and Abner J. Mikva D-10th, both voted last week to limit pay increases for members of Congress and federal employes to 5 per cent.

In the Senate an amendment which would abolish federal price controls on natural gas sold in interstate commerce was tabled.

Following is a summary of key votes by the Illinois congressional delegation for the period from Sept. 25 through Oct. 1. Included in the summary are Illinois' two senators, Republican Charles H. Percy and Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson III, and Northwest suburban congressmen Carne and Mikva.

House

POSTAL SERVICE. An amendment to return financial control over the U.S. Postal Service to Congress, adopted 267-123.

The bill's sponsor argued that the Postal Service must again be made "accountable to Congress and the public." Opponents argued that the amendment would interfere with reorganization of the Postal Service, which they said eventually will generate federal revenue.

YES: Republicans Crane, Anderson, Michel, Findley and Madigan; Democrats Russo, Hall and Shipley.

NOT VOTING: Democrat Fary.

PAY RAISE. Motion to table a resolution disapproving President Ford's recommendation that a 5 per cent pay raise for Congress and federal employes be enacted this year, approved 278-123.

By tabling, the House in effect voted in favor of the 5 per cent raise, as opposed to the earlier proposal for raises of 8.66 per cent.

The 5 per cent increase will raise salaries of senators and representatives to $44,625. The higher rate would have placed them at $46,184.

YES: Republican Crane, Democrat Mikva; Democrats Metcalfe, Murphy, Russo, Collins, Rostenkowski, Yates, Annunzio, Shipey, Price and Simon; Republicans Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, Anderson, Michel, Railsback, Findley.

NOT VOTING: Democrat Fary; Republicas O'Brien and Madigan.

RHODESIAN CHROME, A bill requiring the U.S. to obey the United Nations-sanctioned embargo on trading with white-ruled Rhodesia, rejected 209-187.

The effect of the vote was to leave untouched the 1971 law under which the U.S. has skirted the embargo and imported chrome ore and ferrochrome from Rhodesia, avoiding dependence for chrome on Russia.

Supporters said the 1971 law has not lessened U.S. dependence on Soviet chromium, which still accounts for 50 per cent of imported chrome. Opponents said demand for chromium has increased and passage of the bill would cause scarcities and inflation.

YES: Democrats Mikva, Murphy, Collins, Yates, Hall, Shipley, Price and Simon; Republicans Anderson, Railsback and Findley.

NO: Republicans Crane, Hyde, McClory, O'Brien and Michel; Democrats Russo and Rostenkowski.

NOT VOTING: Democrats Metcalfe, Fary, Annunzio; Republicans Erlenborn and Madigan.

CIA BUDGET. An amendment to make public this year's total appropriation to the Central Intelligence Agency, rejected 267-147.

Supporters said Congress must assume its responsibility to oversee the CIA. Opponents argued the amendment would damage national security.

YES: Democrats Metcalfe, Collins, Yates, Shipley and Simon; Rpublican Findley.

NO: Republicans Crane, Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, Anderson, O'Brien, Michel, Railsback and Madigan; Democrats Murphy, Russo, Rostenkowski, Annunzio, Hall and Price.

NOT VOTING: Democrats Mikva and Fary.

Senate

NATURAL GAS. Motion to table an amendment to abolish federal price controls on natural gas sold in interstate commerce, adopted 57-31.

Present ceiling is 52 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The present average price of intrastate gas is $1.25.

Supporters of the defeated amendment advocate decontrol of natural gas prices as a partial solution to the energy crisis, claiming higher profits will encouarge more exploration and higher production.

Opponents said the amendment would destroy efforts at partial decontrol of prices.

YES: Stevenson.

NO: Percy.

Congressional wrapup

5% limit on pay increases OKd

From Roll Call Report

U.S. Representatives Philip M. Crane, R-12th, and Abner J. Mikva D-10th, both voted last week to limit pay increases for members of Congress and federal employes to 5 per cent.

In the Senate an amendment which would abolish federal price controls on natural gas sold in interstate commerce was tabled.

Following is a summary of key votes by the Illinois congressional delegation for the period from Sept. 25 through Oct. 1. Included in the summary are Illinois' two senators, Republican Charles H. Percy and Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson III, and Northwest suburban congressmen Carne and Mikva.

House

POSTAL SERVICE. An amendment to return financial control over the U.S. Postal Service to Congress, adopted 267-123.

The bill's sponsor argued that the Postal Service must again be made "accountable to Congress and the public." Opponents argued that the amendment would interfere with reorganization of the Postal Service, which they said eventually will generate federal revenue.

YES: Republicans Crane, Anderson, Michel, Findley and Madigan; Democrats Russo, Hall and Shipley.

NOT VOTING: Democrat Fary.

PAY RAISE. Motion to table a resolution disapproving President Ford's recommendation that a 5 per cent pay raise for Congress and federal employes be enacted this year, approved 278-123.

By tabling, the House in effect voted in favor of the 5 per cent raise, as opposed to the earlier proposal for raises of 8.66 per cent.

The 5 per cent increase will raise salaries of senators and representatives to $44,625. The higher rate would have placed them at $46,184.

YES: Republican Crane, Democrat Mikva; Democrats Metcalfe, Murphy, Russo, Collins, Rostenkowski, Yates, Annunzio, Shipey, Price and Simon; Republicans Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, Anderson, Michel, Railsback, Findley.

NOT VOTING: Democrat Fary; Republicas O'Brien and Madigan.

RHODESIAN CHROME, A bill requiring the U.S. to obey the United Nations-sanctioned embargo on trading with white-ruled Rhodesia, rejected 209-187.

The effect of the vote was to leave untouched the 1971 law under which the U.S. has skirted the embargo and imported chrome ore and ferrochrome from Rhodesia, avoiding dependence for chrome on Russia.

Supporters said the 1971 law has not lessened U.S. dependence on Soviet chromium, which still accounts for 50 per cent of imported chrome. Opponents said demand for chromium has increased and passage of the bill would cause scarcities and inflation.

YES: Democrats Mikva, Murphy, Collins, Yates, Hall, Shipley, Price and Simon; Republicans Anderson, Railsback and Findley.

NO: Republicans Crane, Hyde, McClory, O'Brien and Michel; Democrats Russo and Rostenkowski.

NOT VOTING: Democrats Metcalfe, Fary, Annunzio; Republicans Erlenborn and Madigan.

CIA BUDGET. An amendment to make public this year's total appropriation to the Central Intelligence Agency, rejected 267-147.

Supporters said Congress must assume its responsibility to oversee the CIA. Opponents argued the amendment would damage national security.

YES: Democrats Metcalfe, Collins, Yates, Shipley and Simon; Rpublican Findley.

NO: Republicans Crane, Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, Anderson, O'Brien, Michel, Railsback and Madigan; Democrats Murphy, Russo, Rostenkowski, Annunzio, Hall and Price.

NOT VOTING: Democrats Mikva and Fary.

Senate

NATURAL GAS. Motion to table an amendment to abolish federal price controls on natural gas sold in interstate commerce, adopted 57-31.

Present ceiling is 52 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The present average price of intrastate gas is $1.25.

Supporters of the defeated amendment advocate decontrol of natural gas prices as a partial solution to the energy crisis, claiming higher profits will encouarge more exploration and higher production.

Opponents said the amendment would destroy efforts at partial decontrol of prices.

YES: Stevenson.

NO: Percy.

Diabetes can cause cirrhosis of liver

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Would you please explain portal cirrhosis of the liver? Does it usually cause internal bleeding? Are there any early symptoms and could uncontrolled diabetes be a contributing factor along with some social drinking? A very dear friend, 65 years old, died of it and the resulting internal bleeding.

Because it is often fatal and requires emergency treatment, your readers should be warned about it.

The term portal cirrhosis relates to the anatomic changes inside the liver that occur with the disease. Your liver is divided into numerous small lobes. You can see this separation under a microscope. Between the lobes are veins that belong to the portal circulation or branches of the portal vein.

Cirrhosis means scarring of the liver. The scarring in portal cirrhosis occurs around the small portal veins or outside the small liver lobules. As the scarring increases they separate the lobes, and the liver takes on a more lobular appearance. The scarring around the lobes causes the liver to contract eventually.

The scarring and compression also increases the pressure in the veins to the liver (portal circulation) and raise the pressure in these veins. This is called portal hypertension. The scarred tissue literally obstructs the flow of venous blood through the liver. This has the same effect you get in the arm when you constrict it. The veins in the arm pop out below the blood pressure cuff or the tourniquet used by a technician when drawing blood.

In portal cirrhosis the constriction causes the veins in the lower esophagus and upper stomach to pop out. These are called esophageal or gastric varices. They are literally varicose veins of that area. As they stretch too much from pressure they may break and hemorrhage into the lower esophagus or stomach.

The other way liver disease can cause bleeding from any source is by affecting the normal chemical process that enables blood to clot normally.

Portal cirrhosis, also called Laennec's cirrhosis, is usually caused by chronic use of alcohol, malnutrition or as a complication of viral hepatitis. Yes, it can occur as a complication of diabetes. You can have other forms of cirrhosis of the liver from entirely different causes, including biliary tract disease associated with gallstones and as a complication of long standing heart failure.

In North America alcohol causes 60 per cent of portal cirrhosis. The way to prevent this is obvious. It is a major cause of death in the United States, affecting particularly middle-aged and older men, but women can have it, too. In nations where starvation and lack of protein are common nutritional problems, malnutrition is the usual cause. Malnutrition may also complicate other diseases leading to portal cirrhosis. This is why you see it in people who have trouble absorbing their food as seen in some forms of pancreatic disease or any of the diseases that cause persistent diarrhea and poor absorption.

Prospect, Elk Grove meet tonight; Saxons to travel

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

The Schaumburg Saxons will have a week off to step back and view the developing Mid-Suburban League South Division race in the comfort of a 4-0 record.

Bob Ferguson's man-eaters will visit non-league foe Elmwood Park Saturday afternoon while Prospect (2-1) will host Elk Grove (1-2) and newly revived Rolling Meadows (1-3) will challenge Forest View (2-2) at the Falcons home tonight.

The final league game of the week will take place Saturday when Conant (0-3) will try to turn their season around at hometown rival Moffman Estates (2-2).

The Prospect Knights can't afford the luxury of another league loss and they have the tough task of facing a team that is coming off a game with one of the best teams in the city.

Gordon Tech treated Don Schnake's Elk Grove Grenadiers to a taste of Catholic League football, topping the Green and Gold 21-7 at Hanson Stadium.

"I saw Elk Grove play Gordon Tech and I was very impressed," said Prospect coach Dave Keefe. "I didn't think they got the breaks from the officials.

"They have good size and awfully good quickness. I know for certain that they are a better team than their record shows."

Elk Grove quarterback Dave Champa has been throwing more lately and that has released the pressure from running backs Tim Roberts and Shawn Murphy. The new offensive diversity has kept rival defenders on their shoetips and the Grens could use the Prospect game to put it all together.

"We've had a good week of practice," said Schnake. "I thought we looked OK against Gordon Tech, but Prospect is going to be just as tough for us."

The Knights' Dave Thoma is coming off the best game of football he has ever played. Against Hoffman Estates the 5-11 senior running back chugged for 200-plus yards and scored six touchdowns, four of which counted. He is averaging a nifty 7.2 yards each time he takes a handoff from quarterback Tim Kubicki.

If the Knights want to add significance to their Oct. 18 clash with Schaumburg they can't afford to let down against the Grens. Elk Grove has the advantage of catching Prospect when they may be looking slightly ahead.

Schaumburg's vacation from conference play will be a tuneup with the Elmwood Park Tigers. The O'Hare Suburban Conference members are 2-3 overall and have wins over lightweights Luther North and Maine North.

"We scouted the Schaumburg-Rolling Meadows game," said Tiger coach Gary Stearns, "and needless to say we were impressed with Schaumburg's quickness. Speed is the name of just about any game and if you have it you can usually overcome a lot of other mistakes."

Palatine to visit Fremd

North feature at Buffalo Grove

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

Buffalo Grove haed coach Grant Blaney is speaking:

"You have different kinds of weeks preparing for ballgames. There are slow weeks, fast weeks, big weeks, little weeks.

"This has been Hersey week and there's not another one to compare with it."

Blaney's Bison will bring their 2-0 North Division record to their home field Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. to meet the equally unbeaten Hersey Huskies in yet another Game of the Week for Joe Gliwa's defending champions.

"How many times can we play the Game of the Week?" Gliwa asked. "First we thought Viator was the big game of the year. Then it was Prospect. Then Arlington.

"Every game from here on out is big."

In other North Division confrontations taking place tonight Arlington (0-2) will be at Wheeling (0-2) and Palatine (1-1) will buck the cross-town traffic to battle Fremd (1-1).

Both Friday games will begin at approximately 8 p.m.

But the headliner will come on Saturday afternoon on a 100-yard plot of ground just off Dundee Road in Buffalo Grove.

John MacIsaac

Hersey and the Bison mixed it up last year in one of the more memorable games in area history. Buffalo Grove, a new school just starting a rich football tradition, lost 14-13 to the Huskies. It was Buffalo Grove's only loss of the year.

"Hersey's oloked unstoppable so far," Blaney said of the confrontation that will pick a clear and present favorite in the toss-up North Division. "If that is the case, we're fully aware of the fact we'll have to play error-free football."

Buffalo Grove is big and rangy with an explosive offense that includes two of the top scorers in the league. Running back Ben Orcutt has cooled off a little since scoring eight touchdowns in Buffalo Grove's first two games, but he still paces the circuit in point production with 63. John MacIsaac has scored five touchdowns from his fullback slot.

Orcutt's reduced point production doesn't sooth the worries of Gliwa, though.

"It seems like Orcutt has slowed down a little," he said. "But who knows? He might have his best game of the year against us.

"With MacIsaac, (quarterback Dave) Zimmer and (receiver George) Bastable they have a very diversified attack."

Hersey has some offensive punch of their own. Quarterback Scott Topczewski has fired five touchdown passes and ranks fourth in the league passing race. He'll work with a powerhouse backfield of Matt Zakula (506 yards in 95 carries), Wally Hommerding and Tony Becker.

Hommerding, a 6-0, 170-pound halfback has scored five touchdowns and caught 14 passes for 241 yards and two touchdowns.

The fight for defensive rights is summed up by Gliwa in a statement that could just have easily been made by Blaney.

Matt Zakula

"I look at their team and see a lot of big bodies. They'll be a very physical teams to contend with."

At Wheeling Friday night Arlington will be trying to get their act together after a pair of back to back losses that effectively eliminated them from the North Division title picture.

"We're probably out of the conference race," said Arlington head coach Chuck Haines. "Our incentive now is to become the sixth team in Arlington history to win seven ball games in one season."

Wheeling's incentive will be to snap the jinx the Cardinals' have had on their offense for the last four years. It has been 1971 since the Wildcats scored a touchdown against the Arlington defenses and head coach GerryClinnin will have his first chance to break a three game shutout hex the Cardinals have on the Wildcats.

Wheeling's best offensive weapon is quarterback Glenn Barry who has connected on 32 passes for 509 yards and two touchdowns.

On defense Clinnin sees Arlington's quarterback Matt Shaughnessy (38 completions for 605 yards and six touchdowns) as the man to control.

"He's been impressive even in defeat the last couple weeks," Clinnen observed. "We're toying with the idea of giving our defensive secondary 15-foot high fiber glass shields to tote around."

The Palatine-Fremd civil war goes back to 1967 and the Vikes hold a slim 4-3 edge. The Pirates have a single league loss and are definite pretenders to Hersey's throne.

Palatine's running back Jim Popp, who is miles ahead in the rushing race with 768 yards in 124 carries. He needs just 40 yards to break the Palatine single season rushing mark of 808 set by Andy Merutka in 1960.

Viking head coach Joe Samojedny, whose team came within a few mistakes of upsetting Buffalo Grove, saw the Arlington-Palatine game last week and came away amazed at the way the Pirates manhandled the Cardinals.

Samojedny will count heavily on middle guard Dave Ragains and linebacker Rick Crandall to stop Popp and the rest of the Palatine offensive machinery.

WWMM to air two weekend football games

WWMM-FM (92.7) will cover two important Mid-Suburban League football games this weekend.

Bob Houghton of WM radio and Bob Frisk of the Herald will be at the microphones tonight at Fremd High School for the Vikings' meeting with Palatine. Air time is 8 p.m.

Houghton and Frisk will call the action Saturday afternoon at Buffalo Grove High School as the Bison entertain the Hersey Huskies. Air time is 2 p.m.

Conference tennis meet opens today

There are not likely to be too many surprises this weekend when the Mid-Suburban Conference tennis teams gather at Arlington and Rolling Meadows beginning today at noon to determine the best girls tennis team.

As Mary Lou Hundt, the coach of unbeaten Arlington, says, "We have an exceptionally strong team and we've lost only four of a possible 96 points this year."

Arlington has, indeed, been impressive. The Cardinals lost two of their four points to Hersey in the last dual meet of the season, a victim of some lineup changes by Husky head coach Donna Pfaender, but they peeled off 12 straight dual meet victories and seemed poised to defend their league championship.

"We have good strength at all the positions," Hundt said, "although there are some girls around the league who have given us a good fight."

Arlington's powerful lineup will include junior Leslie Grabitz at No. 1 singles, junior JoAnn Skovanek at No. 2 singles and junior Carrie Sears at No. 3 singles.

Sears and Skovanek are both unbeaten this year while Grabitz lost a lone match to Buffalo Grove's super freshman Lisa Smart.

The Cardinals' No. 1 doubles team of seniors Mary Flynn and Maureen Coleman are also unstopped this year with nearly half their victories being perfect 6-0, 6-0 whitewashes.

Arlington's other double combos will be senior Mary Condon and sophomore Janet Haberkorn at No. 2, sophomore Laura Sanders and freshman Kris Richey at No. 3 and sophomore Kim Broderick and junior Marianne Ohrstrom at No. 4

Fremd, Prospect and Hersey have the strongest chances of challenging the Cardinals for the team title.

The singles and doubles will both start today at 12 noon. Singles will play at Arlington and doubles at Rolling Meadows.

The final two rounds and the championships in both doubles and singles will begin at Arlington Saturday at 9 a.m.

LESLIE GRABITZ will lead her Arlington teammates into the Mid-Suburban Conference meet today and Saturday as the Cardinals attempt to continue their domination of the league. Grabitz and the other singles players will compete starting today at 12 noon at Arlington with the doubles set to kickoff at the same time at Rolling Meadows.

COACHES CAN BE confusing.

Some in that fraternity never seem to learn.

"I can't understand why the newspapers are so concerned about who's going to start for us at quarterback," said University of Illinois football coach Bob Blackman Saturday.

"Starting isn't a big deal anymore like the papers try to make it. The only ones who really start today are the kicking teams."

Come on, Bob. Is it true you've been coaching for 26 years? Quarterback is the position EVERYONE talks about, and it is the responsibility of the press to ask those questions.

Starting is a big deal to the boys involved no matter what they say to reporters, or what you say. There's always a confidence factor that can rub off on an entire team. Anyway, who doesn't want to be No. 1?

I wonder if Blackman thinks the public is clamoring to know who's going to start at offensive left tackle for Illinois this weekend?

The public will always want to know about the quarterback, and consequently it is the job of the reporter to seek an answer to that question. Any coach should understand that and respect the responsibilities of the press.

Then there was Jack Pardee talking about Chicago reporters after the Bears' loss in Minnesota:

"I think you dwell too much on the negativism of things going on here," the head man said. "I never saw anything in the paper here last week about Minnesota. Are we going to see the same thing with Detroit this week?"

The Bears' boss ignores the fact Bobby Douglass, one of the most controversial athletes in Chicago sports history, was sent packing last week. That was THE STORY, not the way Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton picks defenses apart.

Frankly, people in Chicago, or any city, are interested in what's happening on a daily basis to THEIR TEAM, not the opponent. The Bears have enough new faces — and problems — to fill the pages each week.

Bears' fans are interested in how Waymond Bryant is progressing as a linebacker, not how the Vikings' Wally Hilgenberg feels.

I have been impressed with Pardee as a strong man, a man of action, but I hope he didn't learn his techniques with the press from his former boss, George Allen, in Washington.

The idea of unbiased reporters searching Joe Friday-like for "Just the facts, ma'am" always has been anathema to Allen. He expects writers to act like cheerleading auxiliaries to the club, constantly reminding them that "things get better for everyone when we win." He does not recognize objectivity: you are either for his team or against it.

In Los Angeles, when he guided the Rams, Allen once gave game balls to half a dozen writers whom he felt had cooperated in their stories to the extent of helping the Rams win a game. He even lectured a group of football writers for their lack of enthusiasm, ending with a call for three hip-hip-hooray cheers for the Rams, an absurd request that met with half-hearted response at best.

When Washington sportswriter Steve Guback blamed a late appearance at a practice one day on problems with his automobile, Allen told him in total seriousness, "If it'll help us win, Steve, we'll get you a new car."

THE DAYS AND NIGHTS of American football fans being "replayed to death" may be coming to an end.

Sports executives of the three major commercial networks are cutting down on gimmickry this season to concentrate on game coverage, according to an interesting article in TV Guide magazine.

"Indeed, there's been such a build-up of show-business gimmickry that suddenly technology, not the game, has taken on some of the mythic stature of Mickey Mouse at Disneyland. The impression given is that football was designed to show off television — rather than the other way around," writes author William Barry Furlong.

Carl Lindemann Jr., head of NBC Sports, said: "I argue that the game is the most important thing." Bob Wussler, head of CBS Sports, concurs to a degree: I think the game is the thing. But I don't think the game is the thing to the point where nothing else matters," he said.

Scotty Connal, executive producer of NBC Sports, said a football game can be overproduced. "You give me one camera and a great football game and you won't remember how much equipment I had," he said.

This season the networks are using new approaches. ABC has gathered a library of film clips of outstanding performances by a player that can be used on a moment's notice. It has also reorganized and reduced its replay crew.

"America is being replayed to death," said Don Ohlmeyer, the Glenbrook North High School grad who now produces the network's Monday Night Football.

DID YOU CATCH that performance by Barrington High School junior Bryan Amis Saturday against North Chicago?

Amis, a 5-foot-11, 177-pounder, carried the ball 20 times for 182 yards (nice but nothing extraordinary), caught three passes for 42 yards (nice but nothing special) and scored EIGHT touchdowns (yes, that's very, very, very special).

Amis only played three quarters in Barrington's 70-7 win over North Chicago but touched the football 23 times and scored eight times. He now has 15 touchdowns for the season.

PEPPER RODGERS, now the coach at Georgia Tech, was the head man at the University of Kansas when Bobby Douglass was an All-Big Eight quarterback.

At the time, Rodgers, who worked with Douglass for three years, made a statement that has since been gathering dust in my files. He said this in 1969, despite Douglass' handsome college credentials. It is appropriate to repeat Rodgers' quote today.

"Bobby Douglass will never make a good pro quarterback."

Prospect, Elk Grove meet tonight; Saxons to travel

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

The Schaumburg Saxons will have a week off to step back and view the developing Mid-Suburban League South Division race in the comfort of a 4-0 record.

Bob Ferguson's man-eaters will visit non-league foe Elmwood Park Saturday afternoon while Prospect (2-1) will host Elk Grove (1-2) and newly revived Rolling Meadows (1-3) will challenge Forest View (2-2) at the Falcons home tonight.

The final league game of the week will take place Saturday when Conant (0-3) will try to turn their season around at hometown rival Moffman Estates (2-2).

The Prospect Knights can't afford the luxury of another league loss and they have the tough task of facing a team that is coming off a game with one of the best teams in the city.

Gordon Tech treated Don Schnake's Elk Grove Grenadiers to a taste of Catholic League football, topping the Green and Gold 21-7 at Hanson Stadium.

"I saw Elk Grove play Gordon Tech and I was very impressed," said Prospect coach Dave Keefe. "I didn't think they got the breaks from the officials.

"They have good size and awfully good quickness. I know for certain that they are a better team than their record shows."

Elk Grove quarterback Dave Champa has been throwing more lately and that has released the pressure from running backs Tim Roberts and Shawn Murphy. The new offensive diversity has kept rival defenders on their shoetips and the Grens could use the Prospect game to put it all together.

"We've had a good week of practice," said Schnake. "I thought we looked OK against Gordon Tech, but Prospect is going to be just as tough for us."

The Knights' Dave Thoma is coming off the best game of football he has ever played. Against Hoffman Estates the 5-11 senior running back chugged for 200-plus yards and scored six touchdowns, four of which counted. He is averaging a nifty 7.2 yards each time he takes a handoff from quarterback Tim Kubicki.

If the Knights want to add significance to their Oct. 18 clash with Schaumburg they can't afford to let down against the Grens. Elk Grove has the advantage of catching Prospect when they may be looking slightly ahead.

Schaumburg's vacation from conference play will be a tuneup with the Elmwood Park Tigers. The O'Hare Suburban Conference members are 2-3 overall and have wins over lightweights Luther North and Maine North.

"We scouted the Schaumburg-Rolling Meadows game," said Tiger coach Gary Stearns, "and needless to say we were impressed with Schaumburg's quickness. Speed is the name of just about any game and if you have it you can usually overcome a lot of other mistakes."

Palatine to visit Fremd

North feature at Buffalo Grove

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

Buffalo Grove haed coach Grant Blaney is speaking:

"You have different kinds of weeks preparing for ballgames. There are slow weeks, fast weeks, big weeks, little weeks.

"This has been Hersey week and there's not another one to compare with it."

Blaney's Bison will bring their 2-0 North Division record to their home field Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. to meet the equally unbeaten Hersey Huskies in yet another Game of the Week for Joe Gliwa's defending champions.

"How many times can we play the Game of the Week?" Gliwa asked. "First we thought Viator was the big game of the year. Then it was Prospect. Then Arlington.

"Every game from here on out is big."

In other North Division confrontations taking place tonight Arlington (0-2) will be at Wheeling (0-2) and Palatine (1-1) will buck the cross-town traffic to battle Fremd (1-1).

Both Friday games will begin at approximately 8 p.m.

But the headliner will come on Saturday afternoon on a 100-yard plot of ground just off Dundee Road in Buffalo Grove.

John MacIsaac

Hersey and the Bison mixed it up last year in one of the more memorable games in area history. Buffalo Grove, a new school just starting a rich football tradition, lost 14-13 to the Huskies. It was Buffalo Grove's only loss of the year.

"Hersey's oloked unstoppable so far," Blaney said of the confrontation that will pick a clear and present favorite in the toss-up North Division. "If that is the case, we're fully aware of the fact we'll have to play error-free football."

Buffalo Grove is big and rangy with an explosive offense that includes two of the top scorers in the league. Running back Ben Orcutt has cooled off a little since scoring eight touchdowns in Buffalo Grove's first two games, but he still paces the circuit in point production with 63. John MacIsaac has scored five touchdowns from his fullback slot.

Orcutt's reduced point production doesn't sooth the worries of Gliwa, though.

"It seems like Orcutt has slowed down a little," he said. "But who knows? He might have his best game of the year against us.

"With MacIsaac, (quarterback Dave) Zimmer and (receiver George) Bastable they have a very diversified attack."

Hersey has some offensive punch of their own. Quarterback Scott Topczewski has fired five touchdown passes and ranks fourth in the league passing race. He'll work with a powerhouse backfield of Matt Zakula (506 yards in 95 carries), Wally Hommerding and Tony Becker.

Hommerding, a 6-0, 170-pound halfback has scored five touchdowns and caught 14 passes for 241 yards and two touchdowns.

The fight for defensive rights is summed up by Gliwa in a statement that could just have easily been made by Blaney.

Matt Zakula

"I look at their team and see a lot of big bodies. They'll be a very physical teams to contend with."

At Wheeling Friday night Arlington will be trying to get their act together after a pair of back to back losses that effectively eliminated them from the North Division title picture.

"We're probably out of the conference race," said Arlington head coach Chuck Haines. "Our incentive now is to become the sixth team in Arlington history to win seven ball games in one season."

Wheeling's incentive will be to snap the jinx the Cardinals' have had on their offense for the last four years. It has been 1971 since the Wildcats scored a touchdown against the Arlington defenses and head coach GerryClinnin will have his first chance to break a three game shutout hex the Cardinals have on the Wildcats.

Wheeling's best offensive weapon is quarterback Glenn Barry who has connected on 32 passes for 509 yards and two touchdowns.

On defense Clinnin sees Arlington's quarterback Matt Shaughnessy (38 completions for 605 yards and six touchdowns) as the man to control.

"He's been impressive even in defeat the last couple weeks," Clinnen observed. "We're toying with the idea of giving our defensive secondary 15-foot high fiber glass shields to tote around."

The Palatine-Fremd civil war goes back to 1967 and the Vikes hold a slim 4-3 edge. The Pirates have a single league loss and are definite pretenders to Hersey's throne.

Palatine's running back Jim Popp, who is miles ahead in the rushing race with 768 yards in 124 carries. He needs just 40 yards to break the Palatine single season rushing mark of 808 set by Andy Merutka in 1960.

Viking head coach Joe Samojedny, whose team came within a few mistakes of upsetting Buffalo Grove, saw the Arlington-Palatine game last week and came away amazed at the way the Pirates manhandled the Cardinals.

Samojedny will count heavily on middle guard Dave Ragains and linebacker Rick Crandall to stop Popp and the rest of the Palatine offensive machinery.

WWMM to air two weekend football games

WWMM-FM (92.7) will cover two important Mid-Suburban League football games this weekend.

Bob Houghton of WM radio and Bob Frisk of the Herald will be at the microphones tonight at Fremd High School for the Vikings' meeting with Palatine. Air time is 8 p.m.

Houghton and Frisk will call the action Saturday afternoon at Buffalo Grove High School as the Bison entertain the Hersey Huskies. Air time is 2 p.m.

Sports world

CARL YASTRZEMSKI, Boston's great slugging outfielder, leads the Red Sox into Saturday's World Series opener against Cincinnati. The game is being played in Boston.

Gullett: Bring on the wall

Cincinnati, Red Sox have date in Fenway

Pete Rose screamed, "Here we come, Red Sox!" Don Gullett said it makes no difference whether there's a "Green Monster" or no monster. And Darrell Johnson made a surprise pitching choice for Sunday's second World Series game.

All that, while preparations for Saturday's Cincinnati at Boston opener continued Thursday with both teams working out in their home parks.

At Riverfront Stadium, Cincinnati Reds' third baseman Rose, who's spent most of his career in the outfield, said Boston Red Sox hitters will have more trouble figuring out Gullett than the Reds should encounter solving Boston's fabled leftfield wall.

"Those guys ain't never seen the likes of Gullett," said Rose. And Gullett insisted he'll change nothing in his pitching, "Green Monster" or not.

"I'm not concerned about the ballpark," said the hard throwing lefty. "I'll pitch the same way there that I pitch here. I can't change my style of pitching for just one game.

"We've got some parks in the National League — Montreal and Chicago — where the wind is supposed to be a factor, but I've always pitched the same there," said Gullett. "I'm not studying the ballpark. I'm studying the hitters.

Red Sox manager Johnson announced that lefty Bill Lee, who hasn't started since Sept. 19 or won since Aug. 24, will take the mound for Boston on Sunday. Lee was picked over righthander Rick Wise who has been pushed back to next Tuesday's third game in Cincinnati.

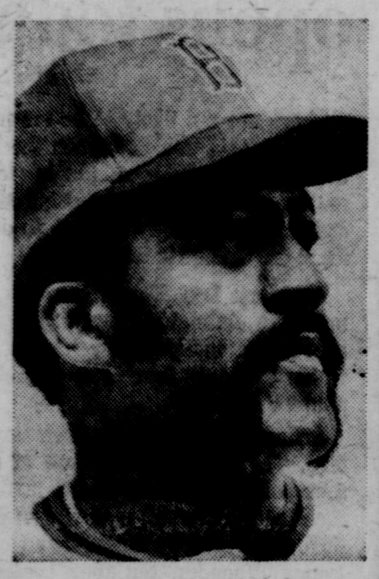
"The reason we are pitching Lee on Sunday is that he's a ground ball pitcher and ground ball pitchers have trouble on Astroturf," said Johnson. Boston's Fenway Park has natural turf. Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium is dressed entirely with artificial turf.

Selection of Lee was not hastily made. Johnson and his coaches spent two hours mulling over their choice. "Johnson's a lefthander and Cincinnati has had more trouble with lefthanders than righthanders," said Johnson. "Also, he holds people on base well."

Las Vegas oddsmakers have installed the Reds as 8-5 favorites to capture the World Series. But that does not bother the Red Sox who were only 10-1 choices for the American League East title.

"We haven't been picked to win all year," said Red Sox pitcher Wise, "but all the other teams are home watching us."

Boston super scout Frank Malzone, who graded Cincinnati during the regular season, said, "I think it's going to go six or seven games, no matter who wins. I can't see one club being that much better than the other."



LUIS TIANT was a 'washed up pitcher' until Darrell Johnson decided that wasn't true and made Tiant a Boston Red Sox starter. Now, 'El Tiante' is Sparky Anderson's problem. He'll start in Saturday's World Series opener against Anderson's Cincinnati Reds. Anderson contends that Tiant's delivery is so unique that he actually balks.

Wiffle football dead again?

Owners of the Memphis Grizzlies and San Antonio Wings met Thursday over what they described as a crisis financial situation which could signal the end of the "second" World Football League.

With his circuit again plagued by low attendance, WFL Commissioner Chris Hemmeter reportedly has said failure of any two teams could kill the league which never regained sufficient credibility after 1974's enormous bust.

The WFL Chicago Winds were folded late this past summer after reportedly failing to follow league financial guidelines. Now, players from San Antonio, Philadelphia, Charlotte and Jacksonville apparently are being asked to take pay cuts in order to meet outstanding bills.

Bullets beat Bulls, 100-92

A ballclub hardly identifiable with the Chicago Bulls, which bore their name nevertheless, was a 100-92 loser Thursday night in National Basketball Association exhibition action against the Washington Bullets.

Centers Tom Boerwinkle and Nate Thurmond plus forward John Block and guard Jerry Sloan sat out for Chicago. All are nursing injuries.

Rookie Cliff Pondexter, himself sidelined all last season with leg injuries, paced Chicago with 16 points and Clem Haskins had 17 for Washington.

Manny Fernandez in drug trouble?

Miami Dolphins' defensive tackle Manny Fernandez has an Oct. 22 court date in Vero Beach, Fla., to answer some questions about a $1 million drug raid made there in August.

Police said Fernandez' name appears in an address book found aboard a 40-foot yacht which police raided on Aug. 24, discovering $1 million in marijuana.

Hanssen wins; 3 MSL teams still unbeaten

by ART MUGALIAN
Cross country editor

Hersey's Craig Hanssen became the Mid-Suburban League's first late-night performer Thursday when he entered the chute at Palatine Hills with a victory in the Huskies' dual meet against Palatine.

Hanssen finished 14 minutes and 44 seconds after the 2.75-mile cross country race began — in the final moments of daylight. At the end, the Hersey senior was almost literally groping for the final few yards.

"We could have used lights out there," said Palatine sophomore Chuck Elliott, who was second.

"It was hard to see," said the Pirates' third man, junior Tony Vargas. "We were running all around looking for the cones."

Coach Joe Johnson's Palatine squad survived the visibility problems, including Hanssen's dark victory, to post a 20-43 team win, the Pirates' fourth against one league loss.

The varsity race got off to a late start owing partly to the length of three preliminary races and some confusion at the beginning when Hersey's freshmen took the long way around during warmup.

Fremd, Prospect and Hoffman Estates all maintained unbeaten dual-meet marks in separate meets Thursday, and Arlington and Forest View each improved their records to 3-2 with victories. Rolling Meadows captured a non-league victory over Cary-Grove.

Prospect's 21-34 win over Conant and Hoffman's 19-44 victory against Elk Grove set up next Tuesday's meeting between the undefeated Knights and Hawks. The Hoffman Hawks will go into the meet at Prospect with an undefeated league slate at all three levels.

Prospect got excellent efforts from Bill Hrbek and Jack Pittman, who finished 1-2 in 14:03 and 14:05 against Conant. Only five runners have ever broken 14:00 on the Knights' course, a flat 2.75-mile layout.

Coant's Dan Cummings and Bill Baird ran third and fourth, followed by Prospect's Matt Lawson (14:14), Mark Smith (14:36) and Dave Hayes (14.51).

Hoffman put eight harriers in the top 10 against Elk Grove as Kevin Rooney circuited the Hawk course in 16:02 for the win. Elk Grove's Joe Cullen was second in 16:03, followed by Sam Cox (16:07), Bill Joyce, Dave Porzel, Charlie Squires, Ken Krueger, Steve Lind, and Dave Biddolph, all of Hoffman. The Hawks had a 33-second spread between one and seven.

Fremd won their fifth meet 18-45, as sophomore Ben Sanchez of Wheeling was the only harrier to break into the Vikings' top eight. Juniors John Filosa (15:22) and Danny Tischler (15:23) ran 1-2 at Wheeling, with Sanchez third (15:29).

Buffalo Grove sophomore sensation Joe Schmidt set a course record of 15:29 at Kemper Insurance, but Arlington tripped the Bison 25-36. Joe Schields, another Grove soph, was second (15:44), but the Cards took the next seven places — led by Mike Fischer, John Kelley and Greg Beuder.

Forest View's Darryl Robinson won his fifth MSL meet in a row as the Falcons beat Schaumburg 18-44. Robinson's time was 14:04 at Forest View, 20 seconds ahead of mate Steve Schellenberger and 31 seconds in front of Randy Lewis, Schaumburg's first runner.

Tom Choice ran 14:20 for first place as the Mustangs beat Cary-Grove 19-38 at Rolling Meadows. Brian Germano was third, followed by Dave Gish, Dave Campbell, and Bill Bradley.

CARL YASTRZEMSKI, Boston's great slugging outfielder, leads the Red Sox into Saturday's World Series opener against Cincinnati. The game is being played in Boston.

Gullett: Bring on the wall

Cincinnati, Red Sox have date in Fenway

Pete Rose screamed, "Here we come, Red Sox!" Don Gullett said it makes no difference whether there's a "Green Monster" or no monster. And Darrell Johnson made a surprise pitching choice for Sunday's second World Series game.

All that, while preparations for Saturday's Cincinnati at Boston opener continued Thursday with both teams working out in their home parks.

At Riverfront Stadium, Cincinnati Reds' third baseman Rose, who's spent most of his career in the outfield, said Boston Red Sox hitters will have more trouble figuring out Gullett than the Reds should encounter solving Boston's fabled leftfield wall.

"Those guys ain't never seen the likes of Gullett," said Rose. And Gullett insisted he'll change nothing in his pitching, "Green Monster" or not.

"I'm not concerned about the ballpark," said the hard throwing lefty. "I'll pitch the same way there that I pitch here. I can't change my style of pitching for just one game.

"We've got some parks in the National League — Montreal and Chicago — where the wind is supposed to be a factor, but I've always pitched the same there," said Gullett. "I'm not studying the ballpark. I'm studying the hitters.

Red Sox manager Johnson announced that lefty Bill Lee, who hasn't started since Sept. 19 or won since Aug. 24, will take the mound for Boston on Sunday. Lee was picked over righthander Rick Wise who has been pushed back to next Tuesday's third game in Cincinnati.

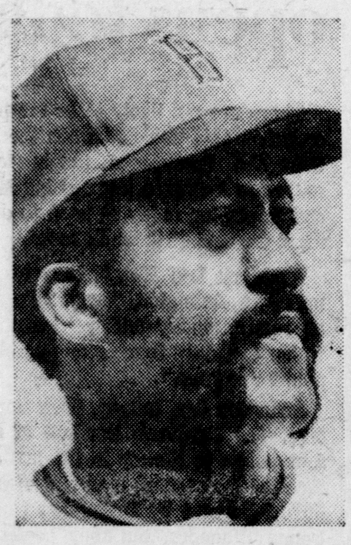
"The reason we are pitching Lee on Sunday is that he's a ground ball pitcher and ground ball pitchers have trouble on Astroturf," said Johnson. Boston's Fenway Park has natural turf. Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium is dressed entirely with artificial turf.

Selection of Lee was not hastily made. Johnson and his coaches spent two hours mulling over their choice. "Johnson's a lefthander and Cincinnati has had more trouble with lefthanders than righthanders," said Johnson. "Also, he holds people on base well."

Las Vegas oddsmakers have installed the Reds as 8-5 favorites to capture the World Series. But that does not bother the Red Sox who were only 10-1 choices for the American League East title.

"We haven't been picked to win all year," said Red Sox pitcher Wise, "but all the other teams are home watching us."

Boston super scout Frank Malzone, who graded Cincinnati during the regular season, said, "I think it's going to go six or seven games, no matter who wins. I can't see one club being that much better than the other."



LUIS TIANT was a 'washed up pitcher' until Darrell Johnson decided that wasn't true and made Tiant a Boston Red Sox starter. Now, 'El Tiante' is Sparky Anderson's problem. He'll start in Saturday's World Series opener against Anderson's Cincinnati Reds. Anderson contends that Tiant's delivery is so unique that he actually balks.

Wiffle football dead again?

Owners of the Memphis Grizzlies and San Antonio Wings met Thursday over what they described as a crisis financial situation which could signal the end of the "second" World Football League.

With his circuit again plagued by low attendance, WFL Commissioner Chris Hemmeter reportedly has said failure of any two teams could kill the league which never regained sufficient credibility after 1974's enormous bust.

The WFL Chicago Winds were folded late this past summer after reportedly failing to follow league financial guidelines. Now, players from San Antonio, Philadelphia, Charlotte and Jacksonville apparently are being asked to take pay cuts in order to meet outstanding bills.

Bullets beat Bulls, 100-92

A ballclub hardly identifiable with the Chicago Bulls, which bore their name nevertheless, was a 100-92 loser Thursday night in National Basketball Association exhibition action against the Washington Bullets.

Centers Tom Boerwinkle and Nate Thurmond plus forward John Block and guard Jerry Sloan sat out for Chicago. All are nursing injuries.

Rookie Cliff Pondexter, himself sidelined all last season with leg injuries, paced Chicago with 16 points and Clem Haskins had 17 for Washington.

Manny Fernandez in drug trouble?

Miami Dolphins' defensive tackle Manny Fernandez has an Oct. 22 court date in Vero Beach, Fla., to answer some questions about a $1 million drug raid made there in August.

Police said Fernandez' name appears in an address book found aboard a 40-foot yacht which police raided on Aug. 24, discovering $1 million in marijuana.

Hanssen wins; 3 MSL teams still unbeaten

by ART MUGALIAN
Cross country editor

Hersey's Craig Hanssen became the Mid-Suburban League's first late-night performer Thursday when he entered the chute at Palatine Hills with a victory in the Huskies' dual meet against Palatine.

Hanssen finished 14 minutes and 44 seconds after the 2.75-mile cross country race began — in the final moments of daylight. At the end, the Hersey senior was almost literally groping for the final few yards.

"We could have used lights out there," said Palatine sophomore Chuck Elliott, who was second.

"It was hard to see," said the Pirates' third man, junior Tony Vargas. "We were running all around looking for the cones."

Coach Joe Johnson's Palatine squad survived the visibility problems, including Hanssen's dark victory, to post a 20-43 team win, the Pirates' fourth against one league loss.

The varsity race got off to a late start owing partly to the length of three preliminary races and some confusion at the beginning when Hersey's freshmen took the long way around during warmup.

Fremd, Prospect and Hoffman Estates all maintained unbeaten dual-meet marks in separate meets Thursday, and Arlington and Forest View each improved their records to 3-2 with victories. Rolling Meadows captured a non-league victory over Cary-Grove.

Prospect's 21-34 win over Conant and Hoffman's 19-44 victory against Elk Grove set up next Tuesday's meeting between the undefeated Knights and Hawks. The Hoffman Hawks will go into the meet at Prospect with an undefeated league slate at all three levels.

Prospect got excellent efforts from Bill Hrbek and Jack Pittman, who finished 1-2 in 14:03 and 14:05 against Conant. Only five runners have ever broken 14:00 on the Knights' course, a flat 2.75-mile layout.

Coant's Dan Cummings and Bill Baird ran third and fourth, followed by Prospect's Matt Lawson (14:14), Mark Smith (14:36) and Dave Hayes (14.51).

Hoffman put eight harriers in the top 10 against Elk Grove as Kevin Rooney circuited the Hawk course in 16:02 for the win. Elk Grove's Joe Cullen was second in 16:03, followed by Sam Cox (16:07), Bill Joyce, Dave Porzel, Charlie Squires, Ken Krueger, Steve Lind, and Dave Biddolph, all of Hoffman. The Hawks had a 33-second spread between one and seven.

Fremd won their fifth meet 18-45, as sophomore Ben Sanchez of Wheeling was the only harrier to break into the Vikings' top eight. Juniors John Filosa (15:22) and Danny Tischler (15:23) ran 1-2 at Wheeling, with Sanchez third (15:29).

Buffalo Grove sophomore sensation Joe Schmidt set a course record of 15:29 at Kemper Insurance, but Arlington tripped the Bison 25-36. Joe Schields, another Grove soph, was second (15:44), but the Cards took the next seven places — led by Mike Fischer, John Kelley and Greg Beuder.

Forest View's Darryl Robinson won his fifth MSL meet in a row as the Falcons beat Schaumburg 18-44. Robinson's time was 14:04 at Forest View, 20 seconds ahead of mate Steve Schellenberger and 31 seconds in front of Randy Lewis, Schaumburg's first runner.

Tom Choice ran 14:20 for first place as the Mustangs beat Cary-Grove 19-38 at Rolling Meadows. Brian Germano was third, followed by Dave Gish, Dave Campbell, and Bill Bradley.

Is that 'one good game' ahead tonight for Lions?

by MIKE KLEIN

After consecutive shutout victories over Notre Dame and Holy Cross, plus the emergence of a running back who actually moves forward, you might think Jim Lyne would look toward the clouds and proclaim:

"Hey, You up there, look what we've got down here!"

But not so, folks.

True, St. Viator has won 21-0 and 13-0 in the Lions' last two East Suburban Catholic Outings. And John Gillen did rush for 102 yards at Holy Cross, the best effort by any Viator running back this season.

That deesn't diminish the fact, however, that Lyne is still waiting for "one good football game," hopefully tonight when St. Viator hosts Carmel for Homecoming. It's an 8:00 kickoff in Rolling Meadows stadium.

"If we don't play a good football game Friday, we're never going to play one," Lyne said. "We've got to get fired up, block and tackle, executive our plays, not get the penalties and just be real physical."

Viator romped over Carmel, 54-0, last season. After replacing Bobby Walsh, current first string quarterback Jim Thompson led Viator to four last period touchdowns.

Ability should again be enough to carry Viator over Carmel which has been outscored 105-40, lost four of five games and won nothing in two ESCC starts. St. Patrick beat the Corsairs, 18-0, last weekend.

Defensive end Scott Zettek and tight end Mike Maude might not play, due to injuries. Each is certainly available, Lyne said, and Maude will handle punt chores. But he'd rather they participated in very little combat.

Out for sure is wide receiver Jim Kane, still nursing pulled leg muscles. Running back Mark Bonucchi is back after missing two games.

The Lions are 3-2 overall and 2-1 in ESCC games. They're tied for second with St. Patrick which tonight will test St. Francis DeSales' 2-0 record.

With some luck elsewhere and good football, Viator could hold at least a portion of first place after next weekend. The Lions play at St. Patrick next Saturday.

One disturbing statistic last Sunday afternoon found Holy Cross exceeding the Lions in first downs, 12-11, despite Viator's greater yardage, 238-108. Viator needed a goal-line stand to once halt Holy Cross.

"Defense doesn't stop with shutouts or goal-line stands," said Lyne who admits to frustration over this season. "Defense means you give them three downs and then get the ball back."

Lyne also said. "I'm not giving up on these guys. It's not in my nature."

Hoffman, Conant to clash Saturday

Schaumburg has speed to spare. A quartet of backfield members has contributed to a high octane offensive show.

Quarterback Russ Zonca, halfback Scott Mielke and tailback Steve Knudson are all among the leaders in conference scoring and the trio, plus fullback Mark Godinez, are all among the top rushers.

The Saxons have outscored their opponents 166-13, are ranked second in the entire Chicago area and if they don't forget Elmwood Park in favor of contemplating Prospect the Tigers will be in for a long afternoon.

Rolling Meadows jumped into the win column with a 21-6 decision of Conant last Friday.

"We needed that win badly to restore our confidence," said coach Angie Barro.

The confidence will need to be equally restored when the Mustangs travel to Forest View.

"Both teams are in the same boat," said Forest View coach Fred Lussow. ''I don't see anybody catching Schaumburg so both teams are playing for pride."

The pride of the Falcons has been quarterback Jim Petran and running back Joe Difatta.

Rolling Meadows will counter an offense with quarterback Ken Brietbeil and running back Ken Barro, who set the Mustang single game rushing mark of 190 yards against Conant last week.

Conant and Hoffman Estates will engage in the latest segment of a rivalry that could become as intense as any in the area.

Hoffman coach Bill Gourley summed up the Battle of Hoffman Estates.

"I don't care if one team is 0-10 and the other 10-0. It's just like the Army-Navy game.

"We worry about them more than any other team just because of the rivalry."

"The rivalry would be more intense if we were winning," said Conant coach John Ayres. "But the kids are really excited about this game. We thought we had a chance of beating Meadows but the kids have come back from that tough loss and worked just as hard."

As has been the case for almost two decades, WMAQ Radio (AM-670) will be the Chicago outlet for the 1975 World Series. Companion coverage will be heard on WNIS (FM 101) when the series begins Saturday.

All games will be heard on WMAQ with the exception of the night game next Wednesday, when WMAQ will carry the Chicago Blackhawks' hockey game. All games without exception will be carried on WNIS.

New prep grid paper

A new prep football paper, highlighting the entire Chicagoland area, is now on sale. Chicago Prep Illustrated will provide weekly coverage of the excitement of high school football in the city.

For subscription information or to submit stories, scores and ideas to the paper call Tim Maher at 737-1500.

Brinkman to call signals

Craig Brinkman, who prepped at Forest View High School, will call defensive signals from his linebacker post Saturday for Indiana University as they visit Northwestern. Brinkman, a sophomore at Indiana, suffered a bruised shoulder in the opener with Minnesota and was limited to the kickoff teams against Nebraska. He came back for full-time defensive duty against Utah and North Carolina State.

Classic leagues together

The two Paddock Classic Traveling leagues will bowl in the same house Saturday evening. Hoffman Lanes will host the men and women bowlers in a change from the original schedule. Action begins at 6:30 p.m.

2 locals in national race

Steve Eberman of Arlington Heights and Claire Ball of Wheeling are among the 300 top rated autocross drivers who will compete in the Sports Car Club of America Solo II National Championship in Salina, Kan., this weekend.

An autocross is similar to the slalom in skiing. One driver at a time speeds across a course marked out with traffic cones, Penalties are given for hitting a marker or missing a "gate."

Eberman won the National Championship in B Stock in 1974.

Olga coming to Illinois

Olga Korbut, reigning Russian princess of the gymnastics world, will be at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall Tuesday, Dec. 9, as a principal attraction of an exhibition by the USSR National Gymnastics Team.

The exhibition will be part of a limited tour by the Russian gymnasts under the sponsorship of the United States Gymnastics Federation.

The Assembly Hall's 16,000 seats will be available for the exhibition. Ticket information will be announced shortly including special information for such groups as gymnastics classes, clubs and teams as well as the general public.

From campuses nationwide

—Purdue University junior Diana Dennis of Palatine has been named by head coach Paul Snider to the varsity golf team of women's intercollegiate athletics.

An industrial management major, Dennis is a 1973 graduate of Fremd High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dennis of 331 Grayfriars Rd.

—Dan Matter, who played his prep football at Prospect High School, has landed the punting job with the University of Iowa.

Matter, a walk-on is presently ranked eighth in the Big 10 after four games with a 38.3 yard average. Northwestern's Randy presently leads the conference with a 45.5 average.

—Greg Hansen of Arlington Heights is a member of Tennessee Tech's varsity cross country team.

Hansen, a freshman, is competing at the varsity level for the first time.

Tech's Golden Eagles, who compete in the rugged Ohio Valley Conference, have already won a dual meet victory over arch rival Middle Tennessee State and placed high in the Signal Mountain Road Race near Chattanooga.

Golfers tee off in district action

by KEITH REINHARD
Golf Editor

The competition appears to be stronger and weaker at the same time for the 1975 Illinois High School Assoc. championship golf playoffs beginning today.

Fifteen area teams will be at three sites for district action this morning. It is the first leg on the journey to the state finals at Champaign's Savoy layout on the weekend of Oct. 24-25.

Girl golfers move into the limelight this weekend too for the first time. A trio of local schools is entered in the IHSA tourney aiming at berths in the finals at Bloomington next weekend.

For the guys, the field is weaker because it's been split into two divisions, Class AA for schools with enrollments of 751 and up, Class A for the smaller schools. All area units will compete in the AA action but about 150 from last year's field of approximately 400 golf teams will break off to form their own meet.

For the boys, the top three scoring teams plus three top scoring individuals will advance from each district to sectional play. The Grayslake District, to be played at Brae Loc Country Club, will draw 16 teams including Arlington, Hersey, St. Viator, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Conant, Palatine, Fremd and Rolling Meadows.

Barrington will also be at Grayslake and they have to be rated odds-on favorites to win with four returning members from last fall's state runnerup team, including state medalist Gary Hallberg.

Recently crowned Mid-Suburban dual meet champion Palatine is also expected to produce a strong showing along with the Huskies, Bison and Vikings.

Prospect and Wheeling will journey to Lake Forest's district at the Lake Bluff Golf Course, where the host Rangers, Deerfield, Highland Park, Glenbrook North, New Triers East and West and Waukegan East will provide key opposition. Waukegan's Dave Ogrin, state medalist two years ago, is expected to be one of the top individual performers.

Forest View will host their own district at Mount Prospect Country Club and Maine West and Elk Grove are among the 17 teams filling out this meet. Addison Trail, East Leyden, Proviso West and Niles West are among the frontrunners at this gathering.

For the girls, Arlington, Forest View and Conant are all entered in the Sycamore District Saturday. The top two teams plus three individuals from each of a dozen districts around the state will advance to the finals at the Illinois State University course in Bloomington Oct. 10-11.

2 stations air 'Series'

As has been the case for almost two decades, WMAQ Radio (AM-670) will be the Chicago outlet for the 1975 World Series. Companion coverage will be heard on WNIS (FM 101) when the series begins Saturday.

All games will be heard on WMAQ with the exception of the night game next Wednesday, when WMAQ will carry the Chicago Blackhawks' hockey game. All games without exception will be carried on WNIS.

New prep grid paper

A new prep football paper, highlighting the entire Chicagoland area, is now on sale. Chicago Prep Illustrated will provide weekly coverage of the excitement of high school football in the city.

For subscription information or to submit stories, scores and ideas to the paper call Tim Maher at 737-1500.

Brinkman to call signals

Craig Brinkman, who prepped at Forest View High School, will call defensive signals from his linebacker post Saturday for Indiana University as they visit Northwestern. Brinkman, a sophomore at Indiana, suffered a bruised shoulder in the opener with Minnesota and was limited to the kickoff teams against Nebraska. He came back for full-time defensive duty against Utah and North Carolina State.

Classic leagues together

The two Paddock Classic Traveling leagues will bowl in the same house Saturday evening. Hoffman Lanes will host the men and women bowlers in a change from the original schedule. Action begins at 6:30 p.m.

2 locals in national race

Steve Eberman of Arlington Heights and Claire Ball of Wheeling are among the 300 top rated autocross drivers who will compete in the Sports Car Club of America Solo II National Championship in Salina, Kan., this weekend.

An autocross is similar to the slalom in skiing. One driver at a time speeds across a course marked out with traffic cones, Penalties are given for hitting a marker or missing a "gate."

Eberman won the National Championship in B Stock in 1974.

Olga coming to Illinois

Olga Korbut, reigning Russian princess of the gymnastics world, will be at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall Tuesday, Dec. 9, as a principal attraction of an exhibition by the USSR National Gymnastics Team.

The exhibition will be part of a limited tour by the Russian gymnasts under the sponsorship of the United States Gymnastics Federation.

The Assembly Hall's 16,000 seats will be available for the exhibition. Ticket information will be announced shortly including special information for such groups as gymnastics classes, clubs and teams as well as the general public.

From campuses nationwide

—Purdue University junior Diana Dennis of Palatine has been named by head coach Paul Snider to the varsity golf team of women's intercollegiate athletics.

An industrial management major, Dennis is a 1973 graduate of Fremd High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dennis of 331 Grayfriars Rd.

—Dan Matter, who played his prep football at Prospect High School, has landed the punting job with the University of Iowa.

Matter, a walk-on is presently ranked eighth in the Big 10 after four games with a 38.3 yard average. Northwestern's Randy presently leads the conference with a 45.5 average.

—Greg Hansen of Arlington Heights is a member of Tennessee Tech's varsity cross country team.

Hansen, a freshman, is competing at the varsity level for the first time.

State soccer tournament slated

Four area soccer teams will begin their quest for the 1975 IHSA State Soccer Tournament Oct. 28-29 and Nov. 1 at the Sub-Sectional playoff level.

Hersey will be joined by Barrington, Deerfield, Highland Park, Lake Forest and Waukegan East and West in the seven-team Lake Forest Sub-Sectional.

Forest View, Maine West and Hoffman Estates are bunched with Maine North, Glenbrook South, defending champion New Trier West and Glenbrook North at the New Trier West Sub-Sectional.

Winners at each of the 13 Sub-Sectionals across the state advance to correlated Sectional title games, scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 4. These seven champions advance to the eight-team State Final Tournament scheduled for Nov. 7-8 on the artificial turf of Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University, Normal.

Coach Sandy Swan's New Trier West Cowboys captured the 1974 title over Wheaton Central, 1-0 in four overtimes.

A record 86 teams from downstate and suburban schools will compete for the top prize — a considerable increase from the 36 which participated in the first title chase in 1972.

State soccer tournament slated

Four area soccer teams will begin their quest for the 1975 IHSA State Soccer Tournament Oct. 28-29 and Nov. 1 at the Sub-Sectional playoff level.

Hersey will be joined by Barrington, Deerfield, Highland Park, Lake Forest and Waukegan East and West in the seven-team Lake Forest Sub-Sectional.

Forest View, Maine West and Hoffman Estates are bunched with Maine North, Glenbrook South, defending champion New Trier West and Glenbrook North at the New Trier West Sub-Sectional.

Winners at each of the 13 Sub-Sectionals across the state advance to correlated Sectional title games, scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 4. These seven champions advance to the eight-team State Final Tournament scheduled for Nov. 7-8 on the artificial turf of Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University, Normal.

Coach Sandy Swan's New Trier West Cowboys captured the 1974 title over Wheaton Central, 1-0 in four overtimes.

A record 86 teams from downstate and suburban schools will compete for the top prize — a considerable increase from the 36 which participated in the first title chase in 1972.

Lions bid in league harrier test

by ART MUGALIAN
Cross Country Editor

If this is to be the Year of the Lion in East Suburban Catholic League cross country, then coach Joe Stehno's boys will just have to run to form.

"We're down to about a minute-and-20-second split between our No. 1 and 6 runners," said the rookie coach. "If we can do that in the conference meet, there's no doubt about it — we'll win."

The Lions will take their running act to the ESCC meet Saturday at Pulaski Woods starting at 11 a.m.

If the Lions do run to form — and if they do capture the league title — it would just about represent a first in the annals of St. Viator cross country.

"This school has never had much success in running," Stehno said, "in cross country or in track. But these kids are confident and hungry."

The two main men for St. Viator are seniors. Steve Kastner and Tim Hendricks have been running in tandem much of the season. Stehno has reason to believe that they can finish among the league's top three harriers.

The rest of the team will be back next year. Sophomores Dave Efken and Rick Hegberg and junior Gordon Kaiser make up the remainder of the Lions' first five.

"I think our first three men can run 1-2-5 or 1-2-6, something like that," said a supremely confident Stehno, who took over the Viator harrier reins this fall. "Our fourth and fifth men will decide it. On paper, as far as I can tell, we can win."

St. Viator ended its dual-meet season with a 4-1 mark in conference action. Marist and Notre Dame also finished with 4-1 records.

"We've beaten Marist and Notre Dame in other meets — in invitationals," Stehno noted. "And when we lost our dual meet to Notre Dame, we would have won if we had run the same times we ran the next week against Carmel."

The Lions edged St. Patrick, 26-29, in the final dual meet of the year on Monday. Since then they've been preparing for Saturday's meet, to be followed by districts and, just maybe, sectionals.

Ace for Elk Grove golfer

Kenneth C. Reehoff of Elk Grove Village is eligible to win a free trip to Scotland and $1,000 as a result of recently scoring a hole-in-one at the Fox Lake Country Club. Reehoff's ace qualified him for the 15th annual Rusty Nail Hole-In-One Sweepstakes, a national competition sponsored by the Drambuie Company of Edinburgh, Scotland. The winner will be announced early next year.

At Hoffman Lanes

Jim Garvos rolled an 836 series off four-game scores of 193-184-225-234 to highlight the 3-Man Scratch League at Hoffman Lanes. Sam Cosino contributed 834, Barry Cordeiro 826, Jim Rudnick 821, Hank Thulen 813 and Harvey Berninger 805. John Johnston hit the high game of the night with a 242. Rentway Truck Rental leads the league with 30 points while Gold Eagle Liquors, B&C Hoffman Liquors, Kempf's Three, and 1st Federal of Schaumburg are right behind with 29.

IS IT TOO LATE TO HAVE YOUR CAR RUSTPROOFED?

YES:
It's too late if scale rust has already started. No rustproofer can guarantee to stop rust. Not even Ziebart.
Ziebart technicians will give your car a free rust inspection to find out if it's too late.

NO:
If rust hasn't started, we can help keep it from starting. With our unique Ziebart sealant that actually seeks out rust-prone metal. And our patented spray tools to apply it.

IS IT TOO LATE TO HAVE YOUR CAR RUSTPROOFED?
YES:
It's too late if scale rust has already started. No rustproofer can guarantee to stop rust. Not even Ziebart.
Ziebart technicians will give your car a free rust inspection to find out if it's too late.
NO:
If rust hasn't started, we can help keep it from starting. With our unique Ziebart sealant that actually seeks out rust-prone metal. And our patented spray tools to apply it.
Ziebart technicians will give your car a free rust inspection to find out—one way or the other.

Glenside was just too much for the PeeWee Colts. Still having good days were Nick Bonder, Craig Tenuto and Jim Zerfahs.

Redskins 18, Hanover Park 0
The Redskins maintained first place in the PeeWee Division with all three touchdowns scored by Bob Cavello on quarterback keepers. Playing fine defense were Brad Mourning, Anthony Ippolito, Kevin Knobloch and Jim McAndrews.

Glenside 20, Falcons 0
Playing well despite the loss were these Falcons — Dave Ellery, Nick Ippolito, Scott Reinhart and Jim Brown.

Saints 15, Glenside 0
The Saints used a pair of touchdown passes to dispose of Glenside and remain in the fight for first place in he Chicago Suburban Football League. Both TD's were scored on passes from quarterback Jerry Zahn to John Calkins and Ray Hartmann. Ken Jacobsen added one extra point with the Saints getting two more markers on a safety.

Knights 27, Glenside 13
The Knights used ball control to roll up a 20-point first half. On the opening offensive play, Mike Redinger burst through a hole opened by the right guard for a 66-yard touchdown. After a fourth down pass misfired, the winners took over on the Glenside 40. Three plays later, Mike Wirth scored the first of four touchdowns. His longest was a 73-yard kickoff return. Dave Earl converted three extra points.

Addison 32, Falcons 6
A strong second half ruined the Elk Grove Athletic Associations fifth annual home coming as the Falcons fell before the Cowboys, 32-6. The Falcons only trailed 7-6 at the half.

Saints 20, Addison 0
The Saints were victorious in their homecoming game, stopping the Addison Cowboys the first time in five years, 20-0. Jerry Zahn scored the first TD on a quarterback sneak with Mike Folz adding the extra point. John Calkins picked up a Cowboy fumble and ran it for a TD with Folze again adding the point after. Matt Evans accounted for the third score with a 23-yard run.

Knights 18, Addison 7

PEE-WEES OPEN TEAM
PAL 1, Jesters 0
Chicago Jesters lost their opening game in Detroit 1-0 in spite of exceptional goaltending by Peter Solber and strong defensive play by the entire pee-wee squad.

Jesters 3, Robert's Pools 0
The Pee-Wees put it all together against one of Detroits better clubs to hand Robert's Pools their first defeat of the season. Scoring for Jesters were Mike Garcia with two, and Dino Guerin. Assists went to John Kulpa — 2, Tim Kirkham and Brad Johnson.

Jesters 5, Little Caesar's 1
Goals were scored by Brad Johnson, Pat Perner, Brian Norris, Mitch Erich and Mike Thompskins who later suffered a concussion and was hospitalized for a short time. Garnering assists were Pat Perner with 2, John Kulpa, Mike Garcia, Dino Guerin, Jeff Solber, John Adams, Erich and Thompkins. Superior goaltending was again provided by Peter Solber and Mike Margliano.

Jesters 3, PAL 0
In a return engagement with our host team, Jesters put them away with a shutout. Peter Solber was once again outstanding in the nets turning everything aside. Goals went to John Kulpa, Mike Garcia and John Adams with assists credited to Mike Knapp, Brad Johnson and Pat Perner.

BANTAM OPEN TEAM
Jesters 5, Brewer Roofing 0
The Jesters started off winging by defeating a strong Detroit area club in their opening encounter. Scoring for Jesters were Mike Muratori, Mark Emerson, Chris Chelios, Scott Roos and Muratori again. Assists went to Jeff Kueny, Oren Koules, Billy Anderson, Mike Mueller, Scott Smith, Doug Demorest, Chelios — 2. Goaltenders Steve Plunkett and Mike Olszewski shared the shutout with super efforts.

Jesters 6, PAL 3
Jesters gave a good team effort in next game to whip PAL with three goal effort by Tim Zwijack and singletons by Jim Dean, Mike Muratori and Doug Demorest. Playmaker of the game went to Mark Emerson with 3 assists. Also garnering assists were Mike Mueller, Greg Kosowski and Scott Roos. Hard rock defense of Billy Anderson and Dean kept the front of Jesters goal clear.

Jesters 7, PAL 0
Returning for second game with host club was to Bantams liking as they pulled off a 7-0 whitewash. This time Demorest was hero with a hat trick. Other marksmen were Emerson, Anderson, Jeff Kueny and Oren Koules. Assisting were Roos, Zwijack, Merson, Anderson and Scott Smith.

Jesters 12, Fraser, Mich. 0
Goals went to Tim Zwijack — 3, Scott Smith — 3, Mike Muratori — 2, Mike Mueller — 2, and Mark Emerson — 2. Assists went to Emerson — 4, Zwijack — 2, Chelios — 2, Koszowski, Dean and Demorest. Getting the shutout were Plunkett and Olszewski with outstanding efforts.

MINOR BANTAM OPEN TEAM
Jesters 7, Crestwood Flames 2
The Minor Bantam team comprised of 13 year old boys played their first game against the Crestwood Flames. Scoring for Jesters were John Walsh with 2 goals, Dennis Ganci — 2, Ed Mesco, Steve Petterec and Ed Peszek. Assists went to Peszek — 2, Tom O'Gorman, Dan Runnion, Petterec — 2, and Tom Everding. Tending goal were Jeff Rohay and Dan Sprengel.

Jesters 14, Streamwood Blades 4
Streamwood visited Jesters at Randhurst and were soundly trounced. Jesters marksmen were Rick Puls — 3, Dennis Ganci — 3, R. Prior — 2, Joel Perez — 2, Tom Everding, John Walsh, Steve Petterec and Mark Lorenzo. Assists went to Ganci, Steve Erich, Petterec, Peszek, Walsh, Lorenzo, Everding, Perez, Ted Buczkowske and Prior.

Jesters 5, Sabres 0
First shutout was recorded by Minor Bantams against Barrington Sabres last Sunday evening in a good skating game. Goals went to Rick Puls with 2, Dennis Ganci, and Steve Petterec — 2. Assists went to Ted Buczkowske — 2, Petterec, Prior and Ganci.

At Beverly Lanes

Meyer's team continues to hold first place by six points over runnerup teams Cannizo and Joern in the Parkway Men's League at Beverly Lanes. Raymond and Turcotte, meanwhile are tied for third, only two points out of second. Walt Juretschke hit 542-233 and Orville Kron 543 to pace the leaders.

Cecil Baker notched 545 and Joe Cannizo 542-205 for Cannizo's. Henry Wist converted the 3-7 while Gary Wagner shot 204-204-578 to spearhead Joern. Raymond's took seven points from Turcotte with Bob Galvononi's 573 and Jacob Herr's 597-214 doing the job. Otto Heimann hit 550, Bob Lampert 569 and John Gutwein 541.

Bears' Huff to appear in Palatine

Chicago Bears quarterback Gary Huff will appear Thursday, Oct. 16 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Palatine Fire Station on Slade St. near Brockway.

His appearance is part of a Salute to Football promotion sponsored by the Downtown Palatine Merchants Assn.

A resident of Palatine, Huff joined the Bears in 1973 after an outstanding collegiate football career at Florida State.

Football fans are invited to come and meet Huff, get his autograph and ask questions about football and the Bears.

Wasn't Otto Graham consensus AA?

Fan's forum

Dear Bob Frisk:

I enjoyed your article on the "consensus All-America" (Oct. 3). However, the research on the article was incomplete, or your source was incorrect, as to who was from Illinois and what town or city. My brother, Otto Graham, who came from Waukegan High School, was an All-American at Northwestern in 1943 and, also that year, All-American in basketball. I believe you'll find that he was the first person to make All-American in both sports. His record is one that shouldn't be overlooked, which is the reason for this letter.

I've enjoyed reading the Herald for over 20 years and it's been interesting to see the paper and Arlington Heights both grow during that time. Keep up the good work.

Vic Graham
Arlington Heights

I also questioned the accuracy of the list, but the key word apparently is "consensus" in regard to your brother. I don't have any files from that particular period so have to rely entirely on what was released by the National Collegiate Sports Services out of Shawnee Mission, Kans. Your interest is appreciated. — Bob Frisk

THANKS, HERALD

Sports Department:

Just a note of thanks to Mike Klein, Art Mugalian, and your staff for the numerous times the Herald promoted the recent lefthanded golfers tournament in Kankakee. I received numerous calls and also new participants in the tourney due to your articles. Winners Jim Garrard, Des Plaines, and John Sjoholm, Arlington Heights, were among those who read the Herald writeup.

Your followup article, Oct. 1, of our tourney results was very much appreciated. Because of your assistance, we are assured a greater field of entrants next year when the tourney again will be held in Kankakee.

OLD DAYS RECALLED

Dear Bob Frisk:

Please excuse my delay in writing to you. A couple of months ago you had a column on Eddie Waitkus of the Chicago Cubs. The date on which he was waylaid by a young lady with a gun was June 14, 1949. I was born and raised on the North Side of Chicago and distinctly remember the incident. It was a habit of my mother and younger brother to wait my father's arrival from work each night on the front porch. We would grab the newspaper from him as soon as he arrived and if there was something special he would always point it out to us.

On that day he didn't need to, as I had already heard about it on the radio. I just couldn't understand how anyone could shoot a pro baseball player. They were my idols, even though the Cubs seemed like they could never quite make it to the World Series. Hank Sauer and Roy Smalley were our heroes. But I think our greatest thrill was seeing the Brooklyn Dodgers with Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, and Don Newcombe.

I really enjoy your columns in the paper. The delay mentioned above was mainly due to the fact that I manage baseball teams in Elk Grove Village Boys Baseball. It's a good program and I have two boys involved in it.

Keep up the good work and I look forward to more columns based upon your memory and mine.

BEAR COVERAGE PRAISED

Dear Editor:

It was nice to read about the Bears' first victory in the Herald publications this week. I thought Jim Cook and the reporter who wrote up the first Bear game were mainly high school sports writers. But they proved otherwise.

I can't afford to subscribe to another paper besides Paddock's, let alone have the money to buy Bear tickets. I used to have to depend on TV interviews to find out why the Bears did what they did, but no more. I just wanted you to know somebody appreciated your efforts.

CUBS NOT ALL BAD

Fans Forum:

You really can't blame the Chicago Cubs for a terrible season. They gave their fans a lot of excitement even if they didn't give us a pennant. The Cubs may have fallen into the cellar, but they are still playing a decent brand of baseball.

Jose Cardenal played his best season and he has stolen more bases than any Cub since the days of Frank Chance. Bill Madlock, despite a pair of injuries which have kept him on the bench for extended periods of playing time, has won a batting title with the highest Cub average since the days of Rogers Hornsby, Kiki Cuyler and Phil Cavarretta.

And the Cub pitching has been promising, if not consistent. Ray Burris and Bill Bonham have been streaky, but have shown signs of coming around.

Dead ringer for Presley in everything but money

by BARRY SIGALE

"I'm caught in a trap
I can't walk out
Because I love you too much, baby"
—Elvis Presley

Rick Sauceto has never given away a traffic jam's worth of fancy automobiles to his old ladies. Elvis Presley has. That, and millions and millions of dollars, set the two entertainers apart.

Sauceto calls himself the Prince of Rock and Roll. He concedes the King's crown to Elvis. But in a world that values it imitations almost as much as the real thing, the Loyal Subject may soon be big box office in his own right.

He's a dead ringer for Presley. At 20 paces you couldn't tell the difference in the two men. Only his slim frame gives away his secret. He's a carbon copy who, in actuality, is only playing himself. Therein lies the rub.

"If there was no Elvis, I'd be a millionaire," bluntly states the 19-year-old mini-sensation whose Presley show sends girls into a frenzy and conjures up the image of Elvis the Pelvis himself.

Sauceto and his group, the Fabulous Ambassadors, is busting records at suburban nightclubs about as fast as he can shake his hips. Females practically strangle him in outbursts of affection.

"The girls are on the square," says Sauceto's manager, Dennis Pederson, of Schaumburg, when questioned about their behavior. "They get carried away."

BUT DO THEY LOVE him for his body or are they taken by his likeness to Presley? If they can't get the King are they simply settling for whatever they can get?

"You'll have to talk to the girls about that," says Sauceto.

The girls flock to him, both the screamers and the silent types. Outside his dressing room door they sound like mice scratching for cheese. Mi-mi-mi-mi-mi. A woman in her fifties sends him in a hair brush. He strokes his black locks and sends it back to her. She clutches the comb as if he turned it into a $50 bill. Remember, inflation.

"They don't want autographs," gasps the object of affection. "They want blood." Such is their demonstration that Pederson claims his star attraction must be careful about how much of himself to put in front of his public.

"He goes through 40 scarves a week," says Pederson. "We had to get him specially textured scarves so they don't burn his neck." He says two girls recently grabbed either end of his scarf after a particularly rousing performance. "I swore his neck was broken."

SAUCETO, A SKINNY kid from Chicago's north side, wears a white-sequined jump suit opened down the chest, a silver cross around his neck and a specially made belt with a big star in the middle.

He comes onstage to the theme from "2001, a Space Odyssey." The lights flicker, he kicks up his leg, practically clicks his knees together with his rubberband limbs and lets out a guttural glop. Some woman yells, "He's mama's boy." A girl kisses him as he bends over toward the audience. "Hey! There's only so much," Sauceto graps.

Six-hundred people have paid $5 cover charge (including two drinks) at Mr. Lucky's nightclub in Streamwood to see Sauceto. Thousands of others have caught his act from here to the south suburbs. Many more will attend when he plays B. Ginnings in Schaumburg next Wednesday, then returns to Mr. Lucky's for nine days the end of October. He'll be at Landers Chalet Supper Club in Elk Grove Village in December.

His show consists of Elvis' hits, "Return to Sender," "Temperature's Rising," "Suspicious Minds," "Can't Help Falling in Love With You," and the Righteous Brothers' golden oldie, "You've Lost That Lovin' Feeling."

AT TIMES HE keeps his mouth on the microphone. He slips to one knee, closes his eyes and belts out the words. He flips to the other knee and a pained expression comes to his face as he works on the heavy lyrics. "Now it's gone (oomph), gone (oomph), gone (oomph), woh, oh, woh."

As each song ends he turns his back to the crowd and holds up his arms as if he is parting the sea. He flashes three karate kicks and throws in a little Kung Fu for good measure. The lights dim and he is gone from the stage, after one hour and 15 songs, trailed by screaming girls.

It was of the stuff that made Superman the hero he is today that got Sauceto off and running as little MARGARINE! BUTTER! Any difference? What about the difference between Rick Sauceto, the Prince of rock and roll, and the almighty Elvis Presley? By the expression on the face of one of his fans, Sauceto looks and acts enough like the King to become a suburban nightclub sensation. Next Wednesday he's appearing in Schaumburg.

Actor David Selby

puts stage success in its proper perspective

By all rights David Selby should have a swelled head. Reviews for his performance in "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" have been absolutely glowing. One critic even likened him to Paul Newman. And if actors don't like to be compared with one another, still, it's a lavish compliment.

David, whose friendly, easy going manner can't help but put everyone around him immediately at ease, just grins.

"It's better than having it go the other way," he said.

"Sure, it's a nice feeling, but everything has to be put in its proper perspective. Good or bad it's just one person's opinion."

SEEMINGLY TOO modest a person to be taken in by a few short-lived written praises anyhow, David continued "You know, once I played opposite the late Jack McGowran in 'Gandhi.' I was on stage with him four hours a night. That's a long time. And you know one critic didn't even mention my name."

Nor does he show any real emotion about the role of Brick he plays in Arlington Park Theatre's production of "Cat."

"I can't talk about what I actually do on stage. I don't know. Of course there are certain roles that are more difficult to do than others because they are not as close to you."

Selby enjoys playing Brick. It's the first opportunity he's had to do a Tennessee Williams' play.

"I FIND HIM fascinating," he said.

Theatergoers who see David in "Cat" have to agree he wears the role naturally. It's tailor-made for him.

Interview by Genie Campbell

But neither can one stereotype him. He's played Abraham Lincoln twice, when he's had to wear a false long nose; is experienced in Shakespeare; guest-starred on television's "Waltons;" and took the side of law and order in "Super Cops."

David, in that same warm, unaffected fashion, pauses a moment before saying he's never given it much thought what he actually prefers doing though "making the movie 'Super Cops,' wasn't all that much fun." The pressure was on to finish a certain number of scenes in a certain amount of time.

"I LOVE THE theater. It's great. The audience is right there. And it's a lot like playing golf. If you play bad one day, you can forget about it, get up the next day and do better. That's how theater is too. But in films forget it. Once it's down, you can't change a thing.

"My whole orientation was in theater and it wasn't until I had been in the business a few years that I even thought of anything else."

Originally from Morganstown, W. Va., David didn't become interested in theater until he went to college. And then it was quite by accident.

He just happened to go to Southern Illinois University, just happened to be assigned an adviser who was in the theater department. And he just happened to suggest to David that he take a course in acting as an elective.

"I DID AND there was never anything else," said Selby.

Because he went to school in the Midwest, David is quite familiar with the state and enjoys coming back to Chicago. He starred here two years ago in the world premiere of "Dance on a Country Grave," and subsequently portrayed Prince Hal in "Henry IV" at the Goodman.

He has a number of friends spread throughout the state he occasionally visits, and Monday, his day off, he talked about renting a car to drive down to New Salem. He likes history, particularly the Civil War period. Besides, playing Abraham Lincoln leaves a lasting impression on a person.

Yet overall, his present brief stay in the Chicago area has been pretty low key.

"Staying at Arlington Park Hilton is like being on a ship. It's not all that easy to get off," he laughed referring to his being surrounded by expressways.

MEETING FOR breakfast one morning, dressed in jeans, book in hand, he seemed likely to search out some quiet place and read.

David has been touring in "Cat" for several months. And there is a possibility that this company, which also stars Sandy Dennis in the role of Maggie, is headed for California, the other side of the country from Selby's home in Pleasantville, a quiet, wooded suburb of New York City.

But if that doesn't happen, David hasn't decided what he'll do next.

"I'm not good at that. I just have to see what the day will bring me."

John Denver tops Olivia on their newest albums

Playback

by Tom Von Malder

Some singers seem to reach a peak of popularity where they can do no wrong in the eyes and ears of their fans. Reviewing them seems a useless task — their fans will like the album no matter what.

Two such established singers are Olivia Newton-John and John Denver. Each has a new album, and while I usually prefer Olivia's music, I think Denver has done the better job this time.

Olivia's "Clearly Love" album (MCA records) seems even more strongly to rely on her prettiness (there are 11 pictures on the dust jacket and her hair stylist is listed among the album credits) than her last album. Granted, she is one of today's prettiest singers, but it is not beauty but music that is going to make me like an album. "Clearly Love" lacks a strong song, such as her recent hits "Have You Never Been Mellow" and "I Love You, I Honestly Love You."

IN ADDITION, she attempts Eddie Cochran's classic rock-punk anthem "Summertime Blues" and takes all

Olivia Newton-John

the spunk out of the song that made the Blue Cheer and Who versions so great.

Only "He's My Rock" and "Let It Shine" (one of the album's few country-influenced songs) are worth the effort.

Denver, on the other hand, comes up with a generally strong second side to "Windsong" (RCA) after a slower first side. Dismissing his No. 1 single "I'm Sorry," which isn't that good, there are four good songs on the flip side.

Denver shares the singing with Olivia on the pretty ballad "Fly Away" and with Mary Ann Duffy on the bright "Love Is Everywhere." On both songs he comes across as a stronger singer because he's not singing alone. There also is "Calypso" about sea explorer Jacques-Yves Cousteau, with a spirited orchestral arrangement and the country-styled "Two Shots."

"Looking For Space," because of its more believable lyrics, and "Cowboy's Delight" are first-side highlights.

OTHER NEW releases include Neil Sedaka's "The Hungry Years" (Rocket). This fine album follows last year's "Sodaka's Back" (also Rocket) from which seven other singers chose songs to release as singles. This new collection should be as popular with other singers.

To start with, there is the very infectious and gay rocker "Bad Blood" on which an uncredited Elton John gives a vocal assist. In the more serious vein is the very thoughtful and mature title song, a look at the personal sadness and uneasiness success can bring. Another song with exceptionally fine lyrics is "New York City Blues." Sedaka can be meaningful without being pompous or overly sincere.

The rest of the album is divided between ballads and rockers of various degrees of strength. He even updates his 1962 hit "Breaking Up Is Hard To Do" with a string arrangement by Richard Carpenter.

"LESLIE UGGAMS" (Motown). It's been a long time since Mitch Miller's singalongs, but she sounds better than I ever remembered. This is her first Motown album and is aimed at a younger audience, with production and style similar to Diana Ross' work.

There's a bit of disco ("Don't Know What You Got Till You Lose It"). There are also strong ballads ("I Was the Life of the Party" and "Meet Me Tonight") and pretty arrangements ("Next Stop Heaven").

It is a very fine album that deserves to be a hit. Credit, too, must go to producer Don Davis, who does the Dramatics, and the Detroit and Muscle Shoals musicians.

Buchwald spins a cat tale to delight entire family

The book stall

"IRVING'S DELIGHT"
by ART BUCHWALD
David McKay Co., $5.95

Art Buchwald has done himself, and cat fanciers everywhere, proud with his slim gem of a book, "Irving's Delight."

In 95 tightly written pages, Buchwald spins a clever tale that intertwines cats, their owners, Madison Avenue, television, terrorist kidnapings and the Superbowl. (I told you those 95 pages were tightly written.)

The book, with delightful drawing by Reynold Ruffins, chronicles an advertising executive's discovery of Irving, a cat that eats with his paws.

Irving becomes a sensation of television-land but, as with all those in the public eye, he is in more danger than he realizes.

IRVING'S SPONSORS plan to unveil a new line of cat food during the Superbowl broadcast. But — Irving is kidnaped.

There is only one man for the job: the greatest living pet detective in the world, Alain Pierre Bernheim. Not to mention the relentless digging by Russell Baker, pet editor of the New York Times, who gets to say things like "Wow! What a story! They're going to have to make over the front page."

Things work out just in the nick of time for Irving, the sponsor, and, of course, the Superbowl.

"Irving's Delight" is, as Buchwald modestly proclaims, "At last! A cat story for the whole family."

Joe Swickard

ART BUCHWALD and feline friend compare notes for "Irving's Delight," a new book to tickle the fancy of all cat lovers.

Playback
by Tom Von Malder

Some singers seem to reach a peak of popularity where they can do no wrong in the eyes and ears of their fans. Reviewing them seems a useless task — their fans will like the album no matter what.

Two such established singers are Olivia Newton-John and John Denver. Each has a new album, and while I usually prefer Olivia's music, I think Denver has done the better job this time.

Olivia's "Clearly Love" album (MCA records) seems even more strongly to rely on her prettiness (there are 11 pictures on the dust jacket and her hair stylist is listed among the album credits) than her last album. Granted, she is one of today's prettiest singers, but it is not beauty but music that is going to make me like an album. "Clearly Love" lacks a strong song, such as her recent hits "Have You Never Been Mellow" and "I Love You, I Honestly Love You."

IN ADDITION, she attempts Eddie Cochran's classic rock-punk anthem "Summertime Blues" and takes all

Olivia Newton-John

the spunk out of the song that made the Blue Cheer and Who versions so great.

Only "He's My Rock" and "Let It Shine" (one of the album's few country-influenced songs) are worth the effort.

Denver, on the other hand, comes up with a generally strong second side to "Windsong" (RCA) after a slower first side. Dismissing his No. 1 single "I'm Sorry," which isn't that good, there are four good songs on the flip side.

Denver shares the singing with Olivia on the pretty ballad "Fly Away" and with Mary Ann Duffy on the bright "Love Is Everywhere." On both songs he comes across as a stronger singer because he's not singing alone. There also is "Calypso" about sea explorer Jacques-Yves Cousteau, with a spirited orchestral arrangement and the country-styled "Two Shots."

"Looking For Space," because of its more believable lyrics, and "Cowboy's Delight" are first-side highlights.

OTHER NEW releases include Neil Sedaka's "The Hungry Years" (Rocket). This fine album follows last year's "Sodaka's Back" (also Rocket) from which seven other singers chose songs to release as singles. This new collection should be as popular with other singers.

To start with, there is the very infectious and gay rocker "Bad Blood" on which an uncredited Elton John gives a vocal assist. In the more serious vein is the very thoughtful and mature title song, a look at the personal sadness and uneasiness success can bring. Another song with exceptionally fine lyrics is "New York City Blues." Sedaka can be meaningful without being pompous or overly sincere.

The rest of the album is divided between ballads and rockers of various degrees of strength. He even updates his 1962 hit "Breaking Up Is Hard To Do" with a string arrangement by Richard Carpenter.

"LESLIE UGGAMS" (Motown). It's been a long time since Mitch Miller's singalongs, but she sounds better than I ever remembered. This is her first Motown album and is aimed at a younger audience, with production and style similar to Diana Ross' work.

There's a bit of disco ("Don't Know What You Got Till You Lose It"). There are also strong ballads ("I Was the Life of the Party" and "Meet Me Tonight") and pretty arrangements ("Next Stop Heaven").

It is a very fine album that deserves to be a hit. Credit, too, must go to producer Don Davis, who does the Dramatics, and the Detroit and Muscle Shoals musicians.

Buchwald spins a cat tale to delight entire family

The book stall

"IRVING'S DELIGHT"
by ART BUCHWALD
David McKay Co., $5.95

Art Buchwald has done himself, and cat fanciers everywhere, proud with his slim gem of a book, "Irving's Delight."

In 95 tightly written pages, Buchwald spins a clever tale that intertwines cats, their owners, Madison Avenue, television, terrorist kidnapings and the Superbowl. (I told you those 95 pages were tightly written.)

The book, with delightful drawing by Reynold Ruffins, chronicles an advertising executive's discovery of Irving, a cat that eats with his paws.

Irving becomes a sensation of television-land but, as with all those in the public eye, he is in more danger than he realizes.

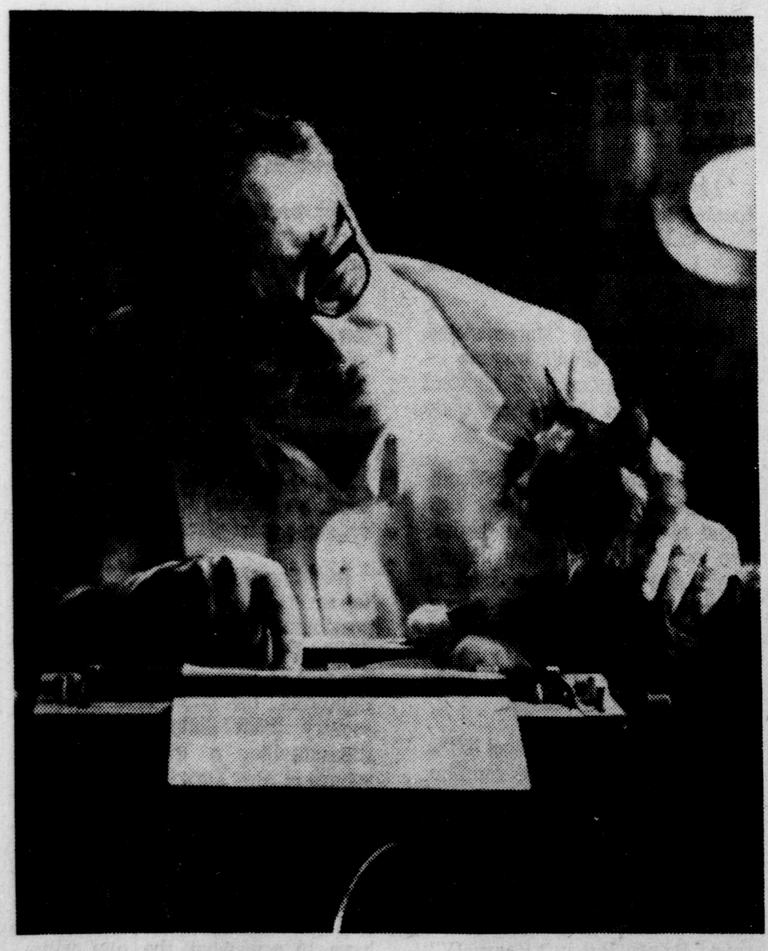
IRVING'S SPONSORS plan to unveil a new line of cat food during the Superbowl broadcast. But — Irving is kidnaped.

There is only one man for the job: the greatest living pet detective in the world, Alain Pierre Bernheim. Not to mention the relentless digging by Russell Baker, pet editor of the New York Times, who gets to say things like "Wow! What a story! They're going to have to make over the front page."

Things work out just in the nick of time for Irving, the sponsor, and, of course, the Superbowl.

"Irving's Delight" is, as Buchwald modestly proclaims, "At last! A cat story for the whole family."

Joe Swickard



ART BUCHWALD and feline friend compare notes for "Irving's Delight," a new book to tickle the fancy of all cat lovers.

Limelight opens

Tickets are still available for The Players of Schaumburg musical "An Evening That's Entertainment" and fund-raising auction "Who Will Buy," which highlight the grand opening of the group's new Limelight Theatre and Arts Center. Located in Tower Plaza, 1165 Tower Rd., Schaumburg, Limelight's opening show is tonight at 8, with a second show Saturday, same time.

The auction is included in admission of $4, along with champagne and hors d'oeuvres. Reservations can be made at 885-2360 after 5 p.m.

The daytime grand opening activities include an open house, art exhibition, registration for workshops and individual instruction in theater arts.

'Dames at Sea'

This is the final weekend of performances by Majors Productions of the musical "Dames at Sea." Curtain time is 8:30 tonight and Saturday, 7:30 Sunday, at Northwest Center for the Performing Arts, 704 S. Bonded Pkwy., Streamwood.

Tickets are $3.50 adults, $2.75 students and senior citizens, $2 children under 12. 697-1596.

Art festival

A Children's Bicentennial Festival is in progress at Countryside Art Center, 414 N. Vail, Arlington Heights, and continues through Nov. 16. The gallery features displays and a mural by children in the center's classes plus a special UNICEF traveling Children's Art Exhibit.

Gallery hours are 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays. Information 253-3005.

As part of the festival, a free program is offered Sunday at 1 p.m. by Betty deGroh of Village Theatre, entitled "Creative Costumes Through Makeup." It will be presented in the Dunton Room of Arlington Heights Memorial ibrary.

Operalogue

An operalogue on "The Marriage of Figaro" will be presented tonight for Barrington Lyric Opera members and guests. Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Meroni will open their home for the performance and a cocktail hour preceding it. Reservations, 381-0190 or 381-3135.

Tole painting

Muriel Mills will demonstrate tole painting technique for the Arlington Heights Art Guild Thursday at 8 p.m. at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, 123 N. Arlington Heights Rd. Guests are welcome.

Tole painting means painting on tin, but the craft is now done on anything from milk cans to bread boards. Mrs. Mills teaches at The Web in Arlington Heights.

Fine arts show

"Autumn Artistry" is the theme of Countryside Mall's second annual fine arts show from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free. More than 40 artists and sculptors will exhibit their work throughout the enclosed mall at Northwest Highway and Baldwin Road, Palatine. The show features oils, watercolors, sculpture, pottery, jewelry, leatherwork, collage and stained glass.

Macrame workshop

Two macrame workshops are scheduled at Countryside Art Center, Arlington Heights, for Friday, Oct. 17. "Beginning Techniques in Macrame" will be held from 9 a.m. to noon and "Designing in Macrame" is from 1-4 p.m. The fee is $5 for members and $7.50 for non-members for one session; $8.50 members and $12.50 non-members for both sessions.

Reservations are required, 253-3005.

HELP WANTED: Chicagoans to run away and join the circus!

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, currently at the Amphitheatre through Monday, Oct. 27, is holding a talent search for new clowns and showgirls for next year's edition of The Greatest Show on Earth.

Auditions will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 17, in the arena of the Amphitheatre, 4300 S. Halsted St., Chicago.

Bill Ballantine, dean of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus Clown College in Venice, Fla., training school for all new clowns, will be on hand for the clown auditions, also a number of the Circus' famed funnymen who will demonstrate their art. Clown costumes are not necessary for the auditions.

SUPERVISING THE showgirl auditions will be Antoinette Concello, aerial director and the only woman trapeze flyer to ever perform the triple somersault, and Jerry Fries, circus choreographer. They will ask applicants to perform some simple basic dance movements to judge grace and agility.

Circus hopefuls need only appear at the auditions. No prior application is required.

Entr'acte

A display of oil and acrylic paintings by Irene "Rae" Partridge of Barrington may be seen on the walls of the lobby, snack shop, cafeteria and main lobby of Northwest Community Hospital. The exhibit will continue through October.

All of the paintings may be purchased at the hospital. Further information can be obtained from the artist at 639-5665 evenings.

Black art will be the subject of a six-week lecture series beginning Oct. 16 and 17 at the Art Institute of Chicago. The program involves discussion of 15th century Benin bronzes, 19th century African wood carvings and contemporary African expressions as well as Afro-American visuals from the 18th century to the present. Li Fran Fort of the Department of Museum Education will present the series in Morton Lecture Hall at 6 p.m. Thursdays and repeated at 11 a.m. Fridays.

A series ticket is $35; Art Institute members receive a $15 discount. To register, those interested should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope indicating choice of day to Art Institute of Chicago, Department of Museum Education, Michigan at Adams, Chicago, 60603. Checks should be made payable to Art Institute of Chicago.

"Our Country — Its Immigrants and Its Culture" is the theme of the annual fall conference of the Illinois State Genealogical Society, to be held Oct. 24-25 at the Holiday Inn East, Springfield.

Principal speakers are Don Yoder, Ph.D., of the University of Pennsylvania, a specialist in the culture of Pennsylvania, and Eileen Boris, Ph. D., expert on American social and cultural history.

Three seminars will be conducted, covering Scandinavian records, research methods and the Huguenots.

Anyone interested in genealogy and history is welcome. Reservations are due Oct. 23 with Mrw. Bula Rainey, 211 W. White St., Clinton, Ill., 61727.

Norman Temple's Medicairs, a newly formed group of older entertainers, is looking for a pianist.

"We need an accomplished piano player over 50 years of age who can sight read and accompany rock, pop and opera singers," said Temple.

The group is accepting bookings in night clubs, theaters and television and is planning a permanent theater of performing arts for senior citizens for the future.

Anyone over 50 years of age interested in auditioning as a pianist or any other act — singers, dancers, musicians, comedians, actors — should phone John Madson, 463-3555, for an appointment.

Jeff Awards put spotlight on Chicago Theater Month

To focus attention on the artistic excellence of Chicagoland theater, Mayor Richard J. Daley has proclaimed Oct. 20 through Nov. 19 as Spotlight on Chicago Theater Month.

The festivities begin Oct. 20 with the seventh annual Joseph Jefferson Awards at McCormick Place, to be presented for outstanding theatrical accomplishments during the 1974-75 season.

When the Jeff Awards were first given out in 1969, only seven theaters were eligible. This year's nominees represent 22 theaters in the Chicago area and the list is growing.

THESE THEATERS offer a variety of fare and some are accompanied by a meal at one of the area's dinner theaters or by a cold beer in a neighborhood pub. Pub theater is one of the newest on the Chicago entertainment scene.

As a special feature of the month, theaters and theater groups in the greater Chicago area will offer during-the-week ticket discounts which will cost only a little more than the price of a ticket to a first-run movie.

Those interested should ask about theater month discounts when phoning for reservations.

Special productions and exhibits will also be featured during the month.

The Marketplace. More than fine dining, it's an emotional experience.
GRAND OPENING
There is a big difference between eating and dining.
In one of five separate, warmly intimate dining areas clustered around central Marketplace Park, you will be tempted with exciting selections of the new haute cuisine. This is serious dining. For the gourmet, for the connoisseur, for those who truly appreciate exquisite preparation and meticulous service.
And while we're on the subject of seafood, indulge yourself in our fascinating Raw Bar.
Nowhere outside of a coastal city has a Raw Bar ever featured such sinfully fresh delicacies as Steamed Shrimp, Bluepoint Oysters, Alaskan King Crab Legs, Cherrystone Clams, and Crab Cocktail. The Marketplace's Raw Bar is a virtual paradise for the true seafood aficienado.
Which brings us to the Bakery.
In The Bakery, we get down to basics. Thick, juicy, rare prime ribs of beef and generous dumplings to satiate the healthiest, heartiest appetite.
Steak, Diane?
In The Winery dining area, the featured entree is Steak Diane. Thinly sliced, buttersoft sirloin, subtly seasoned with wines and spirits and served flambe at your tableside.
It took three centuries to prepare our Honeyed Duckling.
The new cuisine has borrowed from the oldest Chinese recipes to produce a timeless Honeyed Duckling. Appropriately featured in The Antique Shop ante-room, Honeyed Duckling is magnificently roasted to order to retain its deep, rich flavor and tenderness.
The little extras are neither little nor extra.
Like your choice of either our special, heady House Salad or a true, zesty Caesar Salad, both expertly prepared at your tableside. Or the atmosphere of The Marketplace: quiet, unhurried, elegant. The decor of each dining area is comfortably relaxing, yet architecturally unique. A rare combination, indeed, to make your evening at The Marketplace an unusually satisfying and pleasurable experience.
Welcome home, Trout Dubrovnik.
The new cuisine of The Marketplace also brings to Chicago the exclusive award winning dish, Trout Dubrovnik. Featured as the entree in Marketplace Park, Trout Dubrovnik is a succulent trout dish, rich in subtle flavors then delicately baked to the most pleasurable texture.
Sunday in the Park
Buffet Brunch served 10:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.
Dinner served 6 pm - 11 pm
Luncheon served 11 am - 2 pm
Jack Be Nimble & Son. Right next door to the Lobster Trap.
Steamed Bird with Snow Peas, the featured entree in the unique Jack Be Nimble & Son ante-room, is a culinary triumph. Prepared with no butter, fats or oils, the Steamed Bird is still one of the tastiest chicken dishes you'll ever eat. Or for seafood, go next door to The Lobster Trap. Here, in a cozy New England decor, you choose live lobster "by the pound" from a fresh tank and your selection is prepared to its ultimate flavor and served with creamy, rich drawn butter.
Dining that's an emotional experience.

Bill Ballantine, dean of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus Clown College in Venice, Fla., training school for all new clowns, will be on hand for the clown auditions, also a number of the Circus' famed funnymen who will demonstrate their art. Clown costumes are not necessary for the auditions.

SUPERVISING THE showgirl auditions will be Antoinette Concello, aerial director and the only woman trapeze flyer to ever perform the triple somersault, and Jerry Fries, circus choreographer. They will ask applicants to perform some simple basic dance movements to judge grace and agility.

Circus hopefuls need only appear at the auditions. No prior application is required.

Black art will be the subject of a six-week lecture series beginning Oct. 16 and 17 at the Art Institute of Chicago. The program involves discussion of 15th century Benin bronzes, 19th century African wood carvings and contemporary African expressions as well as Afro-American visuals from the 18th century to the present. Li Fran Fort of the Department of Museum Education will present the series in Morton Lecture Hall at 6 p.m. Thursdays and repeated at 11 a.m. Fridays.

A series ticket is $35; Art Institute members receive a $15 discount. To register, those interested should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope indicating choice of day to Art Institute of Chicago, Department of Museum Education, Michigan at Adams, Chicago, 60603. Checks should be made payable to Art Institute of Chicago.

"Our Country — Its Immigrants and Its Culture" is the theme of the annual fall conference of the Illinois State Genealogical Society, to be held Oct. 24-25 at the Holiday Inn East, Springfield.

Principal speakers are Don Yoder, Ph.D., of the University of Pennsylvania, a specialist in the culture of Pennsylvania, and Eileen Boris, Ph. D., expert on American social and cultural history.

Three seminars will be conducted, covering Scandinavian records, research methods and the Huguenots.

Anyone interested in genealogy and history is welcome. Reservations are due Oct. 23 with Mrw. Bula Rainey, 211 W. White St., Clinton, Ill., 61727.

Norman Temple's Medicairs, a newly formed group of older entertainers, is looking for a pianist.

"We need an accomplished piano player over 50 years of age who can sight read and accompany rock, pop and opera singers," said Temple.

The group is accepting bookings in night clubs, theaters and television and is planning a permanent theater of performing arts for senior citizens for the future.

Anyone over 50 years of age interested in auditioning as a pianist or any other act — singers, dancers, musicians, comedians, actors — should phone John Madson, 463-3555, for an appointment.

Jeff Awards put spotlight on Chicago Theater Month

To focus attention on the artistic excellence of Chicagoland theater, Mayor Richard J. Daley has proclaimed Oct. 20 through Nov. 19 as Spotlight on Chicago Theater Month.

The festivities begin Oct. 20 with the seventh annual Joseph Jefferson Awards at McCormick Place, to be presented for outstanding theatrical accomplishments during the 1974-75 season.

When the Jeff Awards were first given out in 1969, only seven theaters were eligible. This year's nominees represent 22 theaters in the Chicago area and the list is growing.

THESE THEATERS offer a variety of fare and some are accompanied by a meal at one of the area's dinner theaters or by a cold beer in a neighborhood pub. Pub theater is one of the newest on the Chicago entertainment scene.

As a special feature of the month, theaters and theater groups in the greater Chicago area will offer during-the-week ticket discounts which will cost only a little more than the price of a ticket to a first-run movie.

Those interested should ask about theater month discounts when phoning for reservations.

Special productions and exhibits will also be featured during the month.

The Marketplace. More than fine dining, it's an emotional experience.
GRAND OPENING

There is a big difference between eating and dining.
In one of five separate, warmly intimate dining areas clustered around central Marketplace Park, you will be tempted with exciting selections of the new haute cuisine. This is serious dining. For the gourmet, for the connoisseur, for those who truly appreciate exquisite preparation and meticulous service.

And while we're on the subject of seafood, indulge yourself in our fascinating Raw Bar.
Nowhere outside of a coastal city has a Raw Bar ever featured such sinfully fresh delicacies as Steamed Shrimp, Bluepoint Oysters, Alaskan King Crab Legs, Cherrystone Clams, and Crab Cocktail. The Marketplace's Raw Bar is a virtual paradise for the true seafood aficienado.

Which brings us to the Bakery.
In The Bakery, we get down to basics. Thick, juicy, rare prime ribs of beef and generous dumplings to satiate the healthiest, heartiest appetite.

The little extras are neither little nor extra.
Like your choice of either our special, heady House Salad or a true, zesty Caesar Salad, both expertly prepared at your tableside. Or the atmosphere of The Marketplace: quiet, unhurried, elegant. The decor of each dining area is comfortably relaxing, yet architecturally unique. A rare combination, indeed, to make your evening at The Marketplace an unusually satisfying and pleasurable experience.

Steak, Diane?
In The Winery dining area, the featured entree is Steak Diane. Thinly sliced, butter-soft sirloin, subtly seasoned with wines and spirits and served flambe at your tableside.

It took three centuries to prepare our Honeyed Duckling.
The new cuisine has borrowed from the oldest Chinese recipes to produce a timeless Honeyed Duckling. Appropriately featured in The Antique Shop ante-room, Honeyed Duckling is magnificently roasted to order to retain its deep, rich flavor and tenderness.

Welcome home, Trout Dubrovnik.
The new cuisine of The Marketplace also brings to Chicago the exclusive award winning dish, Trout Dubrovnik. Featured as the entree in Marketplace Park, Trout Dubrovnik is a succulent trout dish, rich in subtle flavors then delicately baked to the most pleasurable texture.

Sunday in the Park
Buffet Brunch served 10:30 a.m. - 2:30 p.m.
Dinner served 6 pm - 11 pm
Luncheon served 11 am - 2 pm

Jack Be Nimble & Son. Right next door to the Lobster Trap.
Steamed Bird with Snow Peas, the featured entree in the unique Jack Be Nimble & Son ante-room, is a culinary triumph. Prepared with no butter, fats or oils, the Steamed Bird is still one of the tastiest chicken dishes you'll ever eat. Or for seafood, go next door to The Lobster Trap. Here, in a cozy New England decor, you choose live lobster "by the pound" from a fresh tank and your selection is prepared to its ultimate flavor and served with creamy, rich drawn butter.

Dining that's an emotional experience.

Chicago Ballet shows promise

by LYNN ASINOF
(A Review)

It is a new year for the fledgling Chicago Ballet. The principal dancers from last year have departed and new dancers have joined the troupe. Despite the changes, or perhaps because o fthem, the company still has an essential quality of promise for things to come.

The opening of the company's second season last weekend ranged from the very good to the very boring, with a few dancers providing performances of genuine quality.

Such, for example, was the performance of Suzanne Longley, who shone in Balanchine's "Concerto Barocco." She dances with a brightness and sharp edge that give life to movement.

THE WOMEN OF the company did well with the piece, which is fast and lyrical, requiring precise movements to match the Bach violin concerto in D minor. Dressed in white, the troupe moved with unity through the syncopation of the ballet, creating a feeling of resilience and clarity.

The weakest part of the opening program came when the men entered. The brief pas de deux and "concerto Barocco" found guest performer Michelle Lees, former principal with the company, partnering with the boyish Michael Bjerknes who was not up to the task.

Although Bjerknes moves with ease, he lacks the sense of precision, the stretch, the sharpness that make a principal dancer. If he is the best of the male dancers, the Chicago Ballet is in for a lopsided season.

Ashton's "Facade," a character piece staged by Richard Ellis and Christine Du Boulay, was another bright spot in the opening. While some companies have given this 1931 comic ballet a slick style, the Chicago Ballet made the piece fun.

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR Ben Stevenson joined the romp with a cameo appearance as the Gigolo. With movements as small as the flip of the wrists, Stevenson brought howls from the audience with his outrageous portrayal of the arrogant dandy.

The dud of the evening was Ruth Page's 1962 "Concertino Pour Trois." The ballet was too cute, focusing on the flirtations of two lads and a lass. Set to jazz, the piece lacked flow with dancers substituting bright smiles and thigh slapping for substance.

"Pi R-Squared" a humorous spoof on abstract ballet, was repeated from last year and brought appreciative guffaws from the audience.

Chicago Ballet is in a sense ballet "in the raw." The company has rough edges that are easily spotted in the tiny chamber theater at 1016 N. Dearborn St., Chicago. The dancers are close enough to touch, allowing the audience to see the perspiration, the strain and the outcome of years of training. This is a part of ballet often lost in the cavernous loop theaters and a part which adds dimension to the art form.

THE COMPANY has an eight-week-end season scheduled, with the next series of performances to run Oct. 16 - 19. Featured will be the "Raymonda Pas de Six" to a Glazunov score. Also to be performed are the abstract "Monotones II" by Ashton and "Pas de Fiancees" to Tchiakovsky's music.

Performances are 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with matinees 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Tickets are $7 for all performances except the Saturday matinee which costs $5.50.

MICHELLE Lees, former principal with the company, returned to dance in Balanchine's "Concerto Barocco," one piece featured at the opening of the Chicago Ballet last weekend.

Nureyev's new ballet

Choreographer Murray Louis has devised a new ballet for Rudolph Nureyev and four male dancers from the Scottish Ballet. The new work, "Moment," with music by Maurice Ravel, had its world premiere in Madrid last month.

'Hay Fever' outlives its appeal

by Genie Campbell

Without wanting to come down too hard on celebrated British playwright Noel Coward, I remain apathetic to one of his works, "HAYFEVER," currently on stage at DRURY LANE EAST in McCormick Place.

There is nothing to criticize except the comedy itself that, for all its lunacy, campiness and seeming merriment, leaves the audience fidgeting in their seats.

And this, despite BARBARA RUSH in the lead role of a retired actress who moves to the country with her pompous, novelist husband and two precocious teenage children, yet is not content to trade the glamor and attentions of the stage for a rose garden. She wears her role well as Miss Rush usually does.

Nothing uncomplimentary can be said about the other principal actors who include RICHARD STADELMANN as the husband, REBECCA BALDING and DAVID RUPPRECHT as the misbehaved offspring and MAUREEN STEINDLER as the bossy, independent maid.

Director Basil Langton had his hands full making this production work in-the-round. Up and down, in and out, the characters are continually on the move, matching the onslaught of fast-paced verbiage.

"Darling this and "darling that" gets to be somewhat monotonous, although Coward apparently chose this method to cement the unconventional lifestyle of the Bliss family.

So caught up in their own little world, cultivating their individual interests and arts, the Blisses have little time or inclination to imbibe in ordinary social amenities. This is what the play is all about. Or almost.

The scene is further complicated when each invites a guest for the weekend without knowing the others have done the same. The visitors naturally have a most difficult time adjusting to this particular family's whims and acted out fantasies.

The unsuspecting guests played by BENJAMIN WILSON, MARY RUPRECT, DENNIS KENNEDY and JUDITH IVEY add to the wide circle of eccentric characters. Yet they need not work so hard.

The theme of "Hay Fever" has run its course. Even managing to retain the pace of this show, which in no way is easy to do, the extreme hokum outlives its appeal. Only if Barbara Rush is your reason for attending you can comfortably sit through this one.

Lambs is hosting its annual fund-raising CLAMBAKE this Sunday at THE LAMBS FARM in Libertyville, a center which provides training and housing for handicapped young adults.

Entertainment is being provided by Freddy Weller, Barbi Benton, Don Barnett, The Nu Jays, Ken Hill and Donita Fay. Food will be served from noon to 5 p.m. Take I-94 north, exit at Route 176.

During the run of "OUR TOWN," the first play in GOODMAN THEATRE'S 50th anniversary Bicentennial season, which officially opened last night, members of Goodman's staff will conduct half-hour tours of the theater complex located at 200 S. Columbus Dr., one block east of Michigan at Monroe. The tours are being given at 12:15 each Wednesday and 1 p.m. on Saturdays through Nov. 8.

Thirteen-year-old JANICE LOCKER of Arlington Heights, a student at Rand Junior High School, is making her professional debut in "Our Town."

* * * *

Other openings include "THE OWL AND THE PUSSYCAT" at CANDLELIGHT DINNER PLAYHOUSE with JAMES DRURY of TV's "The Virginian" in the starring role. "STEAMBATH" is on stage next-door at the FORUM. Both theaters are located in Summit.

There is a possibility that "CAT ON A HOT TIN ROOF" starring SANDY DENNIS and DAVID SELBY will be held over two more weeks at ARLINGTON PARK THEATRE through Oct. 26. But I wouldn't take the chance. If you haven't seen this show, and you surely should, I'd get out there this weekend. It's scheduled to close Sunday.

When dining out...

Looking for a new salad bar to try? Hungry for deep dish pizza? Who specializes in Steak Diane?

Debuting next Friday in the Medley section of The Heralds is Bill o' fare, a new weekly restaurant column featuring dining pleasures available throughout the Northwest suburbs and surrounding area.

Entertainment editor Genie Campbell will work closely with other staff members to keep readers up to date on new restaurants, old standbys with reputations for exceptional food and prices, and establishments specializing in ethnic cuisine.

Atmosphere, decor, kind of service to expect and even a few colorful notes about the restaurant operation will all be included in each Bill o' fare.

'Hay Fever' outlives its appeal

by Genie Campbell

Without wanting to come down too hard on celebrated British playwright Noel Coward, I remain apathetic to one of his works, "HAYFEVER," currently on stage at DRURY LANE EAST in McCormick Place.

There is nothing to criticize except the comedy itself that, for all its lunacy, campiness and seeming merriment, leaves the audience fidgeting in their seats.

And this, despite BARBARA RUSH in the lead role of a retired actress who moves to the country with her pompous, novelist husband and two precocious teenage children, yet is not content to trade the glamor and attentions of the stage for a rose garden. She wears her role well as Miss Rush usually does.

Nothing uncomplimentary can be said about the other principal actors who include RICHARD STADELMANN as the husband, REBECCA BALDING and DAVID RUPPRECHT as the misbehaved offspring and MAUREEN STEINDLER as the bossy, independent maid.

Director Basil Langton had his hands full making this production work in-the-round. Up and down, in and out, the characters are continually on the move, matching the onslaught of fast-paced verbiage.

"Darling this and "darling that" gets to be somewhat monotonous, although Coward apparently chose this method to cement the unconventional lifestyle of the Bliss family.

So caught up in their own little world, cultivating their individual interests and arts, the Blisses have little time or inclination to imbibe in ordinary social amenities. This is what the play is all about. Or almost.

The scene is further complicated when each invites a guest for the weekend without knowing the others have done the same. The visitors naturally have a most difficult time adjusting to this particular family's whims and acted out fantasies.

The unsuspecting guests played by BENJAMIN WILSON, MARY RUPRECT, DENNIS KENNEDY and JUDITH IVEY add to the wide circle of eccentric characters. Yet they need not work so hard.

The theme of "Hay Fever" has run its course. Even managing to retain the pace of this show, which in no way is easy to do, the extreme hokum outlives its appeal. Only if Barbara Rush is your reason for attending you can comfortably sit through this one.

Lambs is hosting its annual fund-raising CLAMBAKE this Sunday at THE LAMBS FARM in Libertyville, a center which provides training and housing for handicapped young adults.

Entertainment is being provided by Freddy Weller, Barbi Benton, Don Barnett, The Nu Jays, Ken Hill and Donita Fay. Food will be served from noon to 5 p.m. Take I-94 north, exit at Route 176.

During the run of "OUR TOWN," the first play in GOODMAN THEATRE'S 50th anniversary Bicentennial season, which officially opened last night, members of Goodman's staff will conduct half-hour tours of the theater complex located at 200 S. Columbus Dr., one block east of Michigan at Monroe. The tours are being given at 12:15 each Wednesday and 1 p.m. on Saturdays through Nov. 8.

Thirteen-year-old JANICE LOCKER of Arlington Heights, a student at Rand Junior High School, is making her professional debut in "Our Town."

Other openings include "THE OWL AND THE PUSSYCAT" at CANDLELIGHT DINNER PLAYHOUSE with JAMES DRURY of TV's "The Virginian" in the starring role. "STEAMBATH" is on stage next-door at the FORUM. Both theaters are located in Summit.

There is a possibility that "CAT ON A HOT TIN ROOF" starring SANDY DENNIS and DAVID SELBY will be held over two more weeks at ARLINGTON PARK THEATRE through Oct. 26. JAMES THURBER'S daughter, Rosemary Thurber Sauers, spoke earlier this week to members of the Woman's Club of Inverness. A resident of LaGrange, Mrs. Sauers presented a collection of her father's favorite readings and cartoons. Most interesting in her program were the personal family anecdotes she told that have never been published. She recounted, for instance, the fatherly advice she received while a student at the University of Pennsylvania. She has kept all of Thurber's letters to her.

'Devil's Disciple' in Washington, D.C.

The Shaw Festival's touring production of George Bernard Shaw's play of the American Revolution, "The Devil's Disciple," will visit Washington, D. C. Oct. 27-Nov. 1 as part of Canada's contribution to the Bicentennial celebrations.

Paul Hecht plays the lead role of Dick Dudgeon, while festival director Paxton Whitehead will be Gen. Burgoyne. (UPI).

Presley's dead ringer

Elvis, taking him off the wedding circuit. The comment went around that he looked and sounded like Presley. He went into the washroom during a break in a nightclub performance two years ago, put up his hair, came back out and was a smash.

Sauceto, an Italian kid who went to Schurz High School, insists he's only doing what comes natural to him, that, yes, he is capitalizing on Presley's name to get his career going, but that he is talented in his own right. "That's me all the way through," he says.

SAUCETO SAYS he doesn't think Elvis knows of him, though Presley must realize there are dozens of up-and-comers who pattern themselves after him. "He probably thinks I have a lot of nerve," says Sauceto.

Still, like most people who specialize, Sauceto does more than just a Presley show. He and the Ambassadors have worked up segments imitating Dion and the Belmonts, Chubby Checker and the Beach Boys.

"I can't be Elvis all the time," says the man who dreams of one day performing on the same stage with his idol.

Until then, Sauceto will stay at arms length from a growing and adoring public. Because, the closer one gets the less like Presley he really looks. Maybe 10 years from now, when he beefs up, he'll look even more like the King. If he is successful, who knows, maybe he'll give away a slew of cars. For now he's making the payments on his own machine and hoping to make millions and millions of dollars, just like Elvis.

Opera coming to Woodfield

"The Marriage of Figaro," to be performed in English by the Chicago Opera Studio, is the first event in a four-day "Four Star" series marking Woodfield's fourth anniversary.

The musical, to be presented at 9 p.m. next Thursday in the shopping center, brings to Schaumburg the same cast who did the show in the Loop last spring.

Opera coach Alan Stone is artistic director of the Chicago Opera Studio, which was founded to encourage talented young musicians. Robert Frisbie, COS music director, conducts the orchestra.

"I see opera at Woodfield as a happening," said Stone. "The amenities — the steps, the various levels, the plantings — lend themselves very well. Our performance is really a play with music, the dialog spoken and the story line intelligible. While the melodies are delightful, the plot is much like a Peter Sellers movie."

THE SECOND EVENT in the Woodfield birthday bash is a debate between the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois on the pros and cons of the central Intelligence Agency at 9 p.m. Friday, Oct. 17.

Entertainer and supper club pianist Galen heads the programs at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 18, and 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 19.

There is no admission charge for any of the events, all staged in the center's Grand Court.

Let Fido have his turn to talk

by MARIANNE SCOTT

"Fido, do you have a sore throat?"

"Woof!" (yes) is the reply.

"Have the children come home?"

"Woof! Woof!" (no) or "Woof! Woof! Woof! Woof!" (I don't know).

Don't laugh. Conversations such as these are really possible with your dog.

Animal behaviorists have long carried on research programs with dolphins and chimpanzees, who actually can have extensive vocabularies and are able to form phrases and short sentences. These researchers now claim that performances of chimps and dolphins don't come close to what the ordinary household pet is capable of understanding and communicating.

Although science writer Jhan Robbins includes examples of vocal communication between pet and owner, that isn't what his new book, "Your Pet's Secret Language," is all about. It's about body language communication as well as words, barks and other sounds used between pet and owner.

RESEARCHERS HAVE long known that animals communicate between each other, and humans communicating with animals isn't new either. People have been doing it for centuries. But now scientists are recognizing that animals have more intelligence than they have been given credit for. Household pets and other animals are capable of thought processes and are anxious to share these thoughts with you, explains the author. Because they have to rely almost completely on movements and facial expressions to communicate these thoughts, animals are masters at body language which is vastly more important to them than it is to man.

Most pets can understand their owners a lot better than the owners can understand the pet. A pet studies your body language all day. And if your dog is of average intelligence, he probably understands more than 75 words as well. A super intelligent dog may understand up to 250 words, and

But do you as a pet owner know what your dog is trying to say when his ears go back, up, flat, up or down or bent at right angles? Head tilted to right or left? Tail up, down, in a high, medium or violent wag? Body swaying?

EVERY MOTION, despite its subtlety, reveales information. Every movement, every grimace, every expression your pet makes signifies something and has a special meaning. To learn these meanings Robbins suggests keeping a notebook to record movements and apparent meanings. Those recorded with regularity can be assumed to be meaningful.

Facial expressions of your dog might include lips pulled back or into a medium or wide grin, eyelids half closed or wide open, tongue pulled in and out, frowning. Then there are various whines, barks, growls in various tones or combinations. Cats have at least 63 sounds they can make to communicate.

Just as mothers quickly learn the meaning of their infants' cries and gestures and just as many humans express themselves through nods, shrugs, winks, touches and other motions, pet owners can learn to understand the sounds and silent communications from animals. It's up to the pet owner to put it all together.

Robbins' book tells pet owners how to tune in to understand these sounds and signals and also how to convey their feelings to the pet. It includes communication aptitudes of 21 leading dog breeds, including mongrels, and six leading breeds of cats; how to watch the incredibly communicative ears of your dog and the eyes of cats and birds for messages your pet wants you to understand; a list of dos and don'ts for communicating; and a complete pet communication dictionary for verbal and non-verbal communication between dogs, cats, birds or horses and their owners.

THE BOOK ALSO reveals that "Buddy," the German shepherd who solved mathematical problems on the Johnny Carson show, did it by trickery. So did the so-called psychic horse whose repertoire included solving fractions and cube roots. But — these animals used their brains to master the tricks!

"Your Pet's Secret Language" also devotes space to Peg, a poodle who could spell out words with the aid of lettered cards. This was not a trick but the result of patient teaching. Peg (now deceased) was the subject of a Sports Illustrated feature in April, 1961.

Robbins also tells of a dog and cat who serve as receptionists in a veterinarian's office, greeting the patients, ushering them to their seats and fetching instruments for the doctor; and a monkey employed as a bank teller who reports bogus bills to the assistant manager.

Everyone who loves his pet will enjoy this book which is published by Peter H. Wyden and sells for $6.95.

Ballet roundup

VENICE (UPI) — A half dozen ballet companies of international repute will converge on Venice in June and July for a festival of dance which will offer 50 performances in a seven-week period. Participating companies include the Ballet of the 20th Century from Brussels, Budapest State Ballet, New York City Ballet, Antonio Gades Co. of Madrid, Tokyo Ballet, and the Wayang Wong dancers from Bali. They will perform in the Teatro La Fenice, the theater of San Giorgio Island, and in the St. Mark's piazza.

Folk art to tour cities

An exhibition entitled "Weathervanes, Carvings and Quilts from the Chase Manhattan Bank Art Collection" is on display at the downtown branch of the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York through Wednesday.

It later will tour museums throughout the U. S., under the auspices of The American Federation of Arts.

Chase chairman David Rockefeller said, "The pieces of American folk art have been added to the art collection over the years to complement the contemporary American art which is the focus of our program . . . these 19th century pieces stand happily beside the modern works expressing the originality and vigor for which America's art is known today."

The exhibition includes 10 weathervanes, 14 quilts, a ship's figurehead, several bird decoys, an unusual carousel figure in the form of a leaping goat and other carvings. (UPI).

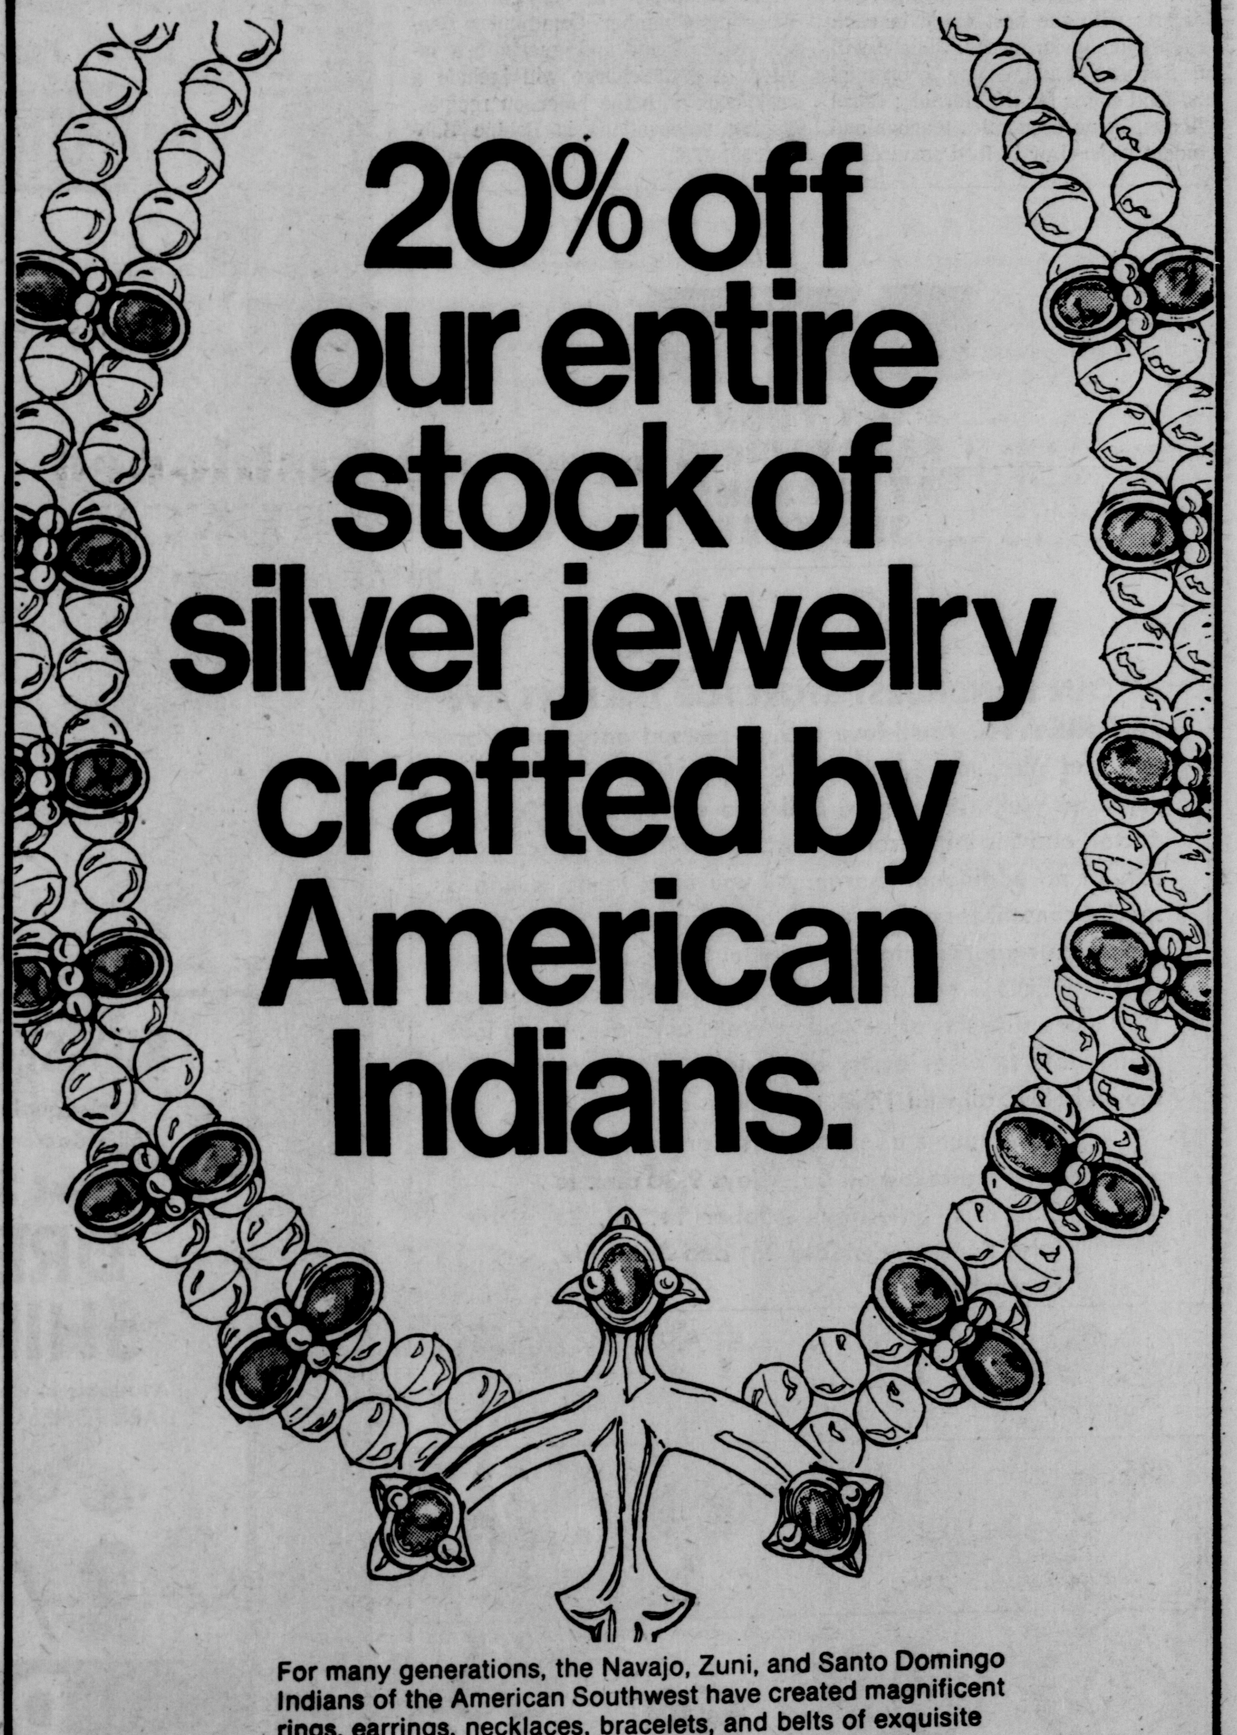
JCPenney
at Woodfield

20% off our entire stock of silver jewelry crafted by American Indians.



For many generations, the Navajo, Zuni, and Santo Domingo Indians of the American Southwest have created magnificent rings, earrings, necklaces, bracelets, and belts of exquisite silver, set and inlaid with carved turquoise, coral and jet. Their descendants today still practice this traditional art form with every bit of the artistry and skill, the talent for dramatic expression taught them by their ancestors.

Now, JCPenney is proud to present this outstanding collection of American Indian Jewelry. The designs are classic; handed down from generation to generation. We have more than 500 of these individual creations, priced from $10 to $3,000. Each one, regardless of price, is a remarkable value to be treasured as part of this country's heritage, and to be worn, as well, for its stunning fashion impact.

Legros-Greenslade rites held Sept. 6

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Greenslade

Jacqueline Ann Legros of Chicago became Mrs. Thomas C. Greenslade on Sept. 6. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Legros of Vincennes, Ind., and Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Greenslade of Mount Prospect.

The 6:30 p.m. ceremony was held in Trinity United Methodist Church, Mount Prospect, with a reception following at Illinois Athletic Club for 200 guests.

For her wedding Jacqueline chose an ivory satin gown trimmed with lace, seed pearls and sequins. A matching cap held her shoulder-length veil in place, and she carried a bouquet of white, yellow, green and pink flowers.

Priscilla Douglas of Indiana was the maid of honor in a green chiffon gown with pink trim, and she carried a mixed bouquet.

ROBERT POPOVICH, Des Plaines, served as Tom's best man. Ushers were John Galvin, Chicago; Milton Wood, Glenview; Tom Mueller, Skokie; and Alphonse Witt, Highland Park.

Jacqueline is a graduate of the University of Indiana and works for American Airlines in Chicago.

Tom, a graduate of Lane Technical High School, Chicago, and Illinois Wesleyan University, is in business with his father in Chicago, where the couple is temporarily living. They honeymooned at Siesta Key, Fla.

Legros-Greenslade rites held Sept. 6

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Greenslade

Jacqueline Ann Legros of Chicago became Mrs. Thomas C. Greenslade on Sept. 6. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Legros of Vincennes, Ind., and Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Greenslade of Mount Prospect.

The 6:30 p.m. ceremony was held in Trinity United Methodist Church, Mount Prospect, with a reception following at Illinois Athletic Club for 200 guests.

For her wedding Jacqueline chose an ivory satin gown trimmed with lace, seed pearls and sequins. A matching cap held her shoulder-length veil in place, and she carried a bouquet of white, yellow, green and pink flowers.

Priscilla Douglas of Indiana was the maid of honor in a green chiffon gown with pink trim, and she carried a mixed bouquet.

ROBERT POPOVICH, Des Plaines, served as Tom's best man. Ushers were John Galvin, Chicago; Milton Wood, Glenview; Tom Mueller, Skokie; and Alphonse Witt, Highland Park.

Jacqueline is a graduate of the University of Indiana and works for American Airlines in Chicago.

Tom, a graduate of Lane Technical High School, Chicago, and Illinois Wesleyan University, is in business with his father in Chicago, where the couple is temporarily living. They honeymooned at Siesta Key, Fla.

Judges to taste and tell

Award-winning food and a program on how to turn throwaways into clever and useful household items and gifts will be features of the second annual Taste 'n Tell luncheon sponsored by Aviva Pioneer Women Saturday, Oct. 25.

Members will be bringing appetizers, side dishes, main dishes and desserts with the best entry in each group winning an award. Judges will be Barbara Ladd, home economist and food editor for the Heralds; Carol Windus, home economics teacher and student supervisor in food services at Wheeling High; and Barbara McDonald of the Culinary Arts Institute.

PRESENTING THE program will be Paula Graff, author of "Don't Throw It Away! or There's Gold in Your Garbage."

The luncheon will be held in the Wheeling Chamber Community Center, Wolf Road, and guests are invited. A $3.75 charge will include a cook book with the luncheon recipes. Taking reservations, is Bobbie Babbitt, 537-8778.

Cape Cod summer jobs brought pair together

Mrs. Charles Hughson Jr.

Summer jobs at a Cape Cod resort started a romance for Gail Pierce Ronty of Weston, Mass., who worked as a waitress, and Charles Edgar Hughson Jr. of Mount Prospect, who was the tennis pro. The pair were married Sept. 6 in Wayland Trinitarian Congregational Church and honeymooned for 10 days in Nova Scotia.

Gail is the daughter of the Paul Rontys of Weston and her bridegroom the son of the Charles Hughsons, who went East for the wedding.

Gail chose an Empire gown of Qiana with a chapel length train trimmed in lace. She wore a mantilla edged in matching lace and carried white Sweetheart roses and daisies.

MRS. ROBERT FOLEY from Saco, Maine, was matron of honor. She wore a green Qiana gown and carried a bouquet of tangerine and yellow Sweetheart roses.

David W. Hughson, the groom's brother, served as best man, and the bride's brothers, Paul of Chatham, Mass., and Bruce of Weston, were ushers.

A reception followed at the Weston Golf Club.

Gail is a graduate of Westbrook College and the New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Boston. She is employed at the hospital. Charles, a graduate of Prospect High School and Millikin University is working as an insurance broker in Boston.

The couple is living in Auburndale, Mass.

Sunflower seeds for eating

Dear Dorothy: I have a bumper crop of sunflowers. How do you prepare the seeds for eating?—E. Settle

Some years ago Mrs. E. L. Kenner sent us her recipe for preparing sunflower seeds, and it seems to have pleased all who have tried it. Stir together one cup of raw, hulled sunflower seeds and two teaspoons of sesame seed oil (or any salad oil) and place in a 350-degree oven for 15 minutes, stirring every five minutes. When brown, drain on paper towels and sprinkle with salt. Although any salt will do, she recommended evaporated seawater salt.

Dear Dorothy: Is there a way to make a chuck steak tender enough for broiling without using one of the powdered tenderizers on the market?—Eloise Cooper

Yes. You can use any type of marinade with an acid content. It may take a couple of hours or even overnight, depending on the size of the chuck steak. Broiled, I consider it dreamy. However, if he has spotted it marinating in the refrigerator, it usually means a selling job on his royal highness.

* * *

Dear Dorothy: I've had a lovely hand-washable acetate dress which I've always had cleaned because I was afraid it would stretch out of shape. Now it's at the stage where I use it to go marketing, so I washed it with a gentle detergent. It did fine, except the arms hang a little long. This is okay, but the upper part is tight. Ideas?—Joan Klee Ever so carefully, use a steam iron width-wise. It should work.

Dear Dorothy: I love homemade soup, but can't figure out how to properly spoon off the fat. Help.—Marva Crimmins

Make it a day ahead, refrigerate — then the fat just lifts off.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Mosquitos leave a toothless bite

WHY DOES A MOSQUITO BITE ITCH?

A mosquito has no teeth. Even if she had, they would be useless because she cannot open her jaws. She is a born bloodsucker, and her so-called bite is an elaborate device to extract a liquid meal. This part of the process is amazingly skillful and usually quite painless. The itchy bump that follows is merely a side effect of the operation.

The mosquito carries her knives and forks in a long slender beak. Her delicate little tool kit is enfolded in a bag of skin that rolls back as she gets ready to stab. This tool bag is actually an extension of her lower lip, called the labium. This kit includes a remarkable assortment of tools used to stab and saw, squirt and siphon.

Only the female mosquito dines on human blood, for the male's beak is too weak to pierce the skin. He must make do with juices from tender plant tissues. When you hear her buzzing around, she is homing in on your supply of nice warm liquid blood. She uses her feelers to locate a suitable spot and settles down very softly.

Then the tool bag rolls back as she stabs in her stylets. This is done so gently you don't feel a thing. She is all ready to siphon up her meal. However, this may take a few moments — and when blood is taken outside the body it clots and becomes thick. The mosquito can sip it up only when it is thin and running. So she takes precautions.

When she stabs in her stylets, she lets a small sample of her saliva run down into the tissue. It contains a chemical substance that stops the blood from clotting. The mosquito can take her time while she sips up her liquid formula. When her meal is finished she flies away, usually before her victim notices her.

The trouble comes later, maybe several minutes or even an hour after the attack. The flesh around the stab wound swells up, stings and itches and may turn red. The itchy bump is caused not by the wound or by loss of blood, but by the anti-blood-clotting chemicals that were present in the mosquito's saliva.

There are about 2,500 mosquito species and only a few of them feast on human blood. However, some of these carry dreadful diseases, including malaria, yellow fever and encephalitis. These germs are injected with the saliva that also causes the itchy bump. Modern science strives to wipe out these dangerous types, though they still exist in some parts of the world, mostly in the torrid tropics.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Grant Harvey, 10, of Salt Lake City, Utah, for his question:

WHEN WILL OUR SUN EXPLODE?

A few weeks ago we were told to go outdoors to behold a brand-new star called a nova. Actually, it was an old star that exploded ages ago — and the news just arrived from outer space. Once in a great while, this sort of tragedy does happen later. But for this to happen, it must be a certain type of star. And our sun is not this type of star.

So it is not likely that our sun will explode, now or in the future. Scientists tell us that one day our sun will burn itself out — but it has plenty of fuel to burn cheerfully for at least 5 billion years. So we can depend on our starry sun to behave nicely, just as it always has.

Mosquitos leave a toothless bite

WHY DOES A MOSQUITO BITE ITCH?

A mosquito has no teeth. Even if she had, they would be useless because she cannot open her jaws. She is a born bloodsucker, and her so-called bite is an elaborate device to extract a liquid meal. This part of the process is amazingly skillful and usually quite painless. The itchy bump that follows is merely a side effect of the operation.

The mosquito carries her knives and forks in a long slender beak. Her delicate little tool kit is enfolded in a bag of skin that rolls back as she gets ready to stab. This tool bag is actually an extension of her lower lip, called the labium. This kit includes a remarkable assortment of tools used to stab and saw, squirt and siphon.

Only the female mosquito dines on human blood, for the male's beak is too weak to pierce the skin. He must make do with juices from tender plant tissues. Odds in favor of South making contract

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

The bidding in the box shows the actual bidding of today's hand. It may not meet with your approval but the final contract of six diamonds certainly is the correct one.

The combination of the jack of spades lead and the fact that East was able to cover dummy's queen with the king left the contract in considerable jeopardy, but South was equal to the occasion.

At trick two he played his ace of trumps. The singleton king dropped, whereupon South had no trouble scoring all 13 tricks.

Apart from the fact that the play worked, it was the best percentage. There was a 26 per cent chance to drop a singleton king. If it failed to drop there was a 36 per cent chance that clubs would break 3-3. That would allow two spade discards on clubs unless it turned out that West had started with all three diamonds. In addition if clubs broke 4-2 and diamonds 2-1 everything would come up roses for South.

We lave you to work out the whole play if you wish. The total chance comes out to a trifle better than 50 per cent chance a straight finess would provide.

George Carlin hosts live comedy

NEW YORK (UPI) — What's happening to the stand-up comedian on television is no joke. He has become the little man who isn't there.

George Carlin would like to change all that and he's taking a large step for live comedy as host of the first chapter of "NBC's Saturday Night," which goes on the air this Saturday from 10:30 p.m. to midnight.

The new show will air live every Saturday except the first one each month — that first Saturday is reserved for "Weekend." The host of the second show Oct. 18 will be Paul Simon, and one of his guests will be Art Garfunkel. The third show Oct. 25 will be presided over by Rob Reiner, better known as Meathead when he plays Mike Stivic on "All in the Family."

CARLIN, BILLBOARD magazine's Comedy Artist of the Year, is a serious young man when he talks about his work.

"It's been a long time now since a stand-up comedian has been the host of a television variety show — except for Carol Burnett, it's all been music variety," he said in an interview.

"I don't know what makes the cycles come and go in this mysterious fashion, but maybe this late night hour could be the prototype for the rebirth of some comedy variety."

The lateness of the hour gives a comedian more scope, since presumably by that hour the children of the household are either in bed or out of hand.

"Obviously, after 11:30 all the various areas of control are bound to be more relaxed," Carlin said. "At that hour there's less control in the area of dirty, in the area of controversial, in the area of sick. Things are more relaxed."

Hosting this show on a one-shot basis means Carlin will be safe from the insatiable appetite of television that in the past has drained comedians of their best material, after which they've been thrown out like last season's commercials.

Odds in favor of South making contract

The bidding in the box shows the actual bidding of today's hand. It may not meet with your approval but the final contract of six diamonds certainly is the correct one.

The combination of the jack of spades lead and the fact that East was able to cover dummy's queen with the king left the contract in considerable jeopardy, but South was equal to the occasion.

At trick two he played his ace of trumps. The singleton king dropped, whereupon South had no trouble scoring all 13 tricks.

Apart from the fact that the play worked, it was the best percentage. There was a 26 per cent chance to drop a singleton king. If it failed to drop there was a 36 per cent chance that clubs would break 3-3. That would allow two spade discards on clubs unless it turned out that West had started with all three diamonds. In addition if clubs broke 4-2 and diamonds 2-1 everything would come up roses for South.

We lave you to work out the whole play if you wish. The total chance comes out to a trifle better than 50 per cent chance a straight finess would provide.

George Carlin hosts live comedy

NEW YORK (UPI) — What's happening to the stand-up comedian on television is no joke. He has become the little man who isn't there.

George Carlin would like to change all that and he's taking a large step for live comedy as host of the first chapter of "NBC's Saturday Night," which goes on the air this Saturday from 10:30 p.m. to midnight.

The new show will air live every Saturday except the first one each month — that first Saturday is reserved for "Weekend." The host of the second show Oct. 18 will be Paul Simon, and one of his guests will be Art Garfunkel. The third show Oct. 25 will be presided over by Rob Reiner, better known as Meathead when he plays Mike Stivic on "All in the Family."

CARLIN, BILLBOARD magazine's Comedy Artist of the Year, is a serious young man when he talks about his work.

"It's been a long time now since a stand-up comedian has been the host of a television variety show — except for Carol Burnett, it's all been music variety," he said in an interview.

"I don't know what makes the cycles come and go in this mysterious fashion, but maybe this late night hour could be the prototype for the rebirth of some comedy variety."

The lateness of the hour gives a comedian more scope, since presumably by that hour the children of the household are either in bed or out of hand.

"Obviously, after 11:30 all the various areas of control are bound to be more relaxed," Carlin said. "At that hour there's less control in the area of dirty, in the area of controversial, in the area of sick. Things are more relaxed."

Hosting this show on a one-shot basis means Carlin will be safe from the insatiable appetite of television that in the past has drained comedians of their best material, after which they've been thrown out like last season's commercials.

Legal Notices

Notice of Public Hearing

Notice is hereby given that the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Hoffman Estates, Illinois, will hold a Public Hearing at the request of LaSalle National Bank as Trustee under Trust Agreement dated October 19, 1972, and known as Trust Number 44878 to consider an annexation agreement as follows:

ANNEXATION AGREEMENT

This Agreement, made and entered into this day of , 1975 by and between the Village of Hoffman Estates, Illinois (hereinafter referred to as the "Village"), and La Salle National Bank as Trustee under Trust No. 44878 (hereinafter referred to as the "Owner").

WITNESSETH

WHEREAS, La Salle National Bank as Trustee under Trust No. 44878 is the owner of certain real estate consisting of four parcels totaling approximately 54.43 acres, the legal description of which is as follows:

PARCEL 1 - The Southeast ¼ of the Northeast ¼ of Section 24, Township 42 North, Range 9, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

PARCEL 2 - The East 12.5 acres of the Southwest ¼ of the Northeast ¼ of Section 24, Township 42 North, Range 9, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

PARCEL 3 - The West 33.0 feet of the Northwest ¼ of the Northwest ¼ and the West 33.0 feet of a strip of land 36.4 links wide North of and adjoining the South 40 acres of the West ½ of the Northwest ¼ of Section 19, Township 42 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

PARCEL 4 - The West 33.0 feet of the South 40 acres of the Southwest ¼ of the Northwest ¼ of Section 19, Township 42 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian (except therefrom that portion thereof conveyed to Horace H. Church by deed recorded July 18, 1859 as Document No. 20858 and rerecorded February 1, 1876 as Document No. 69965) all in Cook County, Illinois.

WHEREAS, the real estate described above is contiguous to the corporate limits of the Village and situated in an unincorporated area; and

WHEREAS, the Owner desires to annex the subject property to the Village upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth; and

WHEREAS, the Village after due and careful consideration has determined that the annexation of the subject property to the Village upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth enable the Village to reasonably control the development of the subject property and serve the best interests of the Village; and

WHEREAS, the statutory procedures provided for in Section 11-15.1-1 et. sq. of the Illinois Municipal Code (Chapter 24, Illinois Revised Statutes, 1973) with regard to the making of annexation agreements, have been complied with by the parties hereto; and

WHEREAS, the owners propose that the subject property, or portions thereof, be developed in accordance with the general plan providing for single-family dwellings on 8,500 square foot minimum lots, detached single-family residential dwellings on individual parcels of land of 4,000 square foot minimum areas utilizing the blank side or rear walls of adjacent units and/or accessory barrier walls or fences to form a private courtyard, of which this housing type is sometimes referred to as "Zero Lot Line" single-family; and

WHEREAS, as required by statute and ordinance, a public hearing was held by the Plan Commission of the Village duly designated by the Corporate Authorities of the Village to hold public hearings on the proposed zoning applications of the Trustee, and the Village has established a special use classification in the R-5 1-Family District to permit single family dwellings on 8,500 square foot minimum lots and to establish an R-5 A Zero Lot Line Single-Family Residential District.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual terms, covenants and conditions contained herein, it is hereby agreed as follows:

1. Statute: This Agreement is made pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of Section 11 - 15.1 - 1, et seq., of the Illinois Municipal Code (Chapter 24, Illinois Revised Statutes, 1973).

2. Annexation: Within thirty days after the execution of this Agreement, the corporate authorities shall adopt an ordinance annexing the subject property to the Village.

3. Zoning: After the adoption of an annexation ordinance, the Corporate Authorities shall forthwith adopt ordinances amending the Zoning Ordinance of the Village by the addition of the R-5A Zero Lot Line Single-Family Residential District, and the amendment of the R-5 One-Family Residence District to provide for single-family dwellings on 8,500 square feet (minimum) as a Special Use, and shall adopt other appropriate ordinances, if needed, to effectuate the development of the subject property, or parts thereof, in accordance with the General Development Plan and evidence submitted and compiled in the Official Transcripts of the public hearings before the Plan Commission of the Village of Hoffman Estates, the development of which is set forth in Exhibit 5 known as the Site Plan as submitted to the Plan Commission on the 13th of November, 1974.

The Village shall adopt the necessary ordinances to rezone and classify the single family lot sites to the Special Use R-5 One-Family Residence District, to permit a minimum area of individual lots of not less than 8,500 square feet and the Zero Lot Line Single-Family Residences on the eastern portion of the Site Plan to the R-5A Zero Lot Line Single-Family Residence District permitting a minimum area of individual lots of not less than 4,000 square feet.

It is understood and agreed between the parties that the descriptions used herein are based upon the tentative Site Plan (Exhibit 5) submitted to the Plan Commission and that the actual legal descriptions as determined by final plats and surveys, may be altered or changed by 100 feet, plus or minus. In the event the final plats and surveys require a change in the legal descriptions for properties zoned and classified pursuant to this paragraph, then in that event, the Corporate Authorities shall adopt such additional ordinances as shall be necessary to reflect the accurate legal description required.

4. Public Land Dedication: Pursuant to Section IV, A2(s) of the Subdivision Ordinance of the Village, the Owner agrees to dedicate to the Village as public land that area so designated as public land by the Site Plan (Exhibit 5 before the Plan Commission). Said land shall approximate 10% of the total 54 acres and shall not be less than 5 acres. Said land donated shall be stable land and capable of supporting structures where necessary. It is agreed between the parties that the donations provided for herein shall fully meet the requirements of the aforesaid Subdivision Ordinance.

That portion of the land to be donated hereunder shall be conveyed to the Village at the time the final plat is approved for the particular area in which the designated part for donation is located, or earlier upon a joint agreement between the parties. The Owner shall only be required to rough grade, provide top soil, do final grading and seeding for all properties dedicated under this paragraph. After dedication, all maintenance shall be the obligation of the Village or its successors in interest.

The Village hereby recognizes that the land donations shall be Owner's compliance with the general development of the Site Plan but the Village reserves the authority and right to convey said donated lands to such school districts, park districts or other municipal corporations at such time and under such conditions or agreements which the Village may determine to be appropriate.

5. Donations — Annexation: Pursuant to Section IV, A, 2(t) of the Subdivision of the Village, the Owner agrees to donate to the Village $100.00 for each Dwelling Unit payable as follows:

(a) $10,000 within thirty days after the Village has approved the first final plat for the subject area, other than the model area.

(b) Thereafter, $100 shall be paid in addition to the usual building permit fees for each building permit applied for for each residential unit in excess of the first 100 units.

6. Donations — Schools: In addition to the sums described in paragraph 5 above, the Owner agrees to pay the Village the sum of $135.00 per residential unit as developed upon the issuance of occupancy permits for the individual Dwelling Units. Said sums shall be paid pursuant to an Escrow Agreement which shall provide that the Village Treasurer or such other person mutually agreed to between the parties shall retain said sums invested in U.S. Government obligations for the benefit of education. The parties further agree that during the term of this Agreement, and any extensions therof, the Owner and the Village shall use their best efforts to cause the subject area to be included within the boundaries of School District 15. That if and when said area is included within the boundaries of School District 15, the escrowee shall pay over said funds to the General Corporate Fund of School District 15. That if, for any reason, the foregoing cannot be accomplished within the period described, the escrowee shall pay said sums to the General Fund of School District 220 or its successor in interest.

7. Streets and Improvements — Dedication: The Village shall accept dedication of all public streets and improvements located theron, including sanitary sewers, storm sewers and water mains in accordance with applicable Village ordinances, rules and regulations. It is understood that this paragraph shall not be applicable to the lateral service lines leading to individual buildings.

8. Improvement of Parcels No. 3 and 4 — Right of Way to Palatine Road: It is agreed between the Owner and the Village that parcels 3 and 4 constituting a 33-foot strip of property running from the southeast corner of parcel 1 north to Palatine Road shall be dedicated to the Village as one half of a main collector street running from the southeast corner of Parcel No. 1 to Palatine Road. It is further acknowledged by the Village that the entire length of parcels 3 and 4 lies contiguous to the Subdivision known as Westbury. It is agreed between the Owner and the Village that the Owner shall use its best efforts to coordinate the development of its 33 feet with the development of the remainder of the street owned by the Westbury Subdivision. The Village further acknowledges that wherein, said joint development is not undertaken by the Westbury Subdivision, the Owner may develop parcels 3 and 4 as a half street giving him ingress and egress to Palatine Road without waiting for the completion of the remaining portion of the property by Westbury.

9. Completion Guarantees for Public Improvements: The Owner shall furnish the Village with a bond or irrevocable letter of credit with good and sufficient security (as determined by the Village) thereon, which shall at all times be equal to the cost of public improvements plus ten per cent (10%), being constructed in each phase of development. Upon completion of the improvements and final approval of the Village Engineer, the Village shall accept same upon deposit of a corporate guarantee for the cost of maintenance and any required repairs or replacements for one-year period after acceptance. The Owner shall deliver to the Village a Bill of Sale for all improvements contained in acceptance. The Owner shall deliver to the Village Engineer "as builts" and plats showing all easements upon final acceptance by the Village of any and all improvements and any underground structural repairs thereof.

The Owner may reduce the amount of the bond or irrevocable letter of credit by an amount equal to the cost of improvements accepted, the amount of said reduction must be approved by the Village President and Board of Trustees.

10. Sewage Services: The Owner agrees that sewage service for the subject property is to be provided through connection to the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago interceptor sewer in Algonquin Road right-of-way. It is understood that the subject property is not currently within the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago and that it will be necessary for the State Legislature to adopt the required legislation to permit the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago to serve the sewage needs of the units to be constructed on subject territory. The owner under the conditions of this agreement shall be obligated to and shall proceed forthwith to have subject property annexed to the Metropolitan Sanitary District. However, prior to annexation of the subject property to the Metropolitan Sanitary District, Owner may enter into a contract with the Metropolitan Sanitary District to provide service to the subject property and the Owner shall thereupon be bound to pay the cost thereof promptly to the Metropolitan Sanitary District. The Village shall join and execute any and all agreements necessary to effect

Notice of Public Hearing

Notice is hereby given that the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Hoffman Estates, Illinois, will hold a Public Hearing at the request of LaSalle National Bank as Trustee under Trust Agreement dated October 19, 1972, and known as Trust Number 44878 to consider an annexation agreement as follows:

ANNEXATION AGREEMENT

This Agreement, made and entered into this day of , 1975 by and between the Village of Hoffman Estates, Illinois (hereinafter referred to as the "Village"), and La Salle National Bank as Trustee under Trust No. 44878 (hereinafter referred to as the "Owner").

WITNESSETH

WHEREAS, La Salle National Bank as Trustee under Trust No. 44878 is the owner of certain real estate consisting of four parcels totaling approximately 54.43 acres, the legal description of which is as follows:

PARCEL 1 - The Southeast ¼ of the Northeast ¼ of Section 24, Township 42 North, Range 9, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

PARCEL 2 - The East 12.5 acres of the Southwest ¼ of the Northeast ¼ of Section 24, Township 42 North, Range 9, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

PARCEL 3 - The West 33.0 feet of the Northwest ¼ of the Northwest ¼ and the West 33.0 feet of a strip of land 36.4 links wide North of and adjoining the South 40 acres of the West ½ of the Northwest ¼ of Section 19, Township 42 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

PARCEL 4 - The West 33.0 feet of the South 40 acres of the Southwest ¼ of the Northwest ¼ of Section 19, Township 42 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian (except therefrom that portion thereof conveyed to Horace H. Church by deed recorded July 18, 1859 as Document No. 20858 and rerecorded February 1, 1876 as Document No. 69965) all in Cook County, Illinois.

WHEREAS, the real estate described above is contiguous to the corporate limits of the Village and situated in an unincorporated area; and

WHEREAS, the Owner desires to annex the subject property to the Village upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth; and

WHEREAS, the Village after due and careful consideration has determined that the annexation of the subject property to the Village upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth enable the Village to reasonably control the development of the subject property and serve the best interests of the Village; and

WHEREAS, the statutory procedures provided for in Section 11-15.1-1 et. sq. of the Illinois Municipal Code (Chapter 24, Illinois Revised Statutes, 1973) with regard to the making of annexation agreements, have been complied with by the parties hereto; and

WHEREAS, the owners propose that the subject property, or portions thereof, be developed in accordance with the general plan providing for single-family dwellings on 8,500 square foot minimum lots, detached single-family residential dwellings on individual parcels of land of 4,000 square foot minimum areas utilizing the blank side or rear walls of adjacent units and/or accessory barrier walls or fences to form a private courtyard, of which this housing type is sometimes referred to as "Zero Lot Line" single-family; and

WHEREAS, as required by statute and ordinance, a public hearing was held by the Plan Commission of the Village duly designated by the Corporate Authorities of the Village to hold public hearings on the proposed zoning applications of the Trustee, and the Village has established a special use classification in the R-5 1-Family District to permit single family dwellings on 8,500 square foot minimum lots and to establish an R-5 A Zero Lot Line Single-Family Residential District.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual terms, covenants and conditions contained herein, it is hereby agreed as follows:

1. Statute: This Agreement is made pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of Section 11 - 15.1 - 1, et seq., of the Illinois Municipal Code (Chapter 24, Illinois Revised Statutes, 1973).

2. Annexation: Within thirty days after the execution of this Agreement, the corporate authorities shall adopt an ordinance annexing the subject property to the Village.

3. Zoning: After the adoption of an annexation ordinance, the Corporate Authorities shall forthwith adopt ordinances amending the Zoning Ordinance of the Village by the addition of the R-5A Zero Lot Line Single-Family Residential District, and the amendment of the R-5 One-Family Residence District to provide for single-family dwellings on 8,500 square feet (minimum) as a Special Use, and shall adopt other appropriate ordinances, if needed, to effectuate the development of the subject property, or parts thereof, in accordance with the General Development Plan and evidence submitted and compiled in the Official Transcripts of the public hearings before the Plan Commission of the Village of Hoffman Estates, the development of which is set forth in Exhibit 5 known as the Site Plan as submitted to the Plan Commission on the 13th of November, 1974.

The Village shall adopt the necessary ordinances to rezone and classify the single family lot sites to the Special Use R-5 One-Family Residence District, to permit a minimum area of individual lots of not less than 8,500 square feet and the Zero Lot Line Single-Family Residences on the eastern portion of the Site Plan to the R-5A Zero Lot Line Single-Family Residence District permitting a minimum area of individual lots of not less than 4,000 square feet.

It is understood and agreed between the parties that the descriptions used herein are based upon the tentative Site Plan (Exhibit 5) submitted to the Plan Commission and that the actual legal descriptions as determined by final plats and surveys, may be altered or changed by 100 feet, plus or minus. In the event the final plats and surveys require a change in the legal descriptions for properties zoned and classified pursuant to this paragraph, then in that event, the Corporate Authorities shall adopt such additional ordinances as shall be necessary to reflect the accurate legal description required.

4. Public Land Dedication: Pursuant to Section IV, A2(s) of the Subdivision Ordinance of the Village, the Owner agrees to dedicate to the Village as public land that area so designated as public land by the Site Plan (Exhibit 5 before the Plan Commission). Said land shall approximate 10% of the total 54 acres and shall not be less than 5 acres. Said land donated shall be stable land and capable of supporting structures where necessary. It is agreed between the parties that the donations provided for herein shall fully meet the requirements of the aforesaid Subdivision Ordinance.

That portion of the land to be donated hereunder shall be conveyed to the Village at the time the final plat is approved for the particular area in which the designated part for donation is located, or earlier upon a joint agreement between the parties. The Owner shall only be required to rough grade, provide top soil, do final grading and seeding for all properties dedicated under this paragraph. After dedication, all maintenance shall be the obligation of the Village or its successors in interest.

The Village hereby recognizes that the land donations shall be Owner's compliance with the general development of the Site Plan but the Village reserves the authority and right to convey said donated lands to such school districts, park districts or other municipal corporations at such time and under such conditions or agreements which the Village may determine to be appropriate.

5. Donations — Annexation: Pursuant to Section IV, A, 2(t) of the Subdivision of the Village, the Owner agrees to donate to the Village $100.00 for each Dwelling Unit payable as follows:

(a) $10,000 within thirty days after the Village has approved the first final plat for the subject area, other than the model area.

(b) Thereafter, $100 shall be paid in addition to the usual building permit fees for each building permit applied for for each residential unit in excess of the first 100 units.

6. Donations — Schools: In addition to the sums described in paragraph 5 above, the Owner agrees to pay the Village the sum of $135.00 per residential unit as developed upon the issuance of occupancy permits for the individual Dwelling Units. Said sums shall be paid pursuant to an Escrow Agreement which shall provide that the Village Treasurer or such other person mutually agreed to between the parties shall retain said sums invested in U.S. Government obligations for the benefit of education. The parties further agree that during the term of this Agreement, and any extensions therof, the Owner and the Village shall use their best efforts to cause the subject area to be included within the boundaries of School District 15. That if and when said area is included within the boundaries of School District 15, the escrowee shall pay over said funds to the General Corporate Fund of School District 15. That if, for any reason, the foregoing cannot be accomplished within the period described, the escrowee shall pay said sums to the General Fund of School District 220 or its successor in interest.

7. Streets and Improvements — Dedication: The Village shall accept dedication of all public streets and improvements located theron, including sanitary sewers, storm sewers and water mains in accordance with applicable Village ordinances, rules and regulations. It is understood that this paragraph shall not be applicable to the lateral service lines leading to individual buildings.

8. Improvement of Parcels No. 3 and 4 — Right of Way to Palatine Road: It is agreed between the Owner and the Village that parcels 3 and 4 constituting a 33-foot strip of property running from the southeast corner of parcel 1 north to Palatine Road shall be dedicated to the Village as one half of a main collector street running from the southeast corner of Parcel No. 1 to Palatine Road. It is further acknowledged by the Village that the entire length of parcels 3 and 4 lies contiguous to the Subdivision known as Westbury. It is agreed between the Owner and the Village that the Owner shall use its best efforts to coordinate the development of its 33 feet with the development of the remainder of the street owned by the Westbury Subdivision. The Village further acknowledges that wherein, said joint development is not undertaken by the Westbury Subdivision, the Owner may develop parcels 3 and 4 as a half street giving him ingress and egress to Palatine Road without waiting for the completion of the remaining portion of the property by Westbury.

9. Completion Guarantees for Public Improvements: The Owner shall furnish the Village with a bond or irrevocable letter of credit with good and sufficient security (as determined by the Village) thereon, which shall at all times be equal to the cost of public improvements plus ten per cent (10%), being constructed in each phase of development. Upon completion of the improvements and final approval of the Village Engineer, the Village shall accept same upon deposit of a corporate guarantee for the cost of maintenance and any required repairs or replacements for one-year period after acceptance. The Owner shall deliver to the Village a Bill of Sale for all improvements contained in acceptance. The Owner shall deliver to the Village Engineer "as builts" and plats showing all easements upon final acceptance by the Village of any and all improvements and any underground structural repairs thereof.

The Owner may reduce the amount of the bond or irrevocable letter of credit by an amount equal to the cost of improvements accepted, the amount of said reduction must be approved by the Village President and Board of Trustees.

10. Sewage Services: The Owner agrees that sewage service for the subject property is to be provided through connection to the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago interceptor sewer in Algonquin Road right-of-way. It is understood that the subject property is not currently within the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago and that it will be necessary for the State Legislature to adopt the required legislation to permit the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago to serve the sewage needs of the units to be constructed on subject territory. The owner under the conditions of this agreement shall be obligated to and shall proceed forthwith to have subject property annexed to the Metropolitan Sanitary District. However, prior to annexation of the subject property to the Metropolitan Sanitary District, Owner may enter into a contract with the Metropolitan Sanitary District to provide service to the subject property and the Owner shall thereupon be bound to pay the cost thereof promptly to the Metropolitan Sanitary District. The Village shall join and execute any and all agre
